UN AIR POWER BLASTS N. KOREA

Compromise Of East, West On Korean Peace Is Sought By Communist Yugoslavia, India

Other UN Members Ask United Korea

By A. I. GOLDBERG

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 3 (AP) — Communist Yugoslavia joined India today in asking the United Nations to try to find a compromise solution between east and west programs for Korean peace.

But a succession of other delegates in the General Assembly 60-nation political committee piled up support for an eight-nation plan to unite the country as an independent nation.

Australia told the committee that North Korean resistance must be smashed and the entire country occupied by the U. N. to guarantee peace and unity. Canada and the Philippines agreed generally with this and the statement found wide support from other speakers.

Canada's Lester B. Pearson also said that Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, had rejected any idea of compromise in a statement last night.

Yugoslavia and India favor a subcommittee to study the provisions of a Russian bloc plan and of the unification program submitted by Britain and seven other powers.

Both the Yugoslav and Indian delegation leaders rapped Russian proposals to pull U. N. forces out of Korea immediately.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj suggested, however, that the 38th Parallel should be continued as an administrative boundary between the two sections of Korea until the country is ready for unification.

He insisted, too, that the U. N. supervise all unification moves.

Nationalist China, Ecuador, Norway, Burma and El Salvador joined the parade of countries favoring the 8-nation plan.

The only support for the Russian proposal came from the Slav bloc that joined in presenting it yesterday. Poland, the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, and White Russia closed out the speaking list this afternoon.

Russia's final effort to get the assembly to accept its plan was scheduled to lead off the assembly debates tomorrow morning.

Sir Benegal N. Rau, chief Indian delegate, said his county cannot support either plan in its present form. But he opposed Russian demands that "foreign troops" quit Korea immediately. "That would leave the South Koreans at the mercy of the North Koreans," Rau said.

He expressed fear that U. N. occupation of all Korea, as demanded by Australia's external affairs minister, Percy Spender, would "increase tension in that part of the world" and might stiffen North Korean resistance.

Rau has made no secret of India's worry that red China might take a hand in the Korean conflict.

Western Allies Are Braced For Vienna Violence

Fear Sabotage, New Blockade

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Western Allies braced themselves tonight for possible violence, sabotage and a Berlin-like blockade of Vienna, 90 miles behind the iron curtain.

The government issued rifles and steel helmets to Vienna police for the first time since 1938, and ordered all Austrian police and firemen on the alert as communists called for a general nation-wide strike at midnight.

Defying a communist ultimatum to grant a 20 per cent wage increase by midnight, a government appeal was plastered on billboards and broadcast by radio and press. It called on the Austrian people to ignore the strike call, throw red rioters out of the factories and destroy their roadblocks in a fight for "freedom."

Austria's 7,000,000 people anxiously awaited the outcome of a test which seemed aimed at softening their anti-communist government and putting the country on the road to becoming another east European "Peoples Democracy." Communists got only five per cent of the vote in the last general elections.

A high U. S. Army officer said the communist intent appeared to be disruption of "all vital facilities" to give the impression of great public support.

$50 Million Is Added To U. S. Pension Checks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) —The government began pumping an extra $50 million a month into the swelling national spending stream today as bigger pension checks went out to three million Social Security beneficiaries.

The timing coincided with budding government efforts in other directions to cut down consumer buying power. Higher taxes and tighter credit terms are being applied as a means of checking inflation.

Old-age insurance system checks dated October 3 were mailed by treasury regional offices in six cities: Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Birmingham, Kansas City and San Francisco.

The checks totaled approximately $112 million against last month's $62 million. The new ones covered pension payments for September.

Delivery of the checks will provide the three million persons who have been drawing benefits the first tangible fruits of a recent act of Congress which made 30 major changes in the 15-year-old security program.

From a national economic standpoint, the bigger checks will mean addition of $600 million or more annually to consumer incomes already running at record rate above $219 billions a year.

Doctors Draft Is Expected

ABOARD YACHT COMMANDER, Chesapeake Bay, Oct. 3 (AP) — President Truman tonight was reported planning to issue soon a proclamation for the drafting of male physicians and dentists.

Congress passed a law early last month authorizing the draft. The President's proclamation would fix the registration date.

Hurricane Nears Carolina Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP)—A small but severe hurricane turned northward in the Atlantic tonight and picked up speed after bypassing Bermuda.

At 10:30 p. m. (EST) the season's seventh hurricane, with winds up to 100 miles per hour near the center, was about 240 miles northwest of the resort islands off the South Carolina coast.

It was moving toward the north at 12 to 14 miles an hour and was expected to continue in that direction for the next few hours. Hurricane force winds extend outward about 50 miles from the center.

Bermuda experienced puffy rainsqualls as the hurricane passed to the west of the islands. Its forward speed had increased from nine miles an hour since afternoon and more acceleration was expected.

At the same time, the center of a squall wave was due to move inland on the northern coast of Mexico tonight.

Navy Nurse Who Lost Leg In War Recalled To Duty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (INS) — Lt. Sara J. Griffin, Albany, Ga., a nurse whose left leg has been amputated below the knee, was recalled to active duty by the Navy today to serve as an inspiration to other amputees.

Rear Adm. C. A. Swanson, Navy Surgeon General, said she will be assigned to the amputee center at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Oakland, Calif.

Lt. Griffin, a graduate of Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Birmingham, Ala., suffered the loss of her left leg in an accident while on Navy duty at Guantanamo, Cuba, in 1947.

With the aid of an artificial limb, she has since actively followed her profession. She continued on active Navy duty until she was dropped for economy reasons in 1949.

She has since been serving as supervisor of supply at the Phoebe Putney Hospital in Albany.

The Navy said she will be the first amputee nurse ever recalled from the reserves.

Grieved Dog Refuses Food

Maggie, a cocker spaniel that hasn't eaten since her master, Lt. Robert L. Sowers, Richmond, Ind., left to report for duty at Victorville, Calif., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday by plane en route to a reunion with Sowers, still refusing to eat. Here she is turning down a sandwich offered by Keith Malm, freight handler.

Tito Presses U. S. For Aid In Food Crisis

Yugoslavia Hit By Summer Drought

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia is pressing the United States for help in meeting a threatened food crisis resulting from a disastrous summer drought.

The bread ration was cut 10 per cent last week. Ambassador Vladimir Popovic, back from a trip to Belgrade, has conferred twice at the State Department on the situation in the last few days, informed officials said today. Meanwhile American Ambassador George Allen has been having talks in the Yugoslav capital and reporting on the food difficulties to Washington.

Officials confidently expect a response to the call for help, in line with the American policy of sustaining Yugoslavia against Soviet pressure. But at the moment they are stumped how to do it.

Former Capone Men Are Jailed

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP) — Two former Capone gangsters were locked up tonight pending a check on their statements they had nothing to do with killing two crime investigators.

They said they were gentlemen farmers.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle ordered the two held in custody until tomorrow morning while investigators checked their stories.

Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, also known as Paul De Lucia, and Louis (Little New York) Campagna were questioned about the shotgun ambush slayings of William Drury and Marvin Bas the night of Sept. 27.

Ricca said he watched television and the eclipse of the moon that night, miles away at his $100,000 home in suburban River Forest. Campagna said he was at his $100,000 farm at Berrien Springs, Mich.

Both men are federal parolees. They appeared voluntarily before State's Attorney John S. Boyle, who is investigating the killings.

Ricca and Campagna said they have done nothing illegal since both went to prison in 1943 for attempting to extort more than $1,000,000 from the movie industry. They amassed their fortunes as gamblers, they said.

Both said they never knew or even heard of Bas, a lawyer. Ricca said he had seen Drury at parole hearings but had no quarrel with him.

Bas and Drury, a former police lieutenant, were reported to have offered the Kefauver Senate Committee information to help its investigation of crime. They were slain 10 days before the committee's scheduled start of hearings in Chicago on Thursday.

Report 307 Casualties

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — A defense department casualty list issued today contained the names of 307 men, of whom 111 are dead.

Of the remainder, 149 were wounded, 25 missing, 22 injured in accidents in the war zone.

Strike-Bound Newspapers Lay Off 2,000

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3 (INS) — Some 2,000 employes of Pittsburgh's three daily newspapers were furloughed indefinitely today because of a strike by AFL mailers which halted deliveries.

Only maintenance men and skeleton news staffs were kept on the payrolls of the Sun-Telegraph, Post-Gazette, and Press.

The mailers struck to enforce demands for wage increases.

Five Die In Chicago Fire

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Five persons burned to death today in a three-room shack listed in Chicago zoning records as a garage.

Roy T. Christiansen, building commissioner, said the 25 by 30 foot, one-story frame structure was altered into three one-room apartments and a community kitchen without a building permit.

Only two of 10 negroes in the tar-paper covered building escaped unscathed. Two of the dead, and three severely burned victims were children.

The dead were Mrs. Esther Willis, 17; her husband, Robert, 20; their daughter, Lilly Mae, 18 months; Willie L. Jackson, 5, and Elgy Lyone, 20.

James Gibbons, First Division fire marshal, said a can of kerosene, on or near the stove, exploded.

Gibbons said survivors told him the owner, Sam Turner, had converted the garage into flats and rented them for $10 a week.

Bridges' Blast At Acheson Is Termed "Rash"

Senator Charges "Grand Sell-Out"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The State Department hit back at Senator Bridges (R-NH) tonight for his charge that Secretary of State Acheson is engineering a "grand sell-out" to the Chinese communists.

The New Hampshire Senator, a longtime critic of Acheson's foreign policy, issued a statement earlier in the day accusing Acheson of "opening the back door" for the entrance of red China into the United Nations.

He said this meant "giving away everything won by the blood of our youths" in the Korean War.

The State Department promptly denounced Bridges' statement as a "rash, unfounded accusation" and declared that such "carping criticism x x x can only weaken the United Nations and give aid and comfort to propagandists of the Soviet Union."

Bridges said he received a report three weeks ago that an understanding had been reached between the U. S. State Department and the British Foreign Office to arrange for the admission of red China into the UN. The department said this was a lie.

Bridges said the first move was made last Friday and when the UN Security Council vote 7 to 3 to invite representatives of communist China to represent their complaints of alleged American aggression in Formosa.

This was a reference to the red Chinese contention that President Truman's order for the U. S. 7th Fleet to guard Formosa against invasion was actually "aggression" against China. The communists claim that Formosa, now the last stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist government, belongs to red-held China.

Fast, New Russian Made Jets Are Reported Flying In China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Oct. 3 (AP)—A confidential but reliable report from Shanghai said today that fast, new Russian-made jet fighter planes are operating from Hungjao Field, third Shanghai airport to be reactivated by the Chinese communists.

Hungjao was the home base of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Chinese Air Transport (CAT) command before the communists seized Shanghai.

The report identified the Russian planes as improved Yak single-seat fighters. Earlier information had termed them Yak-21s.

These Yak jets, flying daily over Shanghai, were described as "considerably faster than the 400-mile-per-hour Soviet-built LA-9 fighter, also used in Shanghai."

Top speed was estimated at 550 miles an hour, but the report did not state if the estimate was made by a trained air observer.

The Shanghai source (which cannot be disclosed) said other Soviet-built aircraft, apparently operating from Hungjao, also have been seen over the city. These include TU-2 bombers and many LA-7 fighter-trainers.

The LA-7 is used extensively with LA-9 fighters for formation flying. The Chinese communist air force favors that plane formation, but the Shanghai reports did not say whether the aircraft are flown by Russians or Chinese. Russian pilots previously have been reported in Shanghai.

The Chinese reds also are operating from Kiangwan and Tazang fields between Shanghai and the Yangtze River. There is no evidence that they are using Lunghwa, which was the main international terminal and by far the city's largest airport.

The Shanghai report of accelerated air activity parallels Peiping announcements that the Chinese reds are stepping up all air, navy and army defenses.

Appearance of the air force in Shanghai early this year was coupled with capture of the old Chinese Nationalist air bases on the Chushan Islands.

Judge Produces Documents To Prove U. S. Communist Party Is "War Machine"

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3 (AP) — A Pittsburgh judge today produced a bulky sheaf of seized documents he said proves the communist party in America is a war machine which seeks to overthrow the government.

Judge Michael A. Musmanno said he sent 17 documents to the House un-American Activities Committee which establish the aims of the American communists without question.

Investigators for the House Committee in Washington called the papers "sensational in import." The documents will be given to committee members when they return to the capital next month.

Musmanno, Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, released photostatic copies of letters, directives and pamphlets he said he took from the desk of Steve Nelson, chairman of the communist party of Western Pennsylvania, in an August 31 raid on Nelson's office.

Nelson and two aides now are free on $10,000 bonds on charges of sedition filed by Musmanno.

In New York, a spokesman at communist party headquarters termed the charges "ridiculous," adding, "it's just another Musmanno stunt. He's been slapped down twice by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and now he's trying something else."

Nelson could not be reached for comment.

One paper Musmanno found — entitled "guide for speakers" — said: "In Korea the people have had the opportunity of witnessing the liberating role — not only in words but in deeds — of the Soviet troops and the Soviet occupation forces, as contrasted with the enslaving role of American troops and the American military authorities."

"Another piece of literature in Nelson's desk," Musmanno said, "was a directive from the national communist secretary to district organizers, of which Nelson is one. It carries this line:

"'If the American forces get a shellacking, while it would increase the desperation in Wall Street and Washington, it would encourage and make more difficult for Wall Street to unleash new adventures.'"

Musmanno has waged an anti-communist campaign from the Allegheny County (Pittsburgh) common pleas court bench. He was a judge at the German War Crimes Trials.

Red Murder Camp Found In Korea

By LEIF ERICKSON

SOUTH KOREAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 4 (AP)—A Korean red murder camp where 700 Korean civilians including children were executed has been discovered near Seoul, an American Army officer reported today.

The officer said that communists burned, shot and bayoneted the prisoners before fleeing.

The "red Buchenwald" was located at Yangyong, 36 miles east of Seoul.

It was reported to South Korean Army Headquarters by Col. Francis E. Gillette, Cincinnati, Col. Gillette is an adviser to the Republic of Korea Second Corps.

Col. Gillette reported he has made photographs of the murder camp and is sending them to the United Nations.

Previously the bodies of 1,000 Korean civilians slain by communist Korean invaders were found in the rubbled city of Taejon in South Korea. Some 127 other bodies with their hands bound behind their backs were found in Seoul.

Gillette said the newly discovered murder camp contained the bodies of "approximately 700" Korean civilians. Some were small children. He said many had been burned to death. Others had been shot or stabbed by bayonets.

A South Korean who said he was an eye witness to the mass executions told Col. Gillette the massacres had taken place between Sept. 23 and Sept. 29. The witness, identified as Kim Chin Sin, said the victims included policemen and leaders and members of the Korean Right Wing Nationalist Youth Association.

The executioners were officers of the Korean red army and members of the Korean Communist Youth Association, the witness told Col. Gillette.

The American Army officer's report to the South Korean army included this statement:

"It will be extremely difficult to prevent retaliation measures in the future."

Reds Sentence 21 "Western Agents"

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP) — Communists courts in five Soviet zone cities today sentenced 21 alleged "western agents" to more than 115 years in prison. It was the biggest day thus far in the East Zone's pre-election drive against so-called "enemies of the state."

Most of the defendants were charged with distributing anti-communist pamphlets or in some other way sabotaging the "peace and democratic order" of the East German Republic.

Air Force Asks Raise In Funds, Cites High Costs

Says Current Money Means Cut In Planes

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The Air Force today blamed rising prices for tacking $315,000,000 to $360,000,000 onto the cost of its program to build 4,428 new planes by mid 1952.

Undersecretary of Air John McCone told the House Armed Services Committee that soaring prices will mean the Air Force must do one of two things:

1. Either cut its program by the equivalent of 750 F-86 jet fighter planes.

2. Or get more money from Congress.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) quickly discounted any idea of reducing the number of planes which the Air Force says are needed to safeguard the United States in the event of World War III.

"Congress must control prices or provide more money," Vinson said. "There is no need to fool ourselves."

McCone's figures indicated that if no cutback is made, the original estimated $4,200,000,000 cost of the Air Force expansion program will shoot up to $4,515,000,000 or $4,560,000,000.

This would put the average cost of the planes — ranging from giant bombers to much smaller, less expensive aircraft — at well over $1,000,000 apiece.

McCone told the House Committee that the Air Force expects delivery of all the 4,428 new planes by July, 1952, and expects to attain 69 full groups by December, 1953.

Brazilians Vote Under Watch Of Armed Soldiers

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 3 (AP) — Long lines of Brazilians voted in comparative calm but under the watchful eyes of soldiers and police today on whether to restore ex-Dictator Getulio Vargas to the presidency.

A news agency report from Maceio, capital of Alagoas state, said four persons were killed and several wounded at Mata Grande in a street clash — the only major violence reported anywhere.

Vargas, 67-year-old originator of the fascist-like "new state", who is attempting to hit the comeback trail as the candidate of his Labor Party (PTB), had difficulties in casting his own vote at Saoborja. He lost his voter's registration card but was reported to have unwound red tape in time to cast his ballot.

The other two leading candidates were Cristiano Machado, the choice of President Gaspar Dutra and the government-backed Social Democratic Party (PSD), and Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, air force officer and standard bearer of the National Democratic Union (UDN).

Joao Mangabeira, the Socialist, was admitted by his party to have no chance.

The polls closed at 5 p. m., and the count begins tomorrow but the trend may not be known until a week hence. The counting may continue for 30 days.

Hunt In Vain For Defense Line Of Reds

Pilots Claim 85 Trucks Are Hit

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 4 (AP)—United Nations air power blasted red supply arteries in North Korea today but searched in vain for signs of a communist defense line against South Korean forces advancing 50 miles beyond the 38th Parallel.

Pilots claimed they knocked out 85 camouflaged trucks in a red convoy moving down Tuesday from the direction of Chinese communist Manchuria. Swarms of carrier-based and land-based planes pressed the widespread aerial attacks and light bombers kept the assault going through the night.

The red radio at the capital of Pyongyang continued to ignore General MacArthur's ultimatum, broadcast hourly since Sunday, for the communists to surrender or face inevitable destruction.

But the North Korean high command communique broadcast today made this admission:

"On all fronts, the People's (Communist) Army is withdrawing to undertake new duties."

South Korean forces racing up the east coast made the deepest penetration into North Korea.

No United States troops were north of the 38th Parellel but Marines were reported today by the U. S. 10th Corps to have captured Uijongbu, within 18 miles of the artificial boundary. It is 12 miles north of Seoul.

The convoy of camouflaged trucks which American pilots reported southbound from the direction of Manchuria was one of several attacked Tuesday.

Another sizeable red convoy was observed headed west toward a concentration area 15 miles north of the 38th Parallel. A third motorized communist convoy on the east coast was lost sight of after being driven to cover by rocket and jellied gasoline attacks from the air.

The widely separated supply movements by the reds were in progress more than two days after General Douglas MacArthur called on the North Korean regime to surrender or face destruction.

No response has come from the Soviet-sponsored red regime at Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Increased traffic on the highway leading from Antung, on the west bank of the Yalu River in Red Manchuria, to Pyongyang was first noted about dusk on Monday, a Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

B-26 light intruder bombers kept watch over the column during the night. Pilots reported the vehicles were "not bumper to bumper, but fairly heavy" in number.

Tuesday morning fighter bombers roared over the highway in force. They found camouflaged trucks in hiding off the road.

The air force reported 56 trucks destroyed and 12 damaged while five other vehicles were destroyed and 12 more damaged.

Anti-Red Ordinance Is Unconstitutional

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP) —Jacksonville's anti-communist ordinance is unconstitutional, Circuit Judge Ogilvie ruled today.

He ordered Alexander W. Trainor, a registered communist, freed. Trainor had been sentenced to 90 days at the city prison farm for violating the ordinance making it a crime for a communist to live here.

Frederick Fair Gets Under Way

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 3 (AP) — The 88th Great Frederick Fair opened under sunny October skies today with the word that it is a "real farmers' fair."

That estimate was put on it by Henry R. Shoemaker, who has been Frederick County Farm Agent for 20 years.

'World Citizen' Davis Likely To Be Taken Back By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — Gareth (Garry) Davis, the 29-year-old ex-bomber pilot who now wants back the American citizenship he renounced two years ago, apparently is going to get it.

Attorney General McGrath said today he sees no reason "at this time" for opposing Davis's desire to become a U. S. Citizen again—but that he will have to go through the regular naturalization process applying to any other alien.

This means that Davis, who proclaimed himself a "citizen of the world" in Paris in 1948, can have his citizenship restored in March, 1952, thanks to his recent marriage to Audrey Peters, Hollywood dance instructor.

Generally, naturalization takes five years. However, the law provides that an alien who has resided here for two years and has been married to an American for one year of that time may get final citizenship papers.

"This case," the Attorney General said, "should be an object lesson to others who might lightly value the great privilege of American citizenship.

"Since this sacred right had been held in jeopardy, I hope that this example of repentence will give cause for reflection to others who might be considering such a step."

Bas and Drury, a former police lieutenant, were reported to have offered the Kefauver Senate Committee information to help its investigation of crime. They were slain 10 days before the committee's scheduled start of hearings in Chicago on Thursday.

Report 307 Casualties

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — A defense department casualty list issued today contained the names of 307 men, of whom 111 are dead.

Of the remainder, 149 were wounded, 25 missing, 22 injured in accidents in the war zone.

Strike-Bound Newspapers Lay Off 2,000

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3 (INS) — Some 2,000 employes of Pittsburgh's three daily newspapers were furloughed indefinitely today because of a strike by AFL mailers which halted deliveries.

Only maintenance men and skeleton news staffs were kept on the payrolls of the Sun-Telegraph, Post-Gazette, and Press.

The mailers struck to enforce demands for wage increases.

Five Die In Chicago Fire

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Five persons burned to death today in a three-room shack listed in Chicago zoning records as a garage.

Roy T. Christiansen, building commissioner, said the 25 by 30 foot, one-story frame structure was altered into three one-room apartments and a community kitchen without a building permit.

Only two of 10 negroes in the tar-paper covered building escaped unscathed. Two of the dead, and three severely burned victims were children.

The dead were Mrs. Esther Willis, 17; her husband, Robert, 20; their daughter, Lilly Mae, 18 months; Willie L. Jackson, 5, and Elgy Lyone, 20.

James Gibbons, First Division fire marshal, said a can of kerosene, on or near the stove, exploded.

Gibbons said survivors told him the owner, Sam Turner, had converted the garage into flats and rented them for $10 a week.

Bridges' Blast At Acheson Is Termed "Rash"

Senator Charges "Grand Sell-Out"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The State Department hit back at Senator Bridges (R-NH) tonight for his charge that Secretary of State Acheson is engineering a "grand sell-out" to the Chinese communists.

The New Hampshire Senator, a longtime critic of Acheson's foreign policy, issued a statement earlier in the day accusing Acheson of "opening the back door" for the entrance of red China into the United Nations.

He said this meant "giving away everything won by the blood of our youths" in the Korean War.

The State Department promptly denounced Bridges' statement as a "rash, unfounded accusation" and declared that such "carping criticism x x x can only weaken the United Nations and give aid and comfort to propagandists of the Soviet Union."

Bridges said he received a report three weeks ago that an understanding had been reached between the U. S. State Department and the British Foreign Office to arrange for the admission of red China into the UN. The department said this was a lie.

Bridges said the first move was made last Friday and when the UN Security Council vote 7 to 3 to invite representatives of communist China to represent their complaints of alleged American aggression in Formosa.

This was a reference to the red Chinese contention that President Truman's order for the U. S. 7th Fleet to guard Formosa against invasion was actually "aggression" against China. The communists claim that Formosa, now the last stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist government, belongs to red-held China.

Fast, New Russian Made Jets Are Reported Flying In China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG, Oct. 3 (AP)—A confidential but reliable report from Shanghai said today that fast, new Russian-made jet fighter planes are operating from Hungjao Field, third Shanghai airport to be reactivated by the Chinese communists.

Hungjao was the home base of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Chinese Air Transport (CAT) command before the communists seized Shanghai.

The report identified the Russian planes as improved Yak single-seat fighters. Earlier information had termed them Yak-21s.

These Yak jets, flying daily over Shanghai, were described as "considerably faster than the 400-mile-per-hour Soviet-built LA-9 fighter, also used in Shanghai."

Top speed was estimated at 550 miles an hour, but the report did not state if the estimate was made by a trained air observer.

The Shanghai source (which cannot be disclosed) said other Soviet-built aircraft, apparently operating from Hungjao, also have been seen over the city. These include TU-2 bombers and many LA-7 fighter-trainers.

The LA-7 is used extensively with LA-9 fighters for formation flying. The Chinese communist air force favors that plane formation, but the Shanghai reports did not say whether the aircraft are flown by Russians or Chinese. Russian pilots previously have been reported in Shanghai.

The Chinese reds also are operating from Kiangwan and Tazang fields between Shanghai and the Yangtze River. There is no evidence that they are using Lunghwa, which was the main international terminal and by far the city's largest airport.

The Shanghai report of accelerated air activity parallels Peiping announcements that the Chinese reds are stepping up all air, navy and army defenses.

Appearance of the air force in Shanghai early this year was coupled with capture of the old Chinese Nationalist air bases on the Chushan Islands.

Navy Nurse Who Lost Leg In War Recalled To Duty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (INS) — Lt. Sara J. Griffin, Albany, Ga., a nurse whose left leg has been amputated below the knee, was recalled to active duty by the Navy today to serve as an inspiration to other amputees.

Rear Adm. C. A. Swanson, Navy Surgeon General, said she will be assigned to the amputee center at the U. S. Naval Hospital at Oakland, Calif.

Lt. Griffin, a graduate of Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Birmingham, Ala., suffered the loss of her left leg in an accident while on Navy duty at Guantanamo, Cuba, in 1947.

With the aid of an artificial limb, she has since actively followed her profession. She continued on active Navy duty until she was dropped for economy reasons in 1949.

She has since been serving as supervisor of supply at the Phoebe Putney Hospital in Albany.

The Navy said she will be the first amputee nurse ever recalled from the reserves.

Judge Produces Documents To Prove U. S. Communist Party Is "War Machine"

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3 (AP) — A Pittsburgh judge today produced a bulky sheaf of seized documents he said proves the communist party in America is a war machine which seeks to overthrow the government.

Judge Michael A. Musmanno said he sent 17 documents to the House un-American Activities Committee which establish the aims of the American communists without question.

Investigators for the House Committee in Washington called the papers "sensational in import." The documents will be given to committee members when they return to the capital next month.

Musmanno, Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, released photostatic copies of letters, directives and pamphlets he said he took from the desk of Steve Nelson, chairman of the communist party of Western Pennsylvania, in an August 31 raid on Nelson's office.

Nelson and two aides now are free on $10,000 bonds on charges of sedition filed by Musmanno.

In New York, a spokesman at communist party headquarters termed the charges "ridiculous," adding, "it's just another Musmanno stunt. He's been slapped down twice by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and now he's trying something else."

Nelson could not be reached for comment.

One paper Musmanno found — entitled "guide for speakers" — said: "In Korea the people have had the opportunity of witnessing the liberating role — not only in words but in deeds — of the Soviet troops and the Soviet occupation forces, as contrasted with the enslaving role of American troops and the American military authorities."

"Another piece of literature in Nelson's desk," Musmanno said, "was a directive from the national communist secretary to district organizers, of which Nelson is one. It carries this line:

"'If the American forces get a shellacking, while it would increase the desperation in Wall Street and Washington, it would encourage and make more difficult for Wall Street to unleash new adventures.'"

Musmanno has waged an anti-communist campaign from the Allegheny County (Pittsburgh) common pleas court bench. He was a judge at the German War Crimes Trials.

Red Murder Camp Found In Korea

By LEIF ERICKSON

SOUTH KOREAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 4 (AP)—A Korean red murder camp where 700 Korean civilians including children were executed has been discovered near Seoul, an American Army officer reported today.

The officer said that communists burned, shot and bayoneted the prisoners before fleeing.

The "red Buchenwald" was located at Yangyong, 36 miles east of Seoul.

It was reported to South Korean Army Headquarters by Col. Francis E. Gillette, Cincinnati. Col. Gillette is an adviser to the Republic of Korea Second Corps.

Col. Gillette reported he has made photographs of the murder camp and is sending them to the United Nations.

Previously the bodies of 1,000 Korean civilians slain by communist Korean invaders were found in the rubbled city of Taejon in South Korea. Some 127 other bodies with their hands bound behind their backs were found in Seoul.

Gillette said the newly discovered murder camp contained the bodies of "approximately 700" Korean civilians. Some were small children. He said many had been burned to death. Others had been shot or stabbed by bayonets.

A South Korean who said he was an eye witness to the mass executions told Col. Gillette the massacres had taken place between Sept. 23 and Sept. 29. The witness, identified as Kim Chin Sin, said the victims included policemen and leaders and members of the Korean Right Wing Nationalist Youth Association.

The executioners were officers of the Korean red army and members of the Korean Communist Youth Association, the witness told Col. Gillette.

The American Army officer's report to the South Korean army included this statement:

Reds Sentence 21 "Western Agents"

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP) — Communists courts in five Soviet zone cities today sentenced 21 alleged "western agents" to more than 115 years in prison. It was the biggest day thus far in the East Zone's pre-election drive against so-called "enemies of the state."

Most of the defendants were charged with distributing anti-communist pamphlets or in some other way sabotaging the "peace and democratic order" of the East German Republic.

Air Force Asks Raise In Funds, Cites High Costs

Says Current Money Means Cut In Planes

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — The Air Force today blamed rising prices for tacking $315,000,000 to $360,000,000 onto the cost of its program to build 4,428 new planes by mid 1952.

Undersecretary of Air John McCone told the House Armed Services Committee that soaring prices will mean the Air Force must do one of two things:

1. Either cut its program by the equivalent of 750 F-86 jet fighter planes.

2. Or get more money from Congress.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) quickly discounted any idea of reducing the number of planes which the Air Force says are needed to safeguard the United States in the event of World War III.

"Congress must control prices or provide more money," Vinson said. "There is no need to fool ourselves."

McCone's figures indicated that if no cutback is made, the original estimated $4,200,000,000 cost of the Air Force expansion program will shoot up to $4,515,000,000 or $4,560,000,000.

This would put the average cost of the planes — ranging from giant bombers to much smaller, less expensive aircraft — at well over $1,000,000 apiece.

McCone told the House Committee that the Air Force expects delivery of all the 4,428 new planes by July, 1952, and expects to attain 69 full groups by December, 1953.

Brazilians Vote Under Watch Of Armed Soldiers

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 3 (AP) — Long lines of Brazilians voted in comparative calm but under the watchful eyes of soldiers and police today on whether to restore ex-Dictator Getulio Vargas to the presidency.

A news agency report from Maceio, capital of Alagoas state, said four persons were killed and several wounded at Mata Grande in a street clash — the only major violence reported anywhere.

Vargas, 67-year-old originator of the fascist-like "new state", who is attempting to hit the comeback trail as the candidate of his Labor Party (PTB), had difficulties in casting his own vote at Saoborja. He lost his voter's registration card but was reported to have unwound red tape in time to cast his ballot.

The other two leading candidates were Cristiano Machado, the choice of President Gaspar Dutra and the government-backed Social Democratic Party (PSD), and Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, air force officer and standard bearer of the National Democratic Union (UDN).

Joao Mangabeira, the Socialist, was admitted by his party to have no chance.

The polls closed at 5 p. m., and the count begins tomorrow but the trend may not be known until a week hence. The counting may continue for 30 days.

Hunt In Vain For Defense Line Of Reds

Pilots Claim 85 Trucks Are Hit

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 4 (AP)—United Nations air power blasted red supply arteries in North Korea today but searched in vain for signs of a communist defense line against South Korean forces advancing 50 miles beyond the 38th Parallel.

Pilots claimed they knocked out 85 camouflaged trucks in a red convoy moving down Tuesday from the direction of Chinese communist Manchuria. Swarms of carrier-based and land-based planes pressed the widespread aerial attacks and light bombers kept the assault going through the night.

The red radio at the capital of Pyongyang continued to ignore General MacArthur's ultimatum, broadcast hourly since Sunday, for the communists to surrender or face inevitable destruction.

But the North Korean high command communique broadcast today made this admission:

"On all fronts, the People's (Communist) Army is withdrawing to undertake new duties."

South Korean forces racing up the east coast made the deepest penetration into North Korea.

No United States troops were north of the 38th Parellel but Marines were reported today by the U. S. 10th Corps to have captured Uijongbu, within 18 miles of the artificial boundary. It is 12 miles north of Seoul.

The convoy of camouflaged trucks which American pilots reported southbound from the direction of Manchuria was one of several attacked Tuesday.

Another sizeable red convoy was observed headed west toward a concentration area 15 miles north of the 38th Parallel. A third motorized communist convoy on the east coast was lost sight of after being driven to cover by rocket and jellied gasoline attacks from the air.

The widely separated supply movements by the reds were in progress more than two days after General Douglas MacArthur called on the North Korean regime to surrender or face destruction.

No response has come from the Soviet-sponsored red regime at Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

Increased traffic on the highway leading from Antung, on the west bank of the Yalu River in Red Manchuria, to Pyongyang was first noted about dusk on Monday, a Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

B-26 light intruder bombers kept watch over the column during the night. Pilots reported the vehicles were "not bumper to bumper, but fairly heavy" in number.

Tuesday morning fighter bombers roared over the highway in force. They found camouflaged trucks in hiding off the road.

The air force reported 56 trucks destroyed and 12 damaged while five other vehicles were destroyed and 12 more damaged.

Anti-Red Ordinance Is Unconstitutional

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP) —Jacksonville's anti-communist ordinance is unconstitutional, Circuit Judge Ogilvie ruled today.

He ordered Alexander W. Trainor, a registered communist, freed. Trainor had been sentenced to 90 days at the city prison farm for violating the ordinance making it a crime for a communist to live here.

Frederick Fair Gets Under Way

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 3 (AP) — The 88th Great Frederick Fair opened under sunny October skies today with the word that it is a "real farmers' fair."

That estimate was put on it by Henry R. Shoemaker, who has been Frederick County Farm Agent for 20 years.

'World Citizen' Davis Likely To Be Taken Back By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — Gareth (Garry) Davis, the 29-year-old ex-bomber pilot who now wants back the American citizenship he renounced two years ago, apparently is going to get it.

Attorney General McGrath said today he sees no reason "at this time" for opposing Davis's desire to become a U. S. Citizen again—but that he will have to go through the regular naturalization process applying to any other alien.

This means that Davis, who proclaimed himself a "citizen of the world" in Paris in 1948, can have his citizenship restored in March, 1952, thanks to his recent marriage to Audrey Peters, Hollywood dance instructor.

Generally, naturalization takes five years. However, the law provides that an alien who has resided here for two years and has been married to an American for one year of that time may get final citizenship papers.

"This case," the Attorney General said, "should be an object lesson to others who might lightly value the great privilege of American citizenship.

"Since this sacred right had been held in jeopardy, I hope that this example of repentence will give cause for reflection to others who might be considering such a step."

98 Cases Are On Docket For Appeals Court

Others Expected As Term Opens

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 3 (AP)—Maryland's Court of Appeals convened for another term today.

Some 98 cases already are docketed for argument. Court attaches said others would be filed before the term ends next summer.

Among cases now on the calendar is an appeal by the Tidewater Fisheries Commission of a Somerset County Court decision upsetting plans of Smith Islanders for an oyster growing cooperative.

Another was raised for five-year-old Marilyn Marie Mahnke, whose father fatally shot his common-law wife at Salisbury last March, then killed himself.

The child was their daughter. Her grandfather sued for $75,000 damages, charging she suffered nervous and physical impairment.

Marilyn was in the bungalow where the body of her mother, Marjorie Mae Mahnke, was found beneath a blanket in the kitchen. She was also present when her father, Russell C. Moore, killed himself at the home of his legal wife in West Collingswood, N. J.

Eastern State Defense Maps Uniform Warning Signals

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP) — Eastern State directors of Civil Defense today framed a set of uniform warning signals for use in the case of air attack.

Vice Chairman Lawrence Wilkinson of New York told reporters they provide for the sounding of sirens for three minutes in a fluctuating blast for alerts, and a steady three-minute blast for all clear.

Directors in states east of the Mississippi met in closed session with Federal Defense officials to discuss federal-state relations in the Civilian Defense setup. At the conclusion, Wilkinson said the discussions cleared up a "lot of loose ends."

Concerning a recent air force order changing established air raid warning signals by cutting out the "air raid blue" signal — a public alert used during World War II — Wilkinson said there was some complaint that the air force had made the change without consulting state defense officials.

Wilkinson said Defense Department officials today expressed "regrets over this failure to co-ordinate" military and civilian efforts and assured the directors there would be full coordination in the future.

Admits Air Attack

Congressman Gets Back Of Reds' Iron Curtain, Sees New Weapons

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—A touring American Congressman today told how he came back from a dangerous trip into the forbidden Russian Army area and got a peek at secret new Soviet weapons.

Rep. Thurmond Chatham (D-NC) said a Soviet officer eager to pay off an old debt of friendship took him on the 50-mile jeep ride which included such points of interest as a newly completed airfield and an armored infantry compound.

On the ride he said he photographed:

1. Tanks built so low that they appeared likely to be almost immune from the fire of present day anti-tank guns.

2. Sweep-back-wing jet planes, which appeared to be sleek and fast and in quantity.

In an interview, Chatham told of his trip as though it were humdrum.

Asked if he realized what might have happened had be been caught—arrest and possibly being shot as a spy—the florid, exuberant North Carolinian replied:

"I've spent most of my life getting in trouble or getting out of it."

He is a combat veteran of both world wars. He was decorated for his work as gunnery officer on a cruiser squadron in the Pacific in the second world war.

As a Naval officer he met a Soviet representative on war-time liaison work in the United States and for a year introduced him around his clubs, lunched and worked with him.

Seven years later, the congressman came to Berlin this weekend with four other legislators who are touring U. S. defense areas in Europe.

He said he saw the Soviet officer in civilian clothing in a West Berlin night club. The Russian was so pleased he threw his arms around him, and after a chat offered a trip into occupied east Germany. Chatham snapped up the chance.

The Russian changed into the uniform of a Senior army officer, and on the ride told him:

Russian war material lost in the Korean war had been earmarked for use in Indochina and Thailand after a quick red victory in Korea.

Russia hasn't nearly as many submarines as some American intelligence sources believe.

"Every one-legged German would carry a gun against us (the Russians) now."

At an airfield completed but six weeks ago, Chatham said, he saw the jets which appeared as fast as the latest American types.

Lacquering The Lily

THREE years ago Edith Piaf stepped out on the stage of a midtown theatre and for the best part of an hour hypnotized a hep Broadway audience with her gutty little songs of love and larceny in the back alleys of Paris. As I remember it, she was wearing a bleak and bedraggled dress which showed quite a bit of her spindly legs, and her mop of black hair looked like something a self-respecting pussycat wouldn't drag in. Nevertheless, there was something endearing and authentic about this chanteuse from the Montmarte slums, and though everything she did was appallingly untheatrical, by some emotional chemistry it became great theatre. And when she finally begged off, no one in the house bravoed louder than I.

Billy Rose

A couple of weeks ago I heard Miss Piaf sing again, this time at the opening of the Club Versailles, and though her songs and mannerisms were pretty much the same I found myself applauding respectfully rather than rambunctiously. She was still the great performer—expert, sure of every gesture and inflection—but it seemed to me that a lot of the heat and heart had gone out of her act. And as I walked home that night I couldn't help but wonder what was missing in her performance that had been there before.

Well, I've been mulling it a bit and I don't think anything is missing. The trouble, as I see it, is that something has been added—several somethings, as a matter of fact. And on the off-chance that this talented lady is too close to the forest to see the cheese, I'd like to tell her what these somethings are.

To begin with, the dowdy little dress has been replaced by a snappy black creation which looks as if it might have come from the drawing board of Jacques Fath. It's easy, of course, to understand how this happened—Miss Piaf is now earning several thousand dollars a week and can afford a lot of glad rags. But, in one man's opinion, the glad rags on her are as wrong as top hat and tails would be on Ed Wynn.

Next her hair: The memorable trademark which set her apart from the rest of the song singers is gone. Virtually all the character has been combed and coiffed away, and as a result a lot of the drama has gone out of the face beneath it—just about what would happen to Chaplin if he shaved off his mustache or to Durante if he had a schnozz-bob.

The same prettifying treatment has been applied to Miss Piaf's orchestrations, choral backgrounds and lighting, and the end result is that one can no longer see the gamin for the glamour. In other words, in sacrificing naturalness for window dressing, Edith—or those who handle her—has made the same mistake which has lessened the effectiveness of many a fine performer.

Of course, Miss Piaf might argue with some logic that I ought to hold my tongue and typewriter, seeing as how she's packing 'em in at the Versailles. Well, my comeback to that one is simple: She was packing 'em in before she added the gloss, and was doing it with artistry rather than abracadabra.

I hope the little lady doesn't get me wrong—in my book she's still one of our top performers. I doubt, however, whether she's going to hit me where I cheer again until she scrapes off the varnish and goes back to being the spindly-legged song singer that Maurice Chevalier discovered in a two-franc bistre.

The talented Piaf is about five feet tall and, to make a small joke, it seems downright silly to gild the Lilliputian.

Campaign Portrait

When a biography of a President in office appears just six weeks before a national election—although it's an off year when the subject is not a candidate himself—it's a fair assumption that the book is meant as campaign material. And when the author happens to be an enthusiastic supporter of the President's party and a member of its national committee, there is no question about it.

So "The Man of Independence," a biography of President Truman by Jonathan Daniels, who was a secretary to both Roosevelt and Truman, will not cut much ice as literature or as history. It may contain some interesting revelations. Some of its disclosures have already created something of an uproar. But a politician cannot do an objective job with an assignment like this one. In fact, he ought not to try.

Judging from the reviews and excerpts from the book published in the newspapers, he didn't try. He started out with the belief that the Democratic party is the possessor of all political virtue in this country and that Harry Truman fairly well embodies that virtue. He naturally arrived at the conclusion that the party is the champion of the "democratic way" and its chief is no discredit to it despite his faults.

Whether any but ardent pro-Trumanites will read this book and come to the same conclusion remains to be seen. News accounts quoted some remarks attributed to the President by Daniels that will not do much for the Truman reputation. If he did say that former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was a "miserable failure" in conducting the nation's foreign affairs in 1945 and 1946, that was an admission of his own incompetence.

As Byrnes has pointed out, he stayed on long after the Moscow conference produced the agreements the President later condemned. And Truman is quoted as having said in the same breath that Byrnes "ran out on him" by resigning!

The passage hardly makes Mr. Truman sound like a great statesman, to say the least. And Daniels is forced ot admit that his hero seemed "lost in uncertainty and ineptitude" during the six months between the Churchill "iron curtain" speech and the incident that led to the dismissal of Henry Wallace.

Task Ahead In Korea

The victory in Korea has been won by American troops and American power. President Syngman Rhee has returned to Seoul because the United States poured tremendous numbers of men and great amounts of material into the fight. The victory has been costly to this country in lives and in treasure.

For the first time since World War II ended, a capital taken by the communists has been wrested from them. Korea has not become another Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia or China. The communists resorted to naked force in Korea and suffered a jarring defeat because the United States intervened.

But the United States intervened in the name of the United Nations and the UN Security Council supported such action. Some members of the UN gave token assistance in the fighting. Presumably, the UN will arrange the peace settlement that will come eventually.

The goal must be a united, peaceful, free and prosperous Korea. This goal may be difficult of attainment for various reasons, including the proximity of Korea to the communist colossus. American troops can maintain order for a time. American wealth no doubt will be applied to the task of restoration. But Russia, no doubt, regards its setback in Korea as temporary.

More Lamb Chops

There will be no fall lamb chops on the market this year. That is because ewes lamb in the spring and not in the fall. Nature arranged things that way for the wild ancestors of today's domesticated sheep, so that new-born lambs would not have to face winter until they were stronger, and the arrangement still holds for their present-day descendants.

It stands a good chance of being changed soon, though. Science has discovered that ewes can be made to lamb in the fall. Armour hormone researchers have been injecting a gonadotrophin into ewes, whereupon they lamb twice a year instead of once. The time of the extra lambing depends on when the gland stimulant is injected.

Produced on a large scale, the hormone would cost only 25 cents for each ewe, they estimate. For that sum, the farmer could get two lamb "crops" a year instead of one, for an estimated extra profit averaging $10 or $15 a ewe. With more lamb coming to market, the consumer could also expect to benefit, through lower prices.

There is more research to be done, to perfect the method, but it shouldn't be many years until fall lamb will be a commonplace on the market.

For Bargain Hunters

Passing some notable mansion, who has not thought how nice it would be to pick up such a place at tax sale, or inherit it, or something? One of the most luxurious homes in Cleveland went on the bargain counter this summer. Built at an estimated cost of $350,000 or more before the post-war inflation, it could have been bought for less than a third of that figure, perhaps substantially less. But business was slow.

Maybe potential buyers inquired too deeply into the item of upkeep. The real estate tax, for instance, is $5,200 a year.

Scientist says people should eat a certain amount of sand. Sounds like subtle propaganda in favor of spinach.

Slicing Off A Fat 'Tummy'

MOST OVERWEIGHT men and women appreciate the fact that there is no easy way to lose weight. The project requires will power and fewer calories and not a magic pill that melts away fat or permits the individual to eat his fill. Furthermore, once weight has been shed through dieting, the excess will return unless the persons learns to curb his appetite.

Physicians wish they could recommend a simpler way than eating less food. Now and then medication is prescribed to decrease the desire for cakes, pies, and other edibles that taste so good. The possibility of surgery comes up from time to time and we receive letters asking if it is possible to have the blubber cut off. This procedure is done occasionally but is not recommended generally because surgery in the obese is risky and there is no assurance that new layers will not appear. The operation is never suggested unless there are adequate reasons for doing so.

The person most likely to benefit is the stocky woman with an inherent tendency to gain weight on the shoulders, upper arms, thighs, breasts, and abdomen. Her lower arms and legs are those of a much slighter individual. Most of these women began to add poundage during puberty and the condition was progressive. Other candidates include women who have an enlarged or overstretched abdomen as a result of repeated pregnancies or operations. In both groups the procedure makes sense because it would be correcting a defect in the same way that plastic surgery remedies a hooked nose. Some are uncomfortable as a result of the protuberant abdomen; the extra burden affects posture by pulling the body forward. This leads to back strain. In addition, many are overly sensitive about remarks concerning their appearance and may go so far as to hate all men and shun mixed groups.

At any rate, the operation consists of removal of a large wedge of flesh from the abdomen. The two edges are sewed together and, presto, the bay window has vanished. These wedges weigh much more than the pound of flesh demanded by Shylock. A somewhat similar series of plastic operations can be done upon the upper arms and breasts if necessary but it must be remembered that large scars remain.

Surgery of this type is not recommended for ordinary obesity because the chances are good that fat will re-accumulate unless the eating habits are changed. On the other hand, the plan is useful when persons of gigantic size lose up to 200 pounds. Taking off this much weight leaves large aprons of skin hanging from the back and arms; that from the abdomen may reach halfway down to the knees. This is far from pleasant and the individual may look worse than before reducing. Removal of these skin flaps will restore the normal configuration.

ODYSSEUS AND THE SIRENS

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Skyrocketing Prices Whittle Dollar; Easygoing Secretary Sawyer Stymies Price And Wage Controls; Senate's Investigators Soft-Pedal Interest In Milligans.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Though Congress has authorized President Truman to invoke price controls, he continued to do nothing about it. Meanwhile, the deadly spiral of inflation goes up and up, and the buying power of the American people's dollar gets less and less.

The housewife probably doesn't need to read this in the newspaper, but the nation's market basket now costs her almost 20 per cent more than she spent to feed her family before the outbreak of the Korean war last June.

Here are a few examples:

Creamery butter is up 16 per cent since June, while the average family's bread and bakery bill has risen between 8 and 10 per cent.

The price of bacon is up 16 per cent since June.

The family milk bill has risen about 18 per cent on a nation-wide average.

Round steak is up 33 per cent since June—pork chops, 10 per cent.

A dozen eggs costs 70 cents and higher, compared to 52 cents in June—an increase of 32 per cent.

Coffee has jumped from 74 cents a pound in June to 84 cents for better grades, or a price boost of 13 per cent.

Black pepper, which cost only 3½ cents a pound in 1939, now costs $2.66 a pound.

The wholesale price of cotton yarn has increased 40 per cent in the last year, while the price of a pair of shoes has risen 25 per cent since September, 1949, and 15 per cent since last June.

Truman and Coolidge

The price of medicine has shot up from 25 to 50 per cent.

Meanwhile, veterans of the last war are finding it tougher than ever to buy the homes which Congress promised them five years ago. Here are a few reasons why:

The President has tightened credit controls on lower-bracket home buyers, but he has done nothing about controlling the soaring prices of building materials.

The wholesale price of lumber has jumped 25 per cent since June.

It is practically impossible to buy cement at any price.

Window glass is up 12 per cent over last year.

Copper wire and other electrical and plumbing equipment has risen from 10 to 20 per cent, while home fuels are 10 per cent higher than last year.

However, despite the growing trend of inflation, President Truman still refuses to control prices, though he has the powers to do so if he wants to use them. The Democratic Party has long criticized Calvin Coolidge's indifference to inflation, claiming — quite rightly — that it led to an unforgettable depression. Unless Truman acts in a hurry, he will be far more responsible for inflation than the much-criticized Republican administrations from 1921 to 1933.

Soft-Soap Sawyer

One of the big inside reasons for failure to impose wage and price controls is the lackadaisical attitude of well-meaning, likable Charles Sawyer, the secretary of commerce.

The other day, tough-minded Stuart Symington, head of the National Security Resources Board, learned that his friend Sawyer was going to make two milk-toast, middle-of-the-road speeches regarding price controls. Symington's advisers debated whether they should warn the Secretary of Commerce that airtight, tough controls would be necessary.

However, they decided not to call Secretary Sawyer. To warn him, they decided, would mean that he would only get busy and lobby against the controls which they were planning.

Man With A Smile

Amazing thing about the man whom Secretary Sawyer has picked to control industry is that during the last war he was eased out of the War Production Board because he wasn't tough enough.

The gentleman in question, William H. Harrison, head of International Telephone and Telegraph, was known in the WPB as a nice guy with a smile. Everybody liked him. He didn't offend anyone; neither did he fight.

His job was to control building construction, and he was so friendly that he let the Army get away with a lot of construction which they didn't need and which took manpower and materials away from other important projects.

Finally, WPB officials suggested to Gen. B. B. Somervell, the Army supply chief, that Harrison be made a general and join the Army. Both sides were happier after that.

K. C. Crime

The U. S. attorney who put President Truman's pal, Tom Pendergast, in jail was slated to be subpoenaed before the Kefauver Crime Committee in Kansas City last week, but for some reason he was never called.

What the Senate Committee was interested in was any possible friendship between two Mafia leaders and Maurice Milligan, the U. S. attorney whom Truman fired a few days after he became President. The committee was also interested in Milligan's brother, ex-Congressman "Tuck" Milligan.

It happened that two leaders of the underworld society Mafia in Kansas City, Joe De Luca and Joe Di Giovanni, received favors from the two Milligans in 1942, and the Senate Committee at first proposed to look into the matter.

Joe De Luca was convicted on a narcotics rap in 1942, at which time narcotics agents of the U. S. Treasury recommended he be given 15 years and deported to Italy. However, U. S. Attorney Milligan, through his assistant, Richard Phelps, recommended only three years and opposed deportation. After De Luca had served only one year of his sentence, Milligan's brother, the Congressman, arranged far a parole.

Later, De Luca violated parole and was slapped back in the pen. But within a month, "Tuck" Milligan, the Congressman, had arranged another parole.

The Senate Committee also was curious as to why U. S. Attorney Milligan had blocked a search warrant for narcotics agents when they wanted to search Di Giovanni's cellar for dope. Narcotics agents had given the Senate Crime Committee a recording of a telephone conversation between the two Mafia members, saying that the district attorney's office had fixed De Luca's narcotics trial. However, for unexplained reasons, the Senate probers at the last minute decided to lay off.

NOTE—The lay-off was certainly not inspired by the White House. It would have given Mr. Truman great pleasure to have had the man whom he ousted as U. S. attorney investigated by a Senate committee.

Consumers And Savers Are Hurt By Inflation

By MARK SULLIVAN

THAT inflation is no longer merely a danger, that it is a present fact, is officially and candidly recognized by the Federal Reserve Board. With great usefulness to the public, the board goes farther in candor. Having been set up as an independent government agency, not subject to whatever administration might be in power, the board is free from political motives. Having this immunity, the board is free to mention aspects of inflation which the Administration, in its own outgivings, might prefer not to call attention to. In the board's current monthly bulletin is a balanced and objective survey of recent developments in argiculture. In it, frank mention is made of government survey of recent developments in agriculture. In it, frank mention is made of government support of crop prices for farmers as a factor in inflation, and of wage raises for labor as another factor.

These two, labor and farmers, are groups who get present advantage from inflation. They are also groups to which the Truman administration has deferred and from which Mr. Truman has asked gratitude. There is another group—in fact not a group at all but the whole of the people — who suffer disadvantage. These are the consumers, who in buying food must pay artificially high prices brought about and kept up by government price support of farm crops, and in buying manufactured goods must pay high prices brought about by wage raises for labor.

Savers Suffer

Coinciding with consumers, and likewise practically the whole of the people, is a group which suffers a special and calamitous detriment. These are savers who put present savings into securities and institutions from which they are to be returned at a future date. Characteristic groups of these are persons who put their savings into life insurance policies or are beneficiaries of them, or into the familiar government savings bonds or into pension funds with a fixed date and amount.

The detriment these suffer through inflation is depreciation of the purchasing power of their saved dollars. The dollar they save in the present becomes, when it is returned to them some years in the future, less than a dollar in purchasing power. The experience many savers have had is stated clearly and racily by economist columnist Sylvia Porter of the "New York Post" and Post-Hall syndicate:

"Let's say you invested $75 in a U. S. savings bond ten years ago; let's say you turn in that bond today for $100. On paper, that looks just dandy. But in terms of your buying power in the corner store, your $100 bond is worth less than $60. What's more . . . you're increasingly aware that you took a terrific kick in the pocket-book between 1940 and 1950. . ."

What has taken place in the case of savings bond owners has been the experience also of persons who put their savings into life insurance or into other securities of this type. Putting a dollar into savings ten years ago, they in effect put in a dollar's worth of goods at the prices of that time—food, or wearing apparel, or building material or what not. When ten years later they got the dollar back, they got only about 60 per cent of the amount of goods they put in.

Economy Endangered

This not only has been an individual hardship to many millions of savers, it contains also a danger of national calamity to the country's economy. The danger is that savers who have had this experience may come to doubt the worthwhileness of saving at all. If there is continuation of the rise in prices that goes with inflation, savers may come to think they would do better to put their money into goods. There is an ominous hint of this possibility in the recent experience of the federal treasury in selling savings bonds and of the public in buying them. During a period of several months recently, the amount of new bonds bought by the people has been less than the amount that came to maturity or were turned in for redemption.

The existing inflation justifies the warning description of it by Chairman McCabe of the Federal Reserve Board as a "cancerous sore," the most pressing domestic problem the country has. For meeting the problem adequately the responsibility of the Administration is very heavy. Governmental policies it has followed, such as price support of farm crops, are in large part responsible for the inflation. And because the government solicits the people to save and to lend its savings to the government in the form of savings bonds, there is a special responsibility. This is not adequately met by returning to the saver the number of dollars he loaned, as the government will always do. Adequate living up to the responsibility includes seeing that the purchasing power of the savers' dollars be protected.

U. N. Today Finds Itself On Trial With Americans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The U. N. is on trial with many Americans today who are wondering if America has joined a debating society or a league to enforce peace.

Maybe the U. N. in the end will show resoluteness and begin to banish its apparent fear of dealing firmly with the Moscow regime. But it does not instill public condidence in the U. N. to read one day that some of its members want to admit communist China and to read the next day that the premier of that government accuses America of aggression and dares her troops to cross the 38th Parallel.

It will be difficult to maintain any faith in the Truman administration or in Secretary of State Acheson if there is any further dillydallying with the Russians in the U. N. The failure on the part of the U. N. thus far to call a spade a spade and to put the finger of responsibility on the Soviets for the aggression they committed in the far east by manipulating their puppets — the North Koreans — is a tragic chapter of frustration, delay and perhaps even timidity.

Time For Resoluteness

With a brilliant military victory in process, the time for resoluteness has arrived. Yet there are no signs that the U. N. members appreciate it. There is still talk about the wisdom of fighting beyond the 38th Parallel and still talk about the mischievous Soviet proposals which plainly are designed to block decisions.

If the U. N.—in the middle of a military operation—has to stop and argue with a filibustering delegation which is a party to the crime, respect for the U. N. will diminish everywhere and particularly in the United States.

Nothing is calculated so quickly to make Americans, irrespective of party, lose trust in the U. N. than a program of delay at this time.

What is surprising is that the U. N. has not announced any plan whatsoever to punish the North Koreans for their atrocities and has not passed a single resolution denouncing the Moscow and Peiping government for their part in the North Korean aggression.

It was General MacArthur the other day who pointed out, in another connection, that in Asia there could be no irresoluteness without loss of prestige. It is likewise true that if the military commander-in-chief has to wait for the U. N. to send him instructions on whether or not to attack the enemy or where, critical battles will be lost and strategic advantages sacrificed while the debate goes on.

The very hesitancy on the part of the United Nations forces to proceed toward North Korea, which is reflected in the press dispatches, is a sign that someone is afraid to take a positive stand. General MacArthur's freedom of action is circumscribed. He no longer receives orders from the President of the United States alone. He must wait till the President find out what orders the U. N. will give him to transmit to General MacArthur. Such a loss of sovereignty was never contemplated by America when she joined the U. N.

Yielding Sovereignty

The United States has not before been in the position of yielding to another political authority the sovereign command over troops. The alliances of wartime have often placed before supreme commanders the making of important decisions, but such a military alliance is valueless if it must conduct its operations subject to the delays that come from international councils on the political level.

The crisis in which General MacArthur finds himself today is unprecedented. American boys have been killed in battle. Many have been killed in cold blood, with their hand tied behind them. Yet the American commander is powerless to avenge these deaths, because the United Nations doesn't know whether it is more afraid of the North Koreans or the Russian masters behind them. If it is that easy to bluff the U. N., the danger of a large-scale war has been immeasurably increased.

Back in June, the United States prodded the U. N. into quick action. Nobody in the government here seems to be prodding the U. N. today. Members of Congress seem strangely silent.

The broadcast of a demand by General MacArthur for surrender should never have been made without an ultimatum demanding acceptance within a given time. Now apparently MacArthur must wait while an inadequate South Korean force moves north as Vishinsky debates and the U. N. listens. It is a sad traversty on the functioning of an international police force.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Shift In Population

THE 1950 census shows changes in the American population that are likely to have important effects upon the politics of the country. Whenever a shift in population occurs, it is indicative of new developments in industry and of sectional importance.

Such states as North Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Mississippi show a decrease in population. The largest increase is California, with Arizona, Florida and Nevada following. Apparently, climate has something to do with these changes as well as the movement of industry. California shows 51.6 per cent increase over 1940. It is becoming one of our leading manufacturing as well as agricultural states.

The population of the country has doubled since 1900. The three largest states, on the basis of population, are, in this order, New York, California and Pennsylvania. Together, these three states have a population of 35,651,000 of a total of 150,000,000. In 1900, these three states had an aggregate population of 15,055,000 persons. But this fact is also interesting, that whereas California now has a population of 10,472,000 persons, in 1900 the figures for that state showed only 1,485,000. While the population of the country doubled in the past 50 years, California increased more than seven times.

The House of Representatives is elected on the basis of population; the states, therefore, that have increased populations are likely to get more seats. Public law 291, signed in 1941, at present controls the system of apportionment, but that does not necessarily mean that when Congress comes to deal with the subject, say in 1951 or 1952, it will not adopt a new law. It is likely, however, that the total number of members will not be increased, but that some states will gain and some will lose.

As it stands now, New York has 45 seats, California 23, and Pennsylvania 33, making a total of 101 seats out of 435.

The Pacific states show the greatest increases in population: California 51.6 per cent; Washington 36 per cent; Oregon 38.6 per cent. While the Atlantic Coast states show no decreases, New England produced nothing startling in the past decade.

Maine shows an increase of 7.1 per cent; New Hampshire 7.8 per cent; Vermont 4.6 per cent; Massachusetts 9.2 per cent; Connecticut 16.7 per cent; Rhode Island, 10.2 per cent.

(Unless otherwise specified, the comparisons are between 1940 and 1950).

The comparison would seem to indicate a movement westward, away from the older states and the older traditions of life. With the exception of Florida, none of the Southern states show a large increase, the highest being Maryland with 27.5 per cent.

The Middle West and South are the only areas which show a decrease, but Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois do show an increase, with Michigan leading. In the Middle West, it is clearer than anywhere else, that the half-century shift of the population from rural to urban centers continues to be pronounced.

The political shift becomes important not only in relationship to the House of Representatives but also in the vote in the Electoral College which elects the President. This body equals the number of senators plus representatives; that is, New York State has 45 representatives and 2 senators; there, it has 47 votes in the Electoral College. The Middle West may lose votes. In the south, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi might lose seats in the House of Representatives, while Florida will undoubtedly gain.

The shift in population moves an increasingly large number of citizens away from the Eastern seaboard and makes them more distant from Washington. In 1900, the Mountain and Pacific states had a total population of 4,091,000; in 1950, these same states show a population of 19,384,000. In 1900, the West South Central states, which include Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas showed a population of 6,532,000; in 1950, these same states show 14,476,000.

For the purpose of comparison, in 1900, New England's population was 5,592,000; this year, it is 9,306,000.

The movement is definitely westward, with whatever alerations that means in the habits of life and thinking of the people. Certainly, westerners are less conscious of European attitudes than those whose traditions are based on New

Campaign Portrait

When a biography of a President in office appears just six weeks before a national election—although it's an off year when the subject is not a candidate himself—it's a fair assumption that the book is meant as campaign material. And when the author happens to be an enthusiastic supporter of the President's party and a member of its national committee, there is no question about it.

So "The Man of Independence," a biography of President Truman by Jonathan Daniels, who was a secretary to both Roosevelt and Truman, will not cut much ice as literature or as history. It may contain some interesting revelations. Some of its disclosures have already created something of an uproar. But a politician cannot do an objective job with an assignment like this one. In fact, he ought not to try.

Judging from the reviews and excerpts from the book published in the newspapers, he didn't try. He started out with the belief that the Democratic party is the possessor of all political virtue in this country and that Harry Truman fairly well embodies that virtue. He naturally arrived at the conclusion that the party is the champion of the "democratic way" and its chief is no discredit to it despite his faults.

Whether any but ardent pro-Trumanites will read this book and come to the same conclusion remains to be seen. News accounts quoted some remarks attributed to the President by Daniels that will not do much for the Truman reputation. If he did say that former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was a "miserable failure" in conducting the nation's foreign affairs in 1945 and 1946, that was an admission of his own incompetence.

As Byrnes has pointed out, he stayed on long after the Moscow conference produced the agreements the President later condemned. And Truman is quoted as having said in the same breath that Byrnes "ran out on him" by resigning!

The passage hardly makes Mr. Truman sound like a great statesman, to say the least. And Daniels is forced ot admit that his hero seemed "lost in uncertainty and ineptitude" during the six months between the Churchill "iron curtain" speech and the incident that led to the dismissal of Henry Wallace.

Task Ahead In Korea

The victory in Korea has been won by American troops and American power. President Syngman Rhee has returned to Seoul because the United States poured tremendous numbers of men and great amounts of material into the fight. The victory has been costly to this country in lives and in treasure.

For the first time since World War II ended, a capital taken by the communists has been wrested from them. Korea has not become another Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia or China. The communists resorted to naked force in Korea and suffered a jarring defeat because the United States intervened.

But the United States intervened in the name of the United Nations and the UN Security Council supported such action. Some members of the UN gave token assistance in the fighting. Presumably, the UN will arrange the peace settlement that will come eventually.

The goal must be a united, peaceful, free and prosperous Korea. This goal may be difficult of attainment for various reasons, including the proximity of Korea to the communist colossus. American troops can maintain order for a time. American wealth no doubt will be applied to the task of restoration. But Russia, no doubt, regards its setback in Korea as temporary.

More Lamb Chops

There will be no fall lamb chops on the market this year. That is because ewes lamb in the spring and not in the fall. Nature arranged things that way for the wild ancestors of today's domesticated sheep, so that new-born lambs would not have to face winter until they were stronger, and the arrangement still holds for their present-day descendants.

It stands a good chance of being changed soon, though. Science has discovered that ewes can be made to lamb in the fall. Armour hormone researchers have been injecting a gonadotrophin into ewes, whereupon they lamb twice a year instead of once. The time of the extra lambing depends on when the gland stimulant is injected.

Produced on a large scale, the hormone would cost only 25 cents for each ewe, they estimate. For that sum, the farmer could get two lamb "crops" a year instead of one, for an estimated extra profit averaging $10 or $15 a ewe. With more lamb coming to market, the consumer could also expect to benefit, through lower prices.

There is more research to be done, to perfect the method, but it shouldn't be many years until fall lamb will be a commonplace on the market.

For Bargain Hunters

Passing some notable mansion, who has not thought how nice it would be to pick up such a place at tax sale, or inherit it, or something? One of the most luxurious homes in Cleveland went on the bargain counter this summer. Built at an estimated cost of $350,000 or more before the post-war inflation, it could have been bought for less than a third of that figure, perhaps substantially less. But business was slow.

Maybe potential buyers inquired too deeply into the item of upkeep. The real estate tax, for instance, is $5,200 a year.

Scientist says people should eat a certain amount of sand. Sounds like subtle propaganda in favor of spinach.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Slicing Off A Fat 'Tummy'

MOST OVERWEIGHT men and women appreciate the fact that there is no easy way to lose weight. The project requires will power and fewer calories and not a magic pill that melts away fat or permits the individual to eat his fill. Furthermore, once weight has been shed through dieting, the excess will return unless the persons learns to curb his appetite.

Physicians wish they could recommend a simpler way than eating less food. Now and then medication is prescribed to decrease the desire for cakes, pies, and other edibles that taste so good. The possibility of surgery comes up from time to time and we receive letters asking if it is possible to have the blubber cut off. Surgery of this type is not recommended for ordinary obesity because the chances are good that fat will re-accumulate unless the eating habits are changed. On the other hand, the plan is useful when persons of gigantic size lose up to 200 pounds. Taking off this much weight leaves large aprons of skin hanging from the back and arms; that from the abdomen may reach halfway down to the knees. This is far from pleasant and the individual may look worse than before reducing. Removal of these skin flaps will restore the normal configuration.

The housewife probably doesn't need to read this in the newspaper, but the nation's market basket now costs her almost 20 per cent more than she spent to feed her family before the outbreak of the Korean war last June.

Here are a few examples:

Creamery butter is up 16 per cent since June, while the average family's bread and bakery bill has risen between 8 and 10 per cent.

The price of bacon is up 16 per cent since June.

The family milk bill has risen about 18 per cent on a nation-wide average.

Round steak is up 33 per cent since June—pork chops, 10 per cent.

A dozen eggs costs 70 cents and higher, compared to 52 cents in June—an increase of 32 per cent.

Coffee has jumped from 74 cents a pound in June to 84 cents for better grades, or a price boost of 13 per cent.

Black pepper, which cost only 3½ cents a pound in 1939, now costs $2.66 a pound.

The wholesale price of cotton yarn has increased 40 per cent in the last year, while the price of a pair of shoes has risen 25 per cent since September, 1949, and 15 per cent since last June.

Truman and Coolidge

The price of medicine has shot up from 25 to 50 per cent.

Meanwhile, veterans of the last war are finding it tougher than ever to buy the homes which Congress promised them five years ago. Here are a few reasons why:

The President has tightened credit controls on lower-bracket home buyers, but he has done nothing about controlling the soaring prices of building materials.

The wholesale price of lumber has jumped 25 per cent since June.

It is practically impossible to buy cement at any price.

Window glass is up 12 per cent over last year.

Copper wire and other electrical and plumbing equipment has risen from 10 to 20 per cent, while home fuels are 10 per cent higher than last year.

However, despite the growing trend of inflation, President Truman still refuses to control prices, though he has the powers to do so if he wants to use them. The Democratic Party has long criticized Calvin Coolidge's indifference to inflation, claiming — quite rightly — that it led to an unforgettable depression. Unless Truman acts in a hurry, he will be far more responsible for inflation than the much-criticized Republican administrations from 1921 to 1933.

Soft-Soap Sawyer

One of the big inside reasons for failure to impose wage and price controls is the lackadaisical attitude of well-meaning, likable Charles Sawyer, the secretary of commerce.

The other day, tough-minded Stuart Symington, head of the National Security Resources Board, learned that his friend Sawyer was going to make two milk-toast, middle-of-the-road speeches regarding price controls. Symington's advisers debated whether they should warn the Secretary of Commerce that airtight, tough controls would be necessary.

However, they decided not to call Secretary Sawyer. To warn him, they decided, would mean that he would only get busy and lobby against the controls which they were planning.

Man With A Smile

Amazing thing about the man whom Secretary Sawyer has picked to control industry is that during the last war he was eased out of the War Production Board because he wasn't tough enough.

The gentleman in question, William H. Harrison, head of International Telephone and Telegraph, was known in the WPB as a nice guy with a smile. Everybody liked him. He didn't offend anyone; neither did he fight.

His job was to control building construction, and he was so friendly that he let the Army get away with a lot of construction which they didn't need and which took manpower and materials away from other important projects.

Finally, WPB officials suggested to Gen. B. B. Somervell, the Army supply chief, that Harrison be made a general and join the Army. Both sides were happier after that.

K. C. Crime

The U. S. attorney who put President Truman's pal, Tom Pendergast, in jail was slated to be subpoenaed before the Kefauver Crime Committee in Kansas City last week, but for some reason he was never called.

What the Senate Committee was interested in was any possible friendship between two Mafia leaders and Maurice Milligan, the U. S. attorney whom Truman fired a few days after he became President. The committee was also interested in Milligan's brother, ex-Congressman "Tuck" Milligan.

It happened that two leaders of the underworld society Mafia in Kansas City, Joe De Luca and Joe Di Giovanni, received favors from the two Milligans in 1942, and the Senate Committee at first proposed to look into the matter.

Joe De Luca was convicted on a narcotics rap in 1942, at which time narcotics agents of the U. S. Treasury recommended he be given 15 years and deported to Italy. However, U. S. Attorney Milligan, through his assistant, Richard Phelps, recommended only three years and opposed deportation. After De Luca had served only one year of his sentence, Milligan's brother, the Congressman, arranged far a parole.

Later, De Luca violated parole and was slapped back in the pen. But within a month, "Tuck" Milligan, the Congressman, had arranged another parole.

The Senate Committee also was curious as to why U. S. Attorney Milligan had blocked a search warrant for narcotics agents when they wanted to search Di Giovanni's cellar for dope. Narcotics agents had given the Senate Crime Committee a recording of a telephone conversation between the two Mafia members, saying that the district attorney's office had fixed De Luca's narcotics trial. However, for unexplained reasons, the Senate probers at the last minute decided to lay off.

NOTE—The lay-off was certainly not inspired by the White House. It would have given Mr. Truman great pleasure to have had the man whom he ousted as U. S. attorney investigated by a Senate committee.

Consumers And Savers Are Hurt By Inflation

By MARK SULLIVAN

THAT inflation is no longer merely a danger, that it is a present fact, is officially and candidly recognized by the Federal Reserve Board. With great usefulness to the public, the board goes farther in candor. Having been set up as an independent government agency, not subject to whatever administration might be in power, the board is free from political motives. Having this immunity, the board is free to mention aspects of inflation which the Administration, in its own outgivings, might prefer not to call attention to. In the board's current monthly bulletin is a balanced and objective survey of recent developments in argiculture. In it, frank mention is made of government survey of recent developments in agriculture. In it, frank mention is made of government support of crop prices for farmers as a factor in inflation, and of wage raises for labor as another factor.

These two, labor and farmers, are groups who get present advantage from inflation. They are also groups to which the Truman administration has deferred and from which Mr. Truman has asked gratitude. There is another group—in fact not a group at all but the whole of the people — who suffer disadvantage. These are the consumers, who in buying food must pay artificially high prices brought about and kept up by government price support of farm crops, and in buying manufactured goods must pay high prices brought about by wage raises for labor.

Savers Suffer

Coinciding with consumers, and likewise practically the whole of the people, is a group which suffers a special and calamitous detriment. These are savers who put present savings into securities and institutions from which they are to be returned at a future date. Characteristic groups of these are persons who put their savings into life insurance policies or are beneficiaries of them, or into the familiar government savings bonds or into pension funds with a fixed date and amount.

The detriment these suffer through inflation is depreciation of the purchasing power of their saved dollars. The dollar they save in the present becomes, when it is returned to them some years in the future, less than a dollar in purchasing power. The experience many savers have had is stated clearly and racily by economist columnist Sylvia Porter of the "New York Post" and Post-Hall syndicate:

"Let's say you invested $75 in a U. S. savings bond ten years ago; let's say you turn in that bond today for $100. On paper, that looks just dandy. But in terms of your buying power in the corner store, your $100 bond is worth less than $60. What's more . . . you're increasingly aware that you took a terrific kick in the pocket-book between 1940 and 1950. . ."

What has taken place in the case of savings bond owners has been the experience also of persons who put their savings into life insurance or into other securities of this type. Putting a dollar into savings ten years ago, they in effect put in a dollar's worth of goods at the prices of that time—food, or wearing apparel, or building material or what not. When ten years later they got the dollar back, they got only about 60 per cent of the amount of goods they put in.

Economy Endangered

This not only has been an individual hardship to many millions of savers, it contains also a danger of national calamity to the country's economy. The danger is that savers who have had this experience may come to doubt the worthwhileness of saving at all. If there is continuation of the rise in prices that goes with inflation, savers may come to think they would do better to put their money into goods. There is an ominous hint of this possibility in the recent experience of the federal treasury in selling savings bonds and of the public in buying them. During a period of several months recently, the amount of new bonds bought by the people has been less than the amount that came to maturity or were turned in for redemption.

The existing inflation justifies the warning description of it by Chairman McCabe of the Federal Reserve Board as a "cancerous sore," the most pressing domestic problem the country has. For meeting the problem adequately the responsibility of the Administration is very heavy. Governmental policies it has followed, such as price support of farm crops, are in large part responsible for the inflation. And because the government solicits the people to save and to lend its savings to the government in the form of savings bonds, there is a special responsibility. This is not adequately met by returning to the saver the number of dollars he loaned, as the government will always do. Adequate living up to the responsibility includes seeing that the purchasing power of the savers' dollars be protected.

U. N. Today Finds Itself On Trial With Americans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The U. N. is on trial with many Americans today who are wondering if America has joined a debating society or a league to enforce peace.

Maybe the U. N. in the end will show resoluteness and begin to banish its apparent fear of dealing firmly with the Moscow regime. But it does not instill public condidence in the U. N. to read one day that some of its members want to admit communist China and to read the next day that the premier of that government accuses America of aggression and dares her troops to cross the 38th Parallel.

It will be difficult to maintain any faith in the Truman administration or in Secretary of State Acheson if there is any further dillydallying with the Russians in the U. N. The failure on the part of the U. N. thus far to call a spade a spade and to put the finger of responsibility on the Soviets for the aggression they committed in the far east by manipulating their puppets — the North Koreans — is a tragic chapter of frustration, delay and perhaps even timidity.

Time For Resoluteness

With a brilliant military victory in process, the time for resoluteness has arrived. Yet there are no signs that the U. N. members appreciate it. There is still talk about the wisdom of fighting beyond the 38th Parallel and still talk about the mischievous Soviet proposals which plainly are designed to block decisions.

If the U. N.—in the middle of a military operation—has to stop and argue with a filibustering delegation which is a party to the crime, respect for the U. N. will diminish everywhere and particularly in the United States.

Nothing is calculated so quickly to make Americans, irrespective of party, lose trust in the U. N. than a program of delay at this time.

What is surprising is that the U. N. has not announced any plan whatsoever to punish the North Koreans for their atrocities and has not passed a single resolution denouncing the Moscow and Peiping government for their part in the North Korean aggression.

It was General MacArthur the other day who pointed out, in another connection, that in Asia there could be no irresoluteness without loss of prestige. It is likewise true that if the military commander-in-chief has to wait for the U. N. to send him instructions on whether or not to attack the enemy or where, critical battles will be lost and strategic advantages sacrificed while the debate goes on.

The very hesitancy on the part of the United Nations forces to proceed toward North Korea, which is reflected in the press dispatches, is a sign that someone is afraid to take a positive stand. General MacArthur's freedom of action is circumscribed. He no longer receives orders from the President of the United States alone. He must wait till the President find out what orders the U. N. will give him to transmit to General MacArthur. Such a loss of sovereignty was never contemplated by America when she joined the U. N.

Yielding Sovereignty

The United States has not before been in the position of yielding to another political authority the sovereign command over troops. The alliances of wartime have often placed before supreme commanders the making of important decisions, but such a military alliance is valueless if it must conduct its operations subject to the delays that come from international councils on the political level.

The crisis in which General MacArthur finds himself today is unprecedented. American boys have been killed in battle. Many have been killed in cold blood, with their hand tied behind them. Yet the American commander is powerless to avenge these deaths, because the United Nations doesn't know whether it is more afraid of the North Koreans or the Russian masters behind them. If it is that easy to bluff the U. N., the danger of a large-scale war has been immeasurably increased.

Back in June the United States prodded the U. N. into quick action. Nobody in the government here seems to be prodding the U. N. today. Members of Congress seem strangely silent.

The broadcast of a demand by General MacArthur for surrender should never have been made without an ultimatum demanding acceptance within a given time. Now apparently MacArthur must wait while an inadequate South Korean force moves north as Vishinsky debates and the U. N. listens. It is a sad traversty on the functioning of an international police force.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Shift In Population

THE 1950 census shows changes in the American population that are likely to have important effects upon the politics of the country. Whenever a shift in population occurs, it is indicative of new developments in industry and of sectional importance.

Such states as North Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Mississippi show a decrease in population. The largest increase is California, with Arizona, Florida and Nevada following. Apparently, climate has something to do with these changes as well as the movement of industry. California shows 51.6 per cent increase over 1940. It is becoming one of our leading manufacturing as well as agricultural states.

The population of the country has doubled since 1900. The three largest states, on the basis of population, are, in this order, New York, California and Pennsylvania. Together, these three states have a population of 35,651,000 of a total of 150,000,000. In 1900, these three states had an aggregate population of 15,055,000 persons. But this fact is also interesting, that whereas California now has a population of 10,472,000 persons, in 1900 the figures for that state showed only 1,485,000. While the population of the country doubled in the past 50 years, California increased more than seven times.

The House of Representatives is elected on the basis of population; the states, therefore, that have increased populations are likely to get more seats. Public Law 291, signed in 1941, at present controls the system of apportionment, but that does not necessarily mean that when Congress comes to deal with the subject, say in 1951 or 1952, it will not adopt a new law. It is likely, however, that the total number of members will not be increased, but that some states will gain and some will lose.

As it stands now, New York has 45 seats, California 23, and Pennsylvania 33, making a total of 101 seats out of 435.

The Pacific states show the greatest increases in population: California 51.6 per cent; Washington 36 per cent; Oregon 38.6 per cent. While the Atlantic Coast states show no decreases, New England produced nothing startling in the past decade.

Maine shows an increase of 7.1 per cent; New Hampshire 7.8 per cent; Vermont 4.6 per cent; Massachusetts 9.2 per cent; Connecticut 16.7 per cent; Rhode Island, 10.2 per cent.

(Unless otherwise specified, the comparisons are between 1940 and 1950).

The comparison would seem to indicate a movement westward, away from the older states and the older traditions of life. With the exception of Florida, none of the Southern states show a large increase, the highest being Maryland with 27.5 per cent.

The Middle West and South are the only areas which show a decrease, but Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois do show an increase, with Michigan leading. In the Middle West, it is clearer than anywhere else, that the half-century shift of the population from rural to urban centers continues to be pronounced.

The political shift becomes important not only in relationship to the House of Representatives but also in the vote in the Electoral College which elects the President. This body equals the number of senators plus representatives; that is, New York State has 45 representatives and 2 senators; there, it has 47 votes in the Electoral College. The Middle West may lose votes. In the south, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi might lose seats in the House of Representatives, while Florida will undoubtedly gain.

The shift in population moves an increasingly large number of citizens away from the Eastern seaboard and makes them more distant from Washington. In 1900, the Mountain and Pacific states had a total population of 4,091,000; in 1950, these same states show a population of 19,384,000. In 1900, the West South Central states, which include Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas showed a population of 6,532,000; in 1950, these same states show 14,476,000.

For the purpose of comparison, in 1900, New England's population was 5,592,000; this year, it is 9,306,000.

The movement is definitely westward, with whatever alerations that means in the habits of life and thinking of the people. Certainly, westerners are less conscious of European attitudes than those whose traditions are based on New

"Embassy" In Tel Aviv Will Serve As Link Between U. S., Israel Jews

By LARRY ALLEN

TEL AVIV, Israel—(AP)—The Zionist Organization of America is building a "little embassy" in the heart of this thriving Mediterranean coastal city.

That's the name Fred Monosson of Boston, Mass., gives to the three story "Zionist House" due for completion within the next six months.

Monosson is treasurer of the Zionist organization and in charge of all Zionist building projects in Israel. He estimates construction now underway at more than $500,000.

Monosson said the "embassy" building, of concrete, steel, marble and tile construction, would have 64 rooms, in adition to an outside auditorium capable of seating 1,500 persons. Materials are coming from the United States. The building covers 40,000 square feet at the intersection of three streets in Tel Aviv. It will be air-conditioned and equipped with the newest American gadgets.

Monosson said its facilities would be available to Jews and non-Jewish visitors to Israel from all parts of the world.

"This building is planned particularly to serve as a bridge between the Jews of Israel and the Jews of the United States to promote better understanding between the two countries," he explained.

"Zionist House" is to have well-equipped libraries, and information centers designed to give any visitor to Israel complete data on investment opportunities, tourism, what to see and buy, and the entire economic and social setup in this country.

Concerts and movie shows are to be held in soundproof rooms.

Construction of "Zionist House" was started last Jan. 13. About 200 workers now are employed speeding construction work which is more than half finished.

Monosson said the building is scheduled for completion for next March. It's formal opening may coincide with the World Zionist Congress slated to meet early next spring.

Frances Angela Grimes Is Bride Of H. D. Kalbaugh

Father MacVeigh Performs Ceremony

Miss Frances Angela Grimes, daughter of the late Angela Robertson and the late William A. Grimes, and granddaughter of John A. Grimes, Midland, with whom she resided, became the bride of Harry D. Kalbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Kalbaugh, Westernport, September 30.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Midland, at 3 p. m. with Rev. William J. MacVeigh officiating. Miss Helen Thompson, Midland, was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Edward Kalbaugh served as his brother's best man.

The bride was attired in a black rose velvet suit with which she wore duty rose accessories. To complete her costume she carried a bouquet of old fashioned flowers.

Her attendant wore a gold velvet suit with snow green hat and also carried an old fashioned bouquet of bronze and white pompons.

TRY TO LOOK YOUR CHEERFUL BEST BY USING EVERY DOUBLE-CHECK WHEN THAT WINTER COLD STRIKES

By BEITTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you must be on the job in spite of that old winter complaint (a cold) try to look cheerful even if you don't feel gay.

Any girl who must venture out of the house when she has the sneezes should give her face a double-check. Pity the poor people who must look at your watery eyes, red nose and pale skin, and you will agree that a little bit of rouge, eyebrow pencil and foundation makeup go a long way toward improving your appearance.

Standard equipment in the purse of the cold sufferer should be such things as cleansing tissues, camphor stick, makeup and handkerchiefs.

If your eyes are red-rimmed, put some witch hazel pads over them for several minutes before applying makeup. Use reliable eye drops of a good eyewash. Then apply your foundation cream and follow it up and around the eyes, working it in carefully and lightly under the eyes. Now apply the rouge (the same shade as your lipstick) and rub it in well up toward the eye and out to the corner of your eye.

Apply eyebrow pencil at the corner of the eye (just a hairline about one-quarter of an inch out from the lower lid). Powder should be fluffed on and excess removed with cotton. Use a bright red lipstick, apply it carefully, then blot it off. Fluff on more powder with your little cotton puff and apply more lipstick. Blot this until the cleansing tissue is clean.

Lips have a tendency to dry when you have a cold, so it is wise to carry a little camphor stick if your experience has been that your lips become parched and cracked during a siege of cold.

If it isn't possible to rest durin' the day, don't try to keep evenin dates. Rest is an important col healer and you will need to get evn more sleep than usual during yur illness. Some girls have theories about "dancing a cold away" and how much better they feel aft an evening of gaiety. However, anitariums are full of people wh can testify to the foolishness of rning the candles at both ends.

Unless you have a temprature, you probably won't be corned to your bed when you have a cold. In that case if friends drop i, try to look pleasant and pretty. ut on an attractive housecoat or dess and a good looking pair of slipers. Don't slop around in a beat-u outfit just because you are ill.

If you must stay in bd, keep your hair combed and in a eat arrangement. Put a piece colorful net around your hair hold it in place. Wear a bedjacket or night robe and if you dot have either, wear a sweater to eep your arms warm.

My name was ually Blinky. And in every picture I would say, "Come on, Joe, or John, I've got the stuff in the car." I ever did find out what the stuff was.

ASSOCIATE Justice of the once sedate Supreme Court, Tom Clark, isn't above a little betting on the side . . . Or maybe I should say taking a "Calculated Risk" . . . Anyway, he's collecting on another bet this week . . . A bet about bow ties . . . He's an avid bow tie wearer, as is the President . . . Ditto Secretary of State Acheson and Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle . . . But a bow tie sticking out above the Justice's dignified black ceremonial robes seemed too-too zoot suity for one of Tom Clark's stuffier friends, who chastized him good-humoredly for breaking court tradition.

Whereupon Texas Tom laid a wager . . . He bet that he had broken no tradition by sporting a bow tie with the flowing court dress . . . Then Tom went to work, combed books and files for pictures till he found just what he wanted . . . Got hold of a photo which shows William Howard Taft as Chief Justice and grouped around him the venerable Court . . . Among them, Justices James C. McReynolds, Willis Van Devanter and Joseph W. McKenna — all three wearing bow ties!

So today Tom's chuckling, crowing and collecting!

Speaking of calculated risks, a personable young bachelor, James Risk, unofficially called "Cal" (short for "calculated") by some of his waggish State Dept. friends, has just gone off to Saigon . . . There the Communist Rebel Indo-Chinse have some nasty habits — such as throwing hand grenades around like grass seed.

But "Cal" Risk seems to like the rugged life . . . "No matter how many risks he encounters he'll survive," say other State Departmenters . . . He recently returned from several years in Moscow which appear to have agreed with him . . . And he must have met up with a few risks when he was a naval officer during the war, judging by the rows of ribbon on his uniform.

For a chap with a series of adventures to his credit, he started out in a quiet enough fashion . . . After graduating from Dartmouth in the late 30's, he taught history at Massachusetts Institute of Technology . . . That palled, and when the war came along, "Calculated" Risk got his chance . . . He's been taking them ever since.

Lord Inverchael is the one who's credited with the remark, "Isn't television wonderful — you can close your eyes and it's like listening to the radio."

However, Joe E. Lewis opined the other night, "Television may be wonderful, but it'll never replace the old-fashioned key hole."

To any businessman who thinks he holds a record for the "Most Futile Trip" to Washington, take a gander at Dr. Paul Raver . . . Bonneville Power Administrator (that's Pacific Northwest's TVA) Dr. Raver came from Oregon to testify at a Senate hearing . . . He waited around a couple of days which grew into a couple of weeks . . . Then he had to wait an hour outside the hearing room before his turn came to testify . . . Just as he cleared his throat to start his testimony, a quorum bell rang . . . And Sen. McKellar said, "So sorry, Dr. Raver. We have to go on the floor. The Doctor did mind, but he did file it.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

TELL A YOUNG GIRL to stand up straight or she will ruin her health, and what do you get? No results. And, when she's already as sure of herself as anyone in her crowd, you'll make no impression by telling her that good posture is essential to a poised appearance.

But tell her that with a curlecue posture she can't carry off a strapless black velvet evening dress and that in it, even to her beau boy, she'll look like a frump — her eyes will widen and you'll get interest!

Magic in Minutes

That's just what happened when Mrs. Anthony presented her daughter, Dee, to me of a recent Saturday morning. It's a standard part of my talk to young girls on how to sub-deb it without tears and how to deb it with grace.

And while Dee's mother and teachers had been exhorting her for years to straighten out her slouch, the miracle was accomplished right there in minutes. Here's what happened:

The crux of Dee's faulty posture lay in her rounded shoulders, which are no asset to any kind of a dress. She had no faulty structure — merely a slumped-over stance.

When I pointed this out, Dee sighed resignedly, "I know. Everybody always tells me to pull my shoulders back."

"That's not what I'm going to tell you," I said. "Instead, try this: Pull your hips in and under your body. That's it . . . the correct pelvic tilt. See how it takes the curve out of your back . . . how your shoulders straighten out, relax, and slip into position, right where they belong?"

Eye-Stopping Grace

As her mother and I watched, we saw a figure shape itself into what would make any girl an eye-stopper in the sleekest sheath ever worn at a junior prom.

Maybe you should try this miracle posture improver yourself. This test will prove whether you need it: Stretch a tape or ribbon lightly across your abdomen so it falls through the dead center of your hip bones. Holding the tape steady at this level, pull your hips under you . . . hard!

If the tape jumps to a level as much as half an inch below your hip bones, it's your cue to practice such pelvic tilting every day until it is as natural to you as breathing.

When it is, you'll know your figure will be a dream — in anything you want to wear!

By BEITTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you must be on the job in spite of that old winter complaint (a cold) try to look cheerful even if you don't feel gay.

Any girl who must venture out of the house when she has the sneezes should give her face a double-check. Pity the poor people who must look at your watery eyes, red nose and pale skin, and you will agree that a little bit of rouge, eyebrow pencil and foundation makeup go a long way toward improving your appearance.

Standard equipment in the purse of the cold sufferer should be such things as cleansing tissues, camphor stick, makeup and handkerchiefs.

If your eyes are red-rimmed, put some witch hazel pads over them for several minutes before applying makeup. Use reliable eye drops of a good eyewash. Then apply your foundation cream and follow it up and around the eyes, working it in carefully and lightly under the eyes. Now apply the rouge (the same shade as your lipstick) and rub it in well up toward the eye and out to the corner of your eye.

Apply eyebrow pencil at the corner of the eye (just a hairline about one-quarter of an inch out from the lower lid). Powder should be fluffed on and excess removed with cotton. Use a bright red lipstick, apply it carefully, then blot it off. Fluff on more powder with your little cotton puff and apply more lipstick. Blot this until the cleansing tissue is clean.

Lips have a tendency to dry when you have a cold, so it is wise to carry a little camphor stick if your experience has been that your lips become parched and cracked during a siege of cold.

If it isn't possible to rest durin' the day, don't try to keep evenin dates. Rest is an important col healer and you will need to get evn more sleep than usual during yur illness. Some girls have theories about "dancing a cold away" and how much better they feel aft an evening of gaiety. However, anitariums are full of people wh can testify to the foolishness of rning the candles at both ends.

Unless you have a temprature, you probably won't be corned to your bed when you have a cold. In that case if friends drop i, try to look pleasant and pretty. ut on an attractive housecoat or dess and a good looking pair of slippers. Don't slop around in a beat-u outfit just because you are ill.

If you must stay in bd, keep your hair combed and in a eat arrangement. Put a piece colorful net around your hair hold it in place. Wear a bedjket or night robe and if you dot have either, wear a sweater to eep your arms warm.

My name was ually Blinky. And in every picture I ould say, "Come on, Joe, or John, I've got the stuff in the car." I ever did find out what the stuff was.

WASHINGTON

ASSOCIATE Justice of the once sedate Supreme Court, Tom Clark, isn't above a little betting on the side . . . Or maybe I should say taking a "Calculated Risk" . . . Anyway, he's collecting on another bet this week . . . A bet about bow ties . . . He's an avid bow tie wearer, as is the President . . . Ditto Secretary of State Acheson and Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle . . . But a bow tie sticking out above the Justice's dignified black ceremonial robes seemed too-too zoot suity for one of Tom Clark's stuffier friends, who chastized him good-humoredly for breaking court tradition.

AUSTINE

Whereupon Texas Tom laid a wager . . . He bet that he had broken no tradition by sporting a bow tie with the flowing court dress . . . Then Tom went to work, combed books and files for pictures till he found just what he wanted . . . Got hold of a photo which shows William Howard Taft as Chief Justice and grouped around him the venerable Court . . . Among them, Justices James C. McReynolds, Willis Van Devanter and Joseph W. McKenna — all three wearing bow ties!

So today Tom's chuckling, crowing and collecting!

• — • — •

Speaking of calculated risks, a personable young bachelor, James Risk, unofficially called "Cal" (short for "calculated") by some of his waggish State Dept. friens, has just gone off to Saigon . . . There the Communist Rebel Indo-Chinse have some nasty habits — such as throwing hand grenades around like grass seed.

But "Cal" Risk seems to like the rugged life . . . "No matter how many risks he encounters he'll survive," say other State Departmenters . . . He recently returned from several years in Moscow which appear to have agreed with him . . . And he must have met up with a few risks when he was a naval officer during the war, judging by the rows of ribbon on his uniform.

For a chap with a series of adventures to his credit, he started out in a quiet enough fashion . . . After graduating from Dartmouth in the late 30's, he taught history at Massachusetts Institute of Technology . . . That palled, and when the war came along, "Calculated" Risk got his chance . . . He's been taking them ever since.

Tweedy Lord Inverchapel, who held sway at the British Embassy a few years ago, must like American pipes . . . Despite Dunhill, I'm told, Inverchapel buys his pipes from a little shop near the National Theater — buys 'em by the dozen.

Lord Inverchael is the one who's credited with the remark, "Isn't television wonderful — you can close your eyes and it's like listening to the radio."

However, Joe E. Lewis opined the other night, "Television may be wonderful, but it'll never replace the old-fashioned key hole."

To any businessman who thinks he holds a record for the "Most Futile Trip" to Washington, take a gander at Dr. Paul Raver . . . Bonneville Power Administrator (that's Pacific Northwest's TVA) Dr. Raver came from Oregon to testify at a Senate hearing . . . He waited around a couple of days which grew into a couple of weeks . . . Then he had to wait an hour outside the hearing room before his turn came to testify . . . Just as he cleared his throat to start his testimony, a quorum bell rang . . . And Sen. McKellar said, "So sorry, Dr. Raver. We have to go on the floor. Got a lot of business to get done before closing you know. Would you mind just filing your testimony."

The Doctor did mind, but he did file it.

Cabbie Admits Liquor Sales Guilt

Dewey Shoemaker, 320 Pennsylvania Avenue, a local taxicab driver, yesterday pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license and was given a suspended sentence in Police Court by Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti.

Clarence Minnick, proprietor of Glenora Inn, Valley Road, was scheduled to be heard on a similar charge, but the case was postponed on a request from counsel for the defense. Date of the trial has not yet been set.

County Worker Asks Pay Checkoff Stopped

An employe of the County Roads Department has asked that the check-off of union dues from his pay be discontinued, according to a letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The employe, who was not identified by the board, said he had voluntarily signed up for the check-off after a verbal agreement had been reached between the commissioners and Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said that under rulings by the courts the county commissioners have no authority in the matter but must accede to the request.

As a matter of courtesy to the union, the board will inform them by letter of the request.

Cabbie Admits Liquor Sales Guilt

Dewey Shoemaker, 320 Pennsylvania Avenue, a local taxicab driver, yesterday pleaded guilty to selling liquor without a license and was given a suspended sentence in Police Court by Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti.

Clarence Minnick, proprietor of Glenora Inn, Valley Road, was scheduled to be heard on a similar charge, but the case was postponed on a request from counsel for the defense. Date of the trial has not yet been set.

Two men charged with bookmaking also had their trials scheduled for yesterday postponed. They are Richard Fox and Frankie Frantz.

Fox was arrested September 25 at the Score Board Pool Room, 20 North Mechanic Street, and Frantz was apprehended on the same date at the Queen City Billiard Hall, 19 North Liberty Street.

The hearing was postponed as the defense counsel was out of town. No date has been set for the new trial.

Also postponed was the trial of Robert Washabaugh, charged with maintaining gaming devices. Washabaugh is bartender at the Navy Club, 148 North Centre Street, where two slot machines were confiscated in a raid September 24.

James E. Murphy, 467 Goethe Street, pleaded guilty yesterday morning to maintaining gaming devices (punchboards) and was given a suspended sentence by Magistrate Carpenti.

County Worker Asks Pay Checkoff Stopped

An employe of the County Roads Department has asked that the check-off of union dues from his pay be discontinued, according to a letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The employe, who was not identified by the board, said he had voluntarily signed up for the check-off after a verbal agreement had been reached between the commissioners and Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said that under rulings by the courts the county commissioners have no authority in the matter but must accede to the request.

As a matter of courtesy to the union, the board will inform them by letter of the request.

TRY TO LOOK YOUR CHEERFUL BEST BY USING EVERY DOUBLE-CHECK WHEN THAT WINTER COLD STRIKES

By BEITTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you must be on the job in spite of that old winter complaint (a cold) try to look cheerful even if you don't feel gay.

Any girl who must venture out of the house when she has the sneezes should give her face a double-check. Pity the poor people who must look at your watery eyes, red nose and pale skin, and you will agree that a little bit of rouge, eyebrow pencil and foundation makeup go a long way toward improving your appearance.

Standard equipment in the purse of the cold sufferer should be such things as cleansing tissues, camphor stick, makeup and handkerchiefs.

If your eyes are red-rimmed, put some witch hazel pads over them for several minutes before applying makeup. Use reliable eye drops of a good eyewash. Then apply your foundation cream and follow it up and around the eyes, working it in carefully and lightly under the eyes. Now apply the rouge (the same shade as your lipstick) and rub it in well up toward the eye and out to the corner of your eye.

Apply eyebrow pencil at the corner of the eye (just a hairline about one-quarter of an inch out from the lower lid). Powder should be fluffed on and excess removed with cotton. Use a bright red lipstick, apply it carefully, then blot it off. Fluff on more powder with your little cotton puff and apply more lipstick. Blot this until the cleansing tissue is clean.

Lips have a tendency to dry when you have a cold, so it is wise to carry a little camphor stick if your experience has been that your lips become parched and cracked during a siege of cold.

If it isn't possible to rest durin' the day, don't try to keep evenin' dates. Rest is an important col healer and you will need to get evn more sleep than usual during yur illness. Some girls have theories about "dancing a cold away" nd how much better they feel aft an evening of gaiety. However, anitariums are full of people wh can testify to the foolishness of rning the candles at both ends.

Unless you have a temprature, you probably won't be corned to your bed when you have cold. In that case if friends drop , try to look pleasant and pretty. ut on an attractive housecoat or ess and a good looking pair of slipers. Don't slop around in a beat-u outfit just because you are ill.

If you must stay in bd, keep your hair combed and in a eat arrangement. Put a piece colorful net around your hair hold it in place. Wear a bedjket or night robe and if you dot have either, wear a sweater to eep your arms warm.

My name was ually Blinky. And in every picture I would say, "Come on, Joe, or John I've got the stuff in the car." I ever did find out what the stuff was.

Want to know the secret of wearing a black velvet strapless evening dress with consummate grace? Here it is!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

TELL A YOUNG GIRL to stand up straight or she will ruin her health, and what do you get? No results. And, when she's already as sure of herself as anyone in her crowd, you'll make no impression by telling her that good posture is essential to a poised appearance.

But tell her that with a curlecue posture she can't carry off a strapless black velvet evening dress and that in it, even to her beau boy, she'll look like a frump — her eyes will widen and you'll get interest!

Magic in Minutes

That's just what happened when Mrs. Anthony presented her daughter, Dee, to me of a recent Saturday morning. It's a standard part of my talk to young girls on how to sub-deb it without tears and how to deb it with grace.

And while Dee's mother and teachers had been exhorting her for years to straighten out her slouch, the miracle was accomplished right there in minutes. Here's what happened:

The crux of Dee's faulty posture lay in her rounded shoulders, which are no asset to any kind of a dress. She had no faulty structure — merely a slumped-over stance.

When I pointed this out, Dee sighed resignedly, "I know. Everybody always tells me to pull my shoulders back."

"That's not what I'm going to tell you," I said. "Instead, try this: Pull your hips in and under your body. That's it . . . the correct pelvic tilt. See how it takes the curve out of your back . . . how your shoulders straighten out, relax, and slip into position, right where they belong?"

Eye-Stopping Grace

As her mother and I watched, we saw a figure shape itself into what would make any girl an eye-stopper in the sleekest sheath ever worn at a junior prom.

Maybe you should try this miracle posture improver yourself. This test will prove whether you need it: Stretch a tape or ribbon lightly across your abdomen so it falls through the dead center of your hip bones. Holding the tape steady at this level, pull your hips under you . . . hard!

If the tape jumps to a level as much as half an inch below your hip bones, it's your cue to practice such pelvic tilting every day until it is as natural to you as breathing.

When it is, you'll know your figure will be a dream — in anything you want to wear!

Clarence Minnick, proprietor of Glenora Inn, Valley Road, was scheduled to be heard on a similar charge, but the case was postponed on a request from counsel for the defense. Date of the trial has not yet been set.

An employe of the County Roads Department has asked that the check-off of union dues from his pay be discontinued, according to a letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The employe, who was not identified by the board, said he had voluntarily signed up for the check-off after a verbal agreement had been reached between the commissioners and Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said that under rulings by the courts the county commissioners have no authority in the matter but must accede to the request.

As a matter of courtesy to the union, the board will inform them by letter of the request.

State Officials To Attend Forest Fire Fighting Show

Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia forestry officials will attend a three-day demonstration of fire fighting tactics used by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks at the Swallow Falls State Forest next week, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

Johnson said about 20 top officials of the four states will be guests of the Maryland department at Herrington Manor October 10, 11 and 12.

Maryland's forest fire fighting program has received wide recognition in other states and the visitors are coming here to learn the methods used by the Free State blaze battlers.

Among demonstrations will be the utilization of the radio and telephone communication system, use of jeeps with high pressure fog sprays, cutting fire lines in woodlands by using a beetle tractor and handling of various type pumps by forestry personnel.

The meeting will be featured by the attendance of S. H. Marsh, federal fire control inspector of the U.S. Forestry Service.

Marsh checks how each individual state is using federal matching funds in forest fire control work.

The men will also tour the Allegany and Garrett county area to inspect fire control towers to learn how fires are detected in this section of the country.

Extension work in the field of education among schools, clubs and various governmental bodies will also be discussed by the officials.

Three Wills Placed On Probate In Local Court

The wills of three persons were admitted to probate yesterday morning in Orphans Court.

The will of Harry W. Parker, this city, who died September 12, names William E. McDonald as executor.

Mrs. Laura V. Parker, widow of the deceased, was left $6,000. Harry A. Parker, a brother, was left all personal effects. Walter Parker Welsh, a nephew, was left a diamond stickpin and $100 cash.

Walter Parker, a nephew, was left $100 and the balance of the estate was divided among the brothers and sisters of the deceased.

The will of Thornton S. Cooper, of Frostburg, names John Stewart, of Frostburg, and the Second National Bank of Cumberland as executors.

Mrs. Eleanor Cooper was left all real property and jewelry in the estate. Stewart and the bank were named trustees for the balance of the estate to handle for the widow. The will provides she will receive $200 monthly.

Stewart and the bank posted $3,000 bond as executors.

The will of George Knieriem, of Frostburg, who died September 14, lists his widow as beneficiary, but as she predeceased him the estate goes to a daughter, Alberta May Llewellyn, under terms of the will. The daughter obtained letters of administration on the estate and posted bond of $1,000.

Ear Clinic Will Be Held Here Next Week

An ear clinic will be held October 11 and 12 in the basement at City Hall under auspices of the Allegany County Health Department.

Dr. M. L. Breitstein, of Baltimore, will be clinician. The clinic is held jointly by the Health Department and Board of Education to check on the hearing of children and to advise on treatment needed.

Vale Summit Project Starts

Work was started Monday by the Cumberland Contracting Company on the Vale Summit road project from Clarysville to Vale Summit, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission.

Elimination of curves and widening of the thoroughfare are the principal parts of the job. The entire stretch will be resurfaced.

Chaires also announced that center lines on all state highways in the district, which includes Allegany, Garrett, Washintgon and Frederick counties, will be repainted with a reflector type white paint.

A large mobile painting machine is striping U. S. Route 40 between here and Frostburg, the Winchester Road and Braddock Road, according to Chaires.

The State Roads Commission will no longer use yellow paint for center lines as it has been found that white paint, into which is sifted crystals with a reflecting property, is better suited to the job.

Headlights of vehicles will shine on the reflecting material in the white paint and provide a highly visible line it is claimed. This is especially important during times of heavy fogs in this area, Chaires said.

The painting machine is able to do about 30 to 40 miles daily and in the district there are over 400 miles of main state highways to be painted.

Use of the white paint for center lines will also conform to that used by West Virginia and Pennsylvania roads department, Chaires added.

State Officials To Attend Forest Fire Fighting Show

Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia forestry officials will attend a three-day demonstration of fire fighting tactics used by the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks at the Swallow Falls State Forest next week, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

Johnson said about 20 top officials of the four states will be guests of the Maryland department at Herrington Manor October 10, 11 and 12.

Maryland's forest fire fighting program has received wide recognition in other states and the visitors are coming here to learn the methods used by the Free State blaze battlers.

Among demonstrations will be the utilization of the radio and telephone communication system, use of jeeps with high pressure fog sprays, cutting fire lines in woodlands by using a beetle tractor and handling of various type pumps by forestry personnel.

The meeting will be featured by the attendance of S. H. Marsh, federal fire control inspector of the U.S. Forestry Service.

Marsh checks how each individual state is using federal matching funds in forest fire control work.

The men will also tour the Allegany and Garrett county area to inspect fire control towers to learn how fires are detected in this section of the country.

Extension work in the field of education among schools, clubs and various governmental bodies will also be discussed by the officials.

Three Wills Placed On Probate In Local Court

The wills of three persons were admitted to probate yesterday morning in Orphans Court.

The will of Harry W. Parker, this city, who died September 12, names William E. McDonald as executor.

Mrs. Laura V. Parker, widow of the deceased, was left $6,000. Harry A. Parker, a brother, was left all personal effects. Walter Parker Welsh, a nephew, was left a diamond stickpin and $100 cash.

Walter Parker, a nephew, was left $100 and the balance of the estate was divided among the brothers and sisters of the deceased.

The will of Thornton S. Cooper, of Frostburg, names John Stewart, of Frostburg, and the Second National Bank of Cumberland as executors.

Mrs. Eleanor Cooper was left all real property and jewelry in the estate. Stewart and the bank were named trustees for the balance of the estate to handle for the widow. The will provides she will receive $200 monthly.

Stewart and the bank posted $3,000 bond as executors.

The will of George Knieriem, of Frostburg, who died September 14, lists his widow as beneficiary, but as she predeceased him the estate goes to a daughter, Alberta May Llewellyn, under terms of the will. The daughter obtained letters of administration on the estate and posted bond of $1,000.

Ear Clinic Will Be Held Here Next Week

An ear clinic will be held October 11 and 12 in the basement at City Hall under auspices of the Allegany County Health Department.

Dr. M. L. Breitstein, of Baltimore, will be clinician. The clinic is held jointly by the Health Department and Board of Education to check on the hearing of children and to advise on treatment needed.

Vale Summit Project Starts

Work was started Monday by the Cumberland Contracting Company on the Vale Summit road project from Clarysville to Vale Summit, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission.

Elimination of curves and widening of the thoroughfare are the principal parts of the job. The entire stretch will be resurfaced.

Chaires also announced that center lines on all state highways in the district, which includes Allegany, Garrett, Washintgon and Frederick counties, will be repainted with a reflector type white paint.

A large mobile painting machine is striping U. S. Route 40 between here and Frostburg, the Winchester Road and Braddock Road, according to Chaires.

The State Roads Commission will no longer use yellow paint for center lines as it has been found that white paint, into which is sifted crystals with a reflecting property, is better suited to the job.

Headlights of vehicles will shine on the reflecting material in the white paint and provide a highly visible line it is claimed. This is especially important during times of heavy fogs in this area, Chaires said.

The painting machine is able to do about 30 to 40 miles daily and in the district there are over 400 miles of main state highways to be painted.

Use of the white paint for center lines will also conform to that used by West Virginia and Pennsylvania roads department, Chaires added.

Street Lighting Plan Approved For Westernport

Installation Will Take Six Months

WESTERNPORT — Fourteen new bracket upsweep type lamps will be placed on Main Street. These lights will be 10,000 lumens replacing the present ones of 6,000 lumens.

It stated that they appreciated their contribution of the town's monthly allotment towards the support of the library.

It concluded by saying "Your generous contribution does much toward making it possible for us to have a library in your community."

Keyser Will Not Take Action On Milk Resolution

Situation Covered By Health Manual

KEYSER, W. Va.—The City of Keyser will take no action on the Grade "A" Milk resolution introduced at the last meeting of council. At yesterday's meeting, City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., reported the matter is covered by the new manual of regulations issued for 1950 by the West Virginia Board of Health.

The manual specifies "From and after 12 months from date on which this regulation takes effect, no milk or milk products shall be sold to the final consumer, to restaurants, soda fountains, grocery stores, etc., except Grade "A" and "B" pasteurized certified and Grade "A" raw milk."

Councilman Richard "Mickey" Herndon filed a bitter complaint with council concerning the wearing of a Keyser City Police uniform and badge by a local man who was employed last week as a police officer at Potomac State School stadium.

Herndon insisted employment of police officials must be through acts of the mayor or council members, and that opportunity must be given to extra officers on the city waiting list. It was stated only civil service men may be employed in police duties, and this statement was emphasized by Roy Davidson, a member of the City Police Civil Service Commission and Attorney James H. Swadeley, Jr., city attorney.

The committee named several weeks ago to consider the advisability of extra territory to be annexed to the city of Keyser made its report through S. M. Bright. Bright read the statement of the committee, which was signed by the two other members, C. C. Compton and J. S. Warner, which recommended that certain territories lying to the south and east of the city be admitted.

The mayor and council decided the matter would be considered from a standpoint of possible financial liabilities that might be forced upon the city, and continued the committee on the active list until some definite action may be taken. The councilmen will have an opportunity to consider the matter before it is voted on by citizens.

Keyser Will Not Take Action On Milk Resolution

Situation Covered By Health Manual

KEYSER, W. Va.—The City of Keyser will take no action on the Grade "A" Milk resolution introduced at the last meeting of council. At yesterday's meeting, City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., reported the matter is covered by the new manual of regulations issued for 1950 by the West Virginia Board of Health.

The manual specifies "From and after 12 months from date on which this regulation takes effect, no milk or milk products shall be sold to the final consumer, to restaurants, soda fountains, grocery stores, etc., except Grade "A" and "B" pasteurized certified and Grade "A" raw milk."

Councilman Richard "Mickey" Herndon filed a bitter complaint with council concerning the wearing of a Keyser City Police uniform and badge by a local man who was employed last week as a police officer at Potomac State School stadium.

Herndon insisted employment of police officials must be through acts of the mayor or council members, and that opportunity must be given to extra officers on the city waiting list. It was stated only civil service men may be employed in police duties, and this statement was emphasized by Roy Davidson, a member of the City Police Civil Service Commission and Attorney James H. Swadeley, Jr., city attorney.

The committee named several weeks ago to consider the advisability of extra territory to be annexed to the city of Keyser made its report through S. M. Bright. Bright read the statement of the committee, which was signed by the two other members, C. C. Compton and J. S. Warner, which recommended that certain territories lying to the south and east of the city be admitted.

The mayor and council decided the matter would be considered from a standpoint of possible financial liabilities that might be forced upon the city, and continued the committee on the active list until some definite action may be taken. The councilmen will have an opportunity to consider the matter before it is voted on by citizens.

Melvin T. Kifer Facing Draft Evasion Charge

P. Emmett Fahey, local draft board co-ordinator, reported the first area draft delinquent since the days of World War II yesterday.

He is Melvin Tracy Kifer, 24, who formerly lived at 137 North Centre Street. Unemployed when he registered here September 11, 1948, he had been working in Baltimore in recent months.

Fahey said Kifer had been sent notice to report here on August 14, 1950 for his armed forces physical examination. After receiving this notice, he requested and was granted a tranfer from Local Board No. 28 to Board No. 14 in Baltimore.

Fails To Report

Board No. 14 ordered him to report for his physical on August 24, but Kifer failed to do so, Fahey said. Subsequently, he was ordered to report to the Cumberland board for induction Monday.

Fahey pointed out that when a registrant fails to report for his physical examination, he may then be ordered to report to his local board for induction by reason of being delinquent.

Kifer's failure to appear for induction was reported yesterday by local Selective Service authorities to Bernard J. Flynn, U. S. attorney in the Post Office Building, Baltimore. Fahey said Flynn, in turn, will notify the Federal Bureau of Investigation to apprehend Kifer.

By failing to report for induction, Kifer is liable for a two to five-year sentence in a federal penitentiary.

Fahey pointed out that during World War II, only one person out of approximately 4,000 registrants in his board was charged with being delinquent. He was found guilty in a trial at Baltimore and sentenced to two years.

Anyone who knows the whereabouts of Kifer should contact Selective Service headquarters in the County Building here, Fahey declared, either in writing or by telephoning Cumberland 6740.

Melvin T. Kifer Facing Draft Evasion Charge

P. Emmett Fahey, local draft board co-ordinator, reported the first area draft delinquent since the days of World War II yesterday.

He is Melvin Tracy Kifer, 24, who formerly lived at 137 North Centre Street. Unemployed when he registered here September 11, 1948, he had been working in Baltimore in recent months.

Fahey said Kifer had been sent notice to report here on August 14, 1950 for his armed forces physical examination. After receiving this notice, he requested and was granted a tranfer from Local Board No. 28 to Board No. 14 in Baltimore.

Fails To Report

Board No. 14 ordered him to report for his physical on August 24, but Kifer failed to do so, Fahey said. Subsequently, he was ordered to report to the Cumberland board for induction Monday.

Fahey pointed out that when a registrant fails to report for his physical examination, he may then be ordered to report to his local board for induction by reason of being delinquent.

Kifer's failure to appear for induction was reported yesterday by local Selective Service authorities to Bernard J. Flynn, U. S. attorney in the Post Office Building, Baltimore. Fahey said Flynn, in turn, will notify the Federal Bureau of Investigation to apprehend Kifer.

By failing to report for induction, Kifer is liable for a two to five-year sentence in a federal penitentiary.

Fahey pointed out that during World War II, only one person out of approximately 4,000 registrants in his board was charged with being delinquent. He was found guilty in a trial at Baltimore and sentenced to two years.

Anyone who knows the whereabouts of Kifer should contact Selective Service headquarters in the County Building here, Fahey declared, either in writing or by telephoning Cumberland 6740.

Church Women Plan Study Of Near East

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—The women of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches will begin a study of the Near East Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at Trinity Methodist Church.

The first session will be in a form of a trip to the Mediterranean and will include the dramatization of a wedding in Algeria. The second session will be held on Tuesday, October 10. The Presbyterian women will dramatize some of the difficulties encountered by a Moslem becoming a Christian. Miss Nellie Kooken, history teacher at Bruce High School, Westernport, will present the chapter on the tensions in the near East. A "Buzz Session" will also be a feature.

The session will deal with education and the missionary movement. Again there will be a "Buzz Session." Mrs. Bernice Newlon, will tell of the work being done by the Methodist Church in the Near East.

Smith Is Honored

Howard M. Smith, past president of the Cumberland Rotary Club, was honored at an informal testimonial at the club's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at Central YMCA.

Smith, who has been local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company since 1945, will leave here next week to assume his new duties as commercial supervisor with the Baltimore headquarters staff.

Speakers at yesterday's event included James Alfred Avirett, Roy W. Eves and Rev. H. M. Richardson.

Freedom Scrolls

The middle of October the Bell will leave New York, and on United Nations Day, October 24 it will be hung in Berlin. In years to come, it is expected the world will revere this bell just as Americans honor the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

Through Radio Free Europe, a privately operated radio station, the tones of the Freedom Bell will pierce the Iron Curtain. Radio Free Europe is now broadcasting to the enslaved people of five occupied countries in six different languages. The broadcasts tell the people the truth about the western world, and supplement the broadcasts of the Voice of America.

All those who sign the Freedom Scrolls may back up their signatures with small contributions to help expand the services of Radio Free Europe — and it is hoped that by the first part of next year a network of six or eight stations will be carrying the message of freedom to communist enslaved people.

Maryland state headquarters for the Crusade are in the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, and regional campaign offices have been set up in Westminster, Frederick, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Bel Air, Laurel, Salisbury and LaPlata, with additional offices to be opened in the next few days.

Church Women Plan Study Of Near East

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—The women of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches will begin a study of the Near East Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at Trinity Methodist Church.

The first session will be in a form of a trip to the Mediterranean and will include the dramatization of a wedding in Algeria. Taking part in the dramatization will be Mrs. John Kline, Mrs. Delcie Dawson, Mrs. Agnes Fortney, Mrs. Myrtle Yost, and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell. Mrs. J. W. Fisher will be the reader.

The second session will be held on Tuesday, October 10. The Presbyterian women will dramatize some of the difficulties encountered by a Moslem becoming a Christian. Miss Nellie Kooken, history teacher at Bruce High School, Westernport, will present the chapter on the tensions in the near East. A "Buzz Session" will also be a feature.

The session will deal with education and the missionary movement. Again there will be a "Buzz Session." Mrs. Bernice Newlon, will tell of the work being done by the Methodist Church in the Near East.

The work of the Presbyterian Church will be presented by Mrs. William McIntyre. A quiz on the Moslem faith will be given.

The fourth session will be a talk by Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School. He was stationed in the Near East during World War II and observed the Moslem religion. He will show pictures and present an exhibit of articles.

All church women are invited to all of these sessions and the outline of this study will be given by Mrs. J. W. Fisher, Westernport.

Smith Is Honored

Howard M. Smith, past president of the Cumberland Rotary Club, was honored at an informal testimonial at the club's weekly luncheon meeting yesterday at Central YMCA.

Smith, who has been local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company since 1945, will leave here next week to assume his new duties as commercial supervisor with the Baltimore headquarters staff.

Speakers at yesterday's event included James Alfred Avirett, Roy W. Eves and Rev. H. M. Richardson.

Freedom Scrolls

The middle of October the Bell will leave New York, and on United Nations Day, October 24 it will be hung in Berlin. In years to come, it is expected the world will revere this bell just as Americans honor the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

Through Radio Free Europe, a privately operated radio station, the tones of the Freedom Bell will pierce the Iron Curtain. Radio Free Europe is now broadcasting to the enslaved people of five occupied countries in six different languages. The broadcasts tell the people the truth about the western world, and supplement the broadcasts of the Voice of America.

All those who sign the Freedom Scrolls may back up their signatures with small contributions to help expand the services of Radio Free Europe — and it is hoped that by the first part of next year a network of six or eight stations will be carrying the message of freedom to communist enslaved people.

Maryland state headquarters for the Crusade are in the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, and regional campaign offices have been set up in Westminster, Frederick, Hagerstown, Cumberland, Bel Air, Laurel, Salisbury and LaPlata, with additional offices to be opened in the next few days.

Phillies To Start Jim Konstanty In World Series Opener

Relief Ace Is Surprise Pick Over Roberts

Yanks' Vic Raschi To Oppose Phillies' Choice On Mound

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (AP) — Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phillies sprang one of the classic surprises of world series history today when he nominated Jim Konstanty, his demon relief pitcher, to face the New York Yankees in the opening game of the big playoff tomorrow.

The 33-year-old righthander did not start a game during the entire 1950 season, though he set a major league record by working 74 times in relief. He probably was the only Phillies pitcher who had not been mentioned in the past two days as the experts tried to guess Sawyer's starter in the all-important opener.

Konstanty Relief Man

Konstanty, with a won-lost record of 16-7 for the season, will be opposed on the hill by Vic Raschi, another righthander, who won 21 and lost 8 for the American League champions this year.

The closest parallel to Sawyer's choice of Konstanty probably was that of Connie Mack when he threw Howard Ehmke at the Chicago Cubs in the first game of the 1929 world series. In that famous instance the Athletics veteran hamstrung the Cubs with 13 strikeouts, still a record, and dealt them a blow from which they did not recover.

The Phils' "sleeper" is a cool, bespectacled performer who relies on a slider and a palm ball, a variation of the screw ball that breaks away from a lefthanded batter. He only occasionally comes in with a fast ball or a curve.

Sawyer's reason for naming Konstanty instead of Robin Roberts, his youthful ace, who had been considered the logical choice, was simplicity itself.

"I think the guy can win," Eddie said.

Roberts, who clinched the pennant by beating Brooklyn in Sunday's thriller at Ebbets Field, will face the Yanks in the second game, the Phil pilot said. Stengel previously had named Allie Reynolds to go in the second for the Yankees.

Asked who he would use in relief tomorrow in the event that Konstanty got his lumps from the Bombers, Sawyer replied:

"My starters, of course." He indicated that he would have the two youngsters, Bubba Church and Bob Miller, in the bullpen.

Three Players Eligible

By mutual agreement, the two clubs added three players to their list of eligibles for the series. Meeting with Commissioner Albert B. Chandler, the Yankees agreed to let the Phils use Jocko Thompson, a left-handed pitcher, and Jack Mayo, a rookie outfielder, in recurn for the privilege of employing the veteran Johnny Hopp.

After supervising the extra players deal, Chandler announced that he will meet with Fred Hutchinson and Marty Marion, player representatives from the American and National leagues, respectively, at New York on Saturday morning to discuss the disposition of $800,000 in television gravy from the series. The probable lineups:

Allegany-Hagerstown Grid Rivalry Resumes Friday

Teams Meet For 27th Time At Fort Hill

One of the oldest gridiron rivalries in this section will be resumed at Fort Hill stadium Friday night when Coach Bob Pence's unbeaten Allegany High School eleven plays host to the Maroon and Gray of Hagerstown.

The two team first met in 1924 and since then the rivalry has been hot and heavy. This will be the 27th meeting of the two teams.

Close hard fought contests have been the rule rather than the exception when these two giants clash. No less than 11 games have been decided by one touchdown and six of these were 6-0 scores.

The Campers hold a 15-9 edge over the Washington County gridders while two games have ended in ties.

Coach Mel Henry's eleven is a veteran squad which has split even in two tilts this season, defeating Chambersburg 13-12 while losing to Westminster High 19-6.

Henry, a former Fort Hill High mentor is in his second season at the helm of the Maroon and Gray and is ably assisted by Al Davis and Paul Burger.

The 1950 edition of the Hagerstown eleven is sparked by Halfback Long, a 175-pound speedster, and Quarterback Burke who is the team's passing star. Tackles Weiss and Barton both scale the beam at 190 pounds and add plenty of heft to the Hagerstown forward wall.

Coach Pence reports his squad in good condition with only fullback Dick Widdows on the injured list.

Other games Friday will find Coach Bill Hahn's Fort Hill gridders traveling to Martinsburg, W. Va., to battle John Coburn's Bulldogs in a night game. Fort Hill has won three straight ball games.

Two Potomac Valley Conference tilts are on tap with Romney's high-scoring Pioneers seeking their fourth straight victory against Moorefield at Romney and Keyser's Golden Tornado at home at Ridgeley. The Blackhawks, under their new coach Ralph Poling, will be seeking their first 1950 win.

Other contests are Thomas at Parsons, Bedford at Roaring Springs and Potomac State's Catamounts at Newport News.

Victory Pair

WINNER of the rich Little Brown Jug classic at Delaware, O., Dudley Hanover, owned by the Hayes Fair Acres stables of DuQuoin Ill., holds his head high as he poses with his driver, Del Miller after winning two heats of the three-heat event. Dudley Hanover's victory was worth $28,262.75 to the stable. (International)

Accident Booters Blank Beall 2-0

Cop Third Victory; Ludvigeen Is Star

FROSTBURG, Oct. 3 — Coach Charley Strauss' Accident High School soccer team copped its third victory in four games here today as it downed Frostburg's Beall High eleven 2-0.

It was the opening game of the season for Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's booters who were 1947 Class "A" state soccer champs and who copped the state Class "B" title in 1948.

Accident holds two decisions over Oakland and the Garrett County booters appear to have one of their best teams in recent years.

Eigl Ludvigeen booted home the first goal midway in the second period and Ray Ferguson added a 20-yard beauty from the field in the third stanza to ice the contest for the visitors.

In addition to Ludvigeen and Ferguson, Savage was outstanding at fullback for the winners. Dick McClintock was the star for Beall.

Beall will open its WMI soccer season with Flintstone Friday. The lineups:

Pos.	Accident	Beall
Goal	Hamilton	Arnone
RFB	Savage	Dunn
LFB	Georg	F. Poland
RHB	Harmon	Thompson
CHB	Fratz	Buskirk
LHB	Brant	Edwards
OR	Hanft	Bell
IR	Ludvigeen	Duncan
CF	Ferguson	McClintock
IL	Kahl	Burner
OL	Edgar	J. Poland

Score by periods:
ACCIDENT ..... 0 1 1 0—2
BEALL ..... 0 0 0 0—0
Field goals scored by Ludvigeen and Ferguson.
Substitutes — BEALL—Brodie, Wright, Baker, Hileman, Witt, Schultheis.
Referee—Rev. John Jones.

Hill Prince May Be Threat To Calumet

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Hill Prince, the 1950 three-year-old champion heir apparent, loomed today as the horse to upset Calumet Farm's Monopoly in the famed Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park.

The $50,000-added affair, to be run for the 31st time Saturday, has been won for two straight years by Calumet. In the last eight gold cups, Calumet has won four of them.

Ideal Weather Is Forecast For Series

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (INS)—Nearly ideal weather was promised tonight for tomorrow's opening game of the 1950 world series between the Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Yankees.

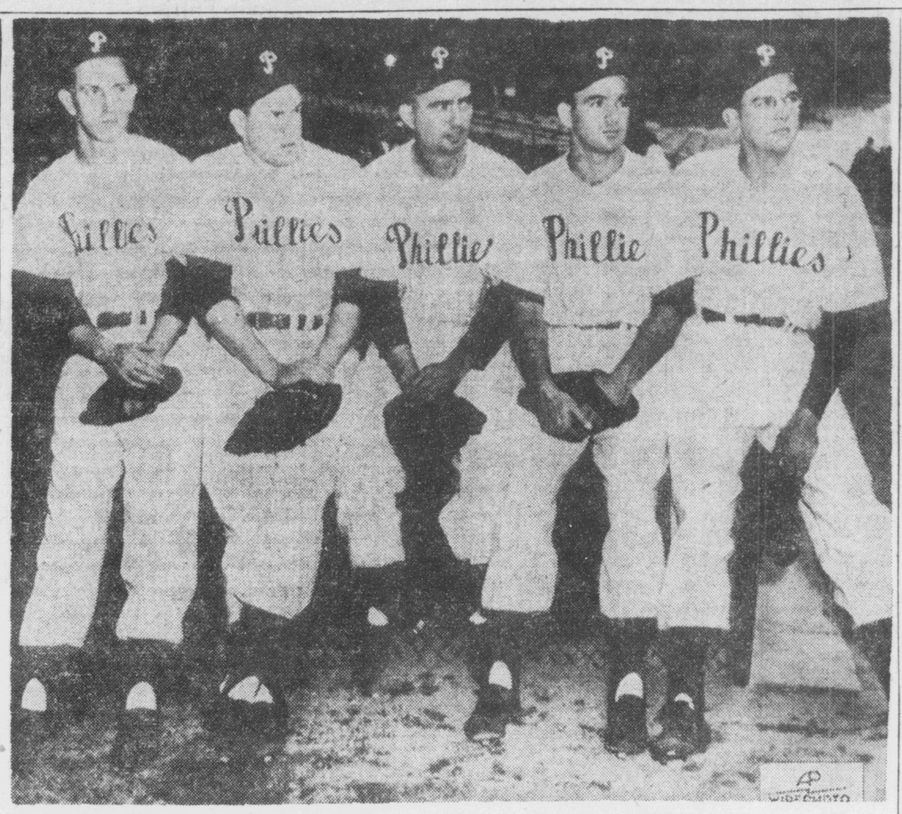
The weather forecast for game time was for a temperature of about 70 degrees, rather cloudy, and with a fair breeze blowing in from right field.

CCC Men's Golf Team Plays Sunday

The Cumberland Country Club's men's golf team will play a rubber match with the Fountain Head Country Club's golf team of Hagerstown on the local course Sunday, Oct. 8.

It will be the tenth match of the season for the Cumberland team which has won six and lost three to date.

Cumberland and Hagerstown split their first two matches.



PHILS TO DEPEND AN THEM—The National League champion Philadelphia Phillies will be relying on this quintet of hurlers to pitch them to victory over the New York Yankees in the 1950 World Series which begins in Philadelphia today. The five, posing before a workout yesterday, are (left to right) Russ Meyer, Robin Roberts, Ken Heintzelman, Bubba Church and Jim Konstanty. Konstanty the ace relief man of the Phils who set a new National League record of appearing in 74 games during the season, is Manager Eddie Sawyer's surprise starting choice for today's opener.

Simmons Gets Army Leave For World Series

Phils May Not Ask To Use Lefthander

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (AP)—Curt Simmons, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, was granted an army leave to fly back for the world series tonight—but Manager Eddie Sawyer said he would not seek to use Simmons against the New York Yankees.

"We will not ask to make Simmons eligible for the series," said Sawyer. "He probably will pitch batting practice. He will not sit on the bench during the games."

Commissioner A. B. Chandler indicated that if the Phillies did decide to ask to use Simmons, he would give favorable consideration to the request.

"There is good precedent for it," said Chandler. "On at least two other occasions in the past men were given leave from the army and played in the series."

Simmons is a member of the 28th division Pennsylvania National Guard which was federalized Sept. 5. He has had no practice since then and is probably out of condition now, which is undoubtedly the reason Sawyer does not intend to ask to make him eligible.

Simmons record up to the time he left for army duty was 17 victories against eight defeats. In top condition he would materially increase the Phillies' chances against the powerful Yankees.

Simmons, a first class private, was given a ten day leave by Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Stickler, commander of the 28th division who said:

"We realize that the winning of the National League pennant by the Phillies is a great thing for the people of Pennsylvania and it is gratifying to be able to take this course of action to encourage the ball team during the world series."

All the farm land in the world, evenly divided among its population, would give everyone slightly more than one acre.

Frostburg Woman Wins "Old German" Contest

Twelve Other Prizes Given By Brewery

Edna Meagher, Rt. 2, Box 54, Frostburg became the first 1950 winner of first price in the second annual weekly "Pigskin Predictions" contest sponsored by the Queen City Brewing Company.

Prizes of $110 are offered to the first second and third best cards entered in the weekly poll in addition to 10 consolation prizes of one case of Old German Beer.

First prize of $75 went to the Frostburg woman on the basis of 23 correct selections in 25 grid games played last Saturday with a composite point total of 146.

Second prize of $25 went to Eugene C. Sewell, 311 Bedford St., and third prize of $10 was awarded Gail Ash, 324 Columbia Street.

All three of the top contestants had 23 correct selections but the winner's point score was determined by totaling the difference between the contestant's prediction of each winning team's point margin of victory and the actual margin and Eda Meagher's difference was the smallest.

Other winners of a case of beer was Jean Faherty, 301 Walnut St., Westernport; Franklin Hinze, 415 Greene St.; Chester R. Collins, 811 Maplewood Lane; Milford Dean, 626 Elm St.; Olive L. Holshey, 23 Wempe Drive; Stanley Crabtree, 43 Offutt St.; Frank P. Stakem 20 E. Main St., Frostburg,; A. J. Rice, Sr., 30 Somerville Ave.; Jack Abell, Braddock Road; and John A. Turano, 80 Greene St.

The contest will run each week during the football season and the selections and winners will appear in the paper each Wednesday.

Graziano, agreeing to weigh 160 pounds, will have a 12 pound weight advantage. The Brooklyn Italian's last appearance in the stadium was in 1947 when he won the middleweight title from Tony Zale in a terrific brawl that drew an indoor record gate of $422,009.

Drake Star Sets Pace In Grid Offense

Bright Ahead Of 1949 High Mark

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Johnny Bright, Drake's 190-pound negro tailback, will smash college football's offensive record if he keeps up his sizzling running and passing streak.

The 1949 offensive champion has gained 755 yards by ground and air in Drake's first three games. That's well ahead of the pace he set in winning the title last year with 1,950 yards, and also ahead of the alltime mark of 2,187 set by Frank Sinkwich of Georgia in 1942.

Bright figured in 81 plays in the Bulldogs' routs of Denver, Emporia State and South Dakota. He gained 421 yards running and 334 passing, completing 25 of 36 attempts for a 69 per cent average. In the individual departments, the Fort Wayne, Ind., junior leads the runners and is third in passing.

Bill Wade of Vanderbilt is second to Bright in total offense with 467 yards in two games — 429 on passes. Scooter Mooney of North Carolina State comes next with 450 in two outings.

Behind Bright in running is powerful Bill Leskovar of Kentucky with 345 yards and Whizzer White of Arizona State (Tempe) with 340. The three leaders all have packed the ball 45 times.

Gene Rossi of Cincinnati leads the passers with 27 completions of 59 attempts for a 45.8 percentage and 304 yards. He has two more completions than Dave Cunningham of Utah, second with a 60.5 average and 263 yards. Bright, in third place, has the highest percentage of completions.

Notre Dame's Fighting Irish Top Grid Poll

Spartans, SMU, And Army Close Behind

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—College football's new "top ten" appears in for a rocking this weekend with a schedule that tests the grit and gristle of the powers—from top-ranking Notre Dame right down through Washington.

The Fighting Irish, who escaped with a 14-7 last gasp victory over North Carolina Saturday, risk their dominating position against a troublesome state rival, Purdue, at South Bend.

The Irish maintained first place in the first Associated Press weekly poll today but they didn't do it in their usual overwhelming manner.

The 190 sports writers and broadcasters who cast ballots thought enough of four other teams to give them more than 1,000 points each and place them on Notre Dame's cleated heels.

The South Benders collected 1,500 points on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and so forth. They received 63 for No. 1 position.

But Michigan State, upset conqueror of Michigan, received 1,298 points for second place, followed by Southern Methodist, 1,296; Army, 1,290, and Oklahoma, 1,025.

Michigan State, SMU and Army thus were so closely bunched one single first place vote could have scrambled their positions.

Finishing out the top ten, in order, were: Kentucky, Texas, Stanford, California and Washington.

Phillies To Start Jim Konstanty In World Series Opener

Relief Ace Is Surprise Pick Over Roberts

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (AP) — Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Phillies sprang one of the classic surprises of world series history today when he nominated Jim Konstanty, his demon relief pitcher, to face the New York Yankees in the opening game of the big playoff tomorrow.

The 33-year-old righthander did not start a game during the entire 1950 season, though he set a major league record by working 74 times in relief. He probably was the only Phillies pitcher who had not been mentioned in the past two days as the experts tried to guess Sawyer's starter in the all-important opener.

Konstanty Relief Man

Konstanty, with a won-lost record of 16-7 for the season, will be opposed on the hill by Vic Raschi, another righthander, who won 21 and lost 8 for the American League champions this year.

The closest parallel to Sawyer's choice of Konstanty probably was that of Connie Mack when he threw Howard Ehmke at the Chicago Cubs in the first game of the 1929 world series. In that famous instance the Athletics veteran hamstrung the Cubs with 13 strikeouts, still a record, and dealt them a blow from which they did not recover.

The Phils' "sleeper" is a cool, bespactacled performer who relies on a slider and a palm ball, a variation of the screw ball that breaks away from a lefthanded batter. He only occasionally comes in with a fast ball or a curve.

Sawyer's reason for naming Konstanty instead of Robin Roberts, his youthful ace, who had been considered the logical choice, was simplicity itself.

"I think the guy can win," Eddie said.

Roberts, who clinched the pennant by beating Brooklyn in Sunday's thriller at Ebbets Field, will face the Yanks in the second game, the Phil pilot said. Stengel previously had named Allie Reynolds to go in the second for the Yankees.

Asked who he would use in relief tomorrow in the event that Konstanty got his lumps from the Bombers, Sawyer replied:

"My starters, of course." He indicated that he would have the two youngsters, Bubba Church and Bob Miller, in the bullpen.

Three Players Eligible

By mutual agreement, the two clubs added three players to their list of eligibles for the series. Meeting with Commissioner Albert B. Chandler, the Yankees agreed to let the Phils use Jocko Thompson, a left-handed pitcher, and Jack Mayo, a rookie outfielder, in return for the privilege of employing the veteran Johnny Hopp.

After supervising the extra players deal, Chandler announced that he will meet with Fred Hutchinson and Marty Marion, player representatives from the American and National leagues, respectively, at New York on Saturday morning to discuss the disposition of $800,000 in television gravy from the series. The probable lineups:

Teams Meet For 27th Time At Fort Hill

One of the oldest gridiron rivalries in this section will be resumed at Fort Hill stadium Friday night when Coach Bob Pence's unbeaten Allegany High School eleven plays host to the Maroon and Gray of Hagerstown.

The two team first met in 1924 and since then the rivalry has been hot and heavy. This will be the 27th meeting of the two teams.

Close hard fought contests have been the rule rather than the exception when these two giants clash. No less than 11 games have been decided by one touchdown and six of these were 6-0 scores.

The Campers hold a 15-9 edge over the Washington County gridders while two games have ended in ties.

Coach Mel Henry's eleven is a veteran squad which has split even in two tilts this season, defeating Chambersburg 13-12 while losing to Westminster High 19-6.

Henry, a former Fort Hill High mentor is in his second season at the helm of the Maroon and Gray and is ably assisted by Al Davis and Paul Burger.

The 1950 edition of the Hagerstown eleven is sparked by Halfback Long, a 175-pound speedster, and Quarterback Burke who is the team's passing star. Tackles Weiss and Barton both scale the beam at 190 pounds and add plenty of heft to the Hagerstown forward wall.

Coach Pence reports his squad in good condition with only fullback Dick Widdows on the injured list.

Other games Friday will find Coach Bill Hahn's Fort Hill gridders traveling to Martinsburg, W. Va., to battle John Coburn's Bulldogs in a night game. Fort Hill has won three straight ball games.

Two Potomac Valley Conference tilts are on tap with Romney's high-scoring Pioneers seeking their fourth straight victory against Moorefield at Romney and Keyser's Golden Tornado at home at Ridgeley. The Blackhawks, under their new coach Ralph Poling, will be seeking their first 1950 win.

Other contests are Thomas at Parsons, Bedford at Roaring Springs and Potomac State's Catamounts at Newport News.

A Thursday game finds Franklin High invading Romney to do battle with the West Virginia School for Deaf gridders. Saturday Beall High goes to Berkeley Springs.

Accident Booters Blank Beall 2-0

Cop Third Victory; Ludvigeen Is Star

FROSTBURG, Oct. 3 — Coach Charley Strauss' Accident High School soccer team copped its third victory in four games here today as it downed Frostburg's Beall High eleven 2-0.

It was the opening game of the season for Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's booters who were 1947 Class "A" state soccer champs and who copped the state Class "B" title in 1948.

Accident holds two decisions over Oakland and the Garrett County booters appear to have one of their best teams in recent years.

Eigl Ludvigeen booted home the first goal midway in the second period and Ray Ferguson added a 20-yard beauty from the field in the third stanza to ice the contest for the visitors.

In addition to Ludvigeen and Ferguson, Savage was outstanding at fullback for the winners. Dick McClintock was the star for Beall.

Beall will open its WMI soccer season with Flintstone Friday. The lineups:

Pos.	Accident	Beall
Goal	Hamilton	Arnone
RFB	Savage	Dunn
LFB	Georg	F. Poland
RHB	Harmon	Thompson
CHB	Fratz	Buskirk
LHB	Brant	Edwards
OR	Hanft	Bell
IR	Ludvigeen	Duncan
CF	Ferguson	McClintock
IL	Kahl	Burner
OL	Edgar	J. Poland

Score by periods:

Field goals scored by Ludvigeen and Ferguson.

Substitutes — BEALL—Brodie, Wright, Baker, Hileman, Witt, Schultheis.

Referee—Rev. John Jones.

Hill Prince May Be Threat To Calumet

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Hill Prince, the 1950 three-year-old champion heir apparent, loomed today as the horse to upset Calumet Farm's Monopoly in the famed Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park.

The $50,000-added affair, to be run for the 31st time Saturday, has been won for two straight years by Calumet. In the last eight gold cups, Calumet has won four of them.

Ideal Weather Is Forecast For Series

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (INS)—Nearly ideal weather was promised tonight for tomorrow's opening game of the 1950 world series between the Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Yankees.

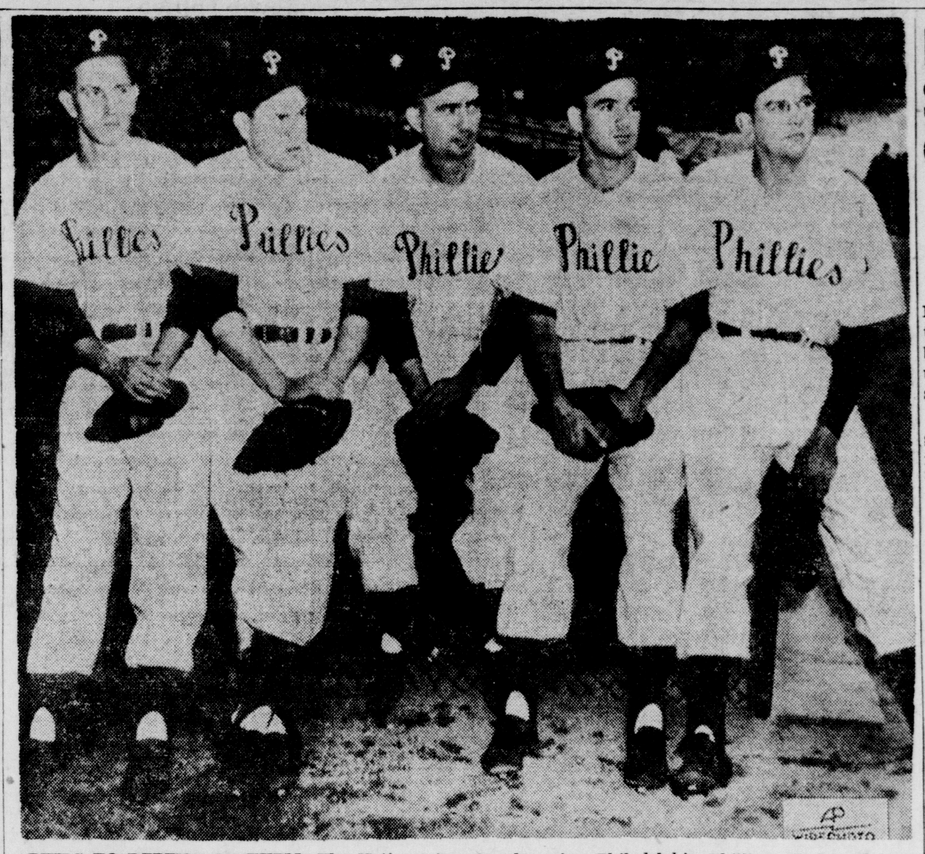
The weather forecast for game time was for a temperature of about 70 degrees, rather cloudy, and with a fair breeze blowing in from right field.

CCC Men's Golf Team Plays Sunday

The Cumberland Country Club's men's golf team will play a rubber match with the Fountain Head Country Club's golf team of Hagerstown on the local course Sunday, Oct. 8.

It will be the tenth match of the season for the Cumberland team which has won six and lost three to date.

Cumberland and Hagerstown split their first two matches.



PHILS TO DEPEND AN THEM—The National League champion Philadelphia Phillies will be relying on this quintet of hurlers to pitch them to victory over the New York Yankees in the 1950 World Series which begins in Philadelphia today. The five, posing before a workout yesterday, are (left to right) Russ Meyer, Robin Roberts, Ken Heintzelman, Bubba Church and Jim Konstanty. Konstanty the ace relief man of the Phils who set a new National League record of appearing in 74 games during the season, is Manager Eddie Sawyer's surprise starting choice for today's opener.

Simmons Gets Army Leave For World Series

Phils May Not Ask To Use Lefthander

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3 (AP)—Curt Simmons, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, was granted an army leave to fly back for the world series tonight—but Manager Eddie Sawyer said he would not seek to use Simmons against the New York Yankees.

"We will not ask to make Simmons eligible for the series," said Sawyer. "He probably will pitch batting practice. He will not sit on the bench during the games."

Commissioner A. B. Chandler indicated that if the Phillies did decide to ask to use Simmons, he would give favorable consideration to the request.

"There is good precedent for it," said Chandler. "On at least two other occasions in the past men were given leave from the army and played in the series."

Simmons is a member of the 28th division Pennsylvania National Guard which was federalized Sept. 5. He has had no practice since then and is probably out of condition now, which is undoubtedly the reason Sawyer does not intend to ask to make him eligible.

Simmons record up to the time he left for army duty was 17 victories against eight defeats. In top condition he would materially increase the Phillies' chances against the powerful Yankees.

Simmons, a first class private, was given a ten day leave by Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Stickler, commander of the 28th division who said:

"We realize that the winning of the National League pennant by the Phillies is a great thing for the people of Pennsylvania and it is gratifying to be able to take this course of action to encourage the ball team during the world series."

All the farm land in the world, evenly divided among its population, would give everyone slightly more than one acre.

Second prize of $25 went to Eugene C. Sewell, 311 Bedford St., and third prize of $10 was awarded Gail Ash, 324 Columbia Street.

All three of the top contestants had 23 correct selections but the winner's point score was determined by totaling the difference between the contestant's prediction of each winning team's point margin of victory and the actual margin and Eda Meagher's difference was the smallest.

Eagle River Is Feature Winner At Garden State

Cops Whiz Kid Race On Opening Day

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 3 (AP)—Staving off repeated challenges, Mrs. Helen Reinman's Eagle River, an invader from the middle-west, raced to a three-quarter of a length triumph in the Whiz Kids purse, feature attraction at Garden State Park today before approximately 12,500 opening day turf fans.

Taking the lead at the outset of the six furlongs feature event, Eagle River, under Jockey Logan Batcheller, lost it first to West Milton and then to Crystal Boot, but regained command at the head of the home lane.

At the wire he was nearly a length in front of Air Attack with Sheilas Reward, the odds on choice finishing third.

The winner traversed the six panels in the sparkling time of 1:09 4/5, one fifth of a second off the track standard set last year by Ocean Brief.

Yankee Hill Wins

ELMONT, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Sanford Stud Farm's Yankee Hill, outsider in the four-horse field, went to the front at the start and rolled home easily in the Pot O'Luck Classified Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth at Belmont Park today.

The 6-year-old horse, last in the winners' circle on March 4 at Gulfstream Park, was clocked in 1:43 3/5.

Hudson Valley Stable's Gold Heel, the 4-5 favorite, headed Monte for the place. Scipio brought up the rear.

Yankee Hill returned a mutuel of $13.80 and $4.00. Gold Heel paid $2.60 to place. There was no show wagering.

Eagle River Is Feature Winner At Garden State

Cops Whiz Kid Race On Opening Day

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 3 (AP)—Staving off repeated challenges, Mrs. Helen Reinman's Eagle River, an invader from the middle-west, raced to a three-quarter of a length triumph in the Whiz Kids purse, feature attraction at Garden State Park today before approximately 12,500 opening day turf fans.

Taking the lead at the outset of the six furlongs feature event, Eagle River, under Jockey Logan Batcheller, lost it first to West Milton and then to Crystal Boot, but regained command at the head of the home lane.

At the wire he was nearly a length in front of Air Attack with Sheilas Reward, the odds on choice finishing third.

The winner traversed the six panels in the sparkling time of 1:09 4/5, one fifth of a second off the track standard set last year by Ocean Brief.

Yankee Hill Wins

ELMONT, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—Sanford Stud Farm's Yankee Hill, outsider in the four-horse field, went to the front at the start and rolled home easily in the Pot O'Luck Classified Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth at Belmont Park today.

The 6-year-old horse, last in the winners' circle on March 4 at Gulfstream Park, was clocked in 1:43 3/5.

Hudson Valley Stable's Gold Heel, the 4-5 favorite, headed Monte for the place. Scipio brought up the rear.

Yankee Hill returned a mutuel of $13.80 and $4.00. Gold Heel paid $2.60 to place. There was no show wagering.

May Fight Again, Joe Louis Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (INS)—Joe Louis said today he may fight again, after all.

Louis, who came out of retirement to be soundly beaten for the world heavyweight crown by Ezzard Charles last Wednesday, declared at the time that he "would never fight again" because he was "all washed up."

But the 36-year-old Brown Bomber hedged on this today and said:

"What you say in the dressing room after a fight can't always hold. I can't say definitely about not fighting again, either officially or in exhibitions. I won't make any decision for a month."

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3. (INS) — With Gen. MacArthur's letter in his pocket, Dorrell McGowan found an open sesame in Japan, where he filmed "Tokyo File 212," the first picture jointly financed by Japanese and American money.

"My partner, George Breakston," said McGowan, "was with Gen. MacArthur when peace was declared during World War II. Through the General's aid we were able to get help from the government, the police, and the occupation troops."

On Japan's friendly co-operation McGowan couldn't say enough. "The Japanese are eager to let Americans know they consider us their friends. When we asked for 200 extras they took their engineers off the trains.

"Then tension the last weeks we were there over the Korean situation was great," he said. "In the midst of our picture every soldier was sent to Korea. We brought back some really wonderful stuff, and it's the first film to show Japan and what it is today under Gen. MacArthur's wonderful leadership.

San Francisco attorney, Melvin Belli, who is representing Prince Igor Troubetzkoy in his fight against Barbara Hutton, and who recently returned from Paris where he untangled the litigation which tied up Errol Flynn's picture "The Bargain," is having many things happen to him.

Under the title of "San Francisco Lawyer," Frank Seltzer is producing a story by Dan Mannering, in which Belli is the hero.

Just so you won't think this is a movie fable, the picture starts immediately, with Joe Newman as director, and was planned before Belli made the headlines.

The old Mae West picture, "Diamond Lil," has been given to Bob Welch, with orders from the front office to get in shape for Betty Hutton. Of course, that's sometime in the distance because Betty's going to do the Blossom Seeley story next. "Diamond Lil" will be completely changed from the original Mae West picture, her first.

Bob Hope is wanted to play the cowboy and in that case it'll certainly be even a funnier comedy than it was in the old days. I'm afraid the Hope role is wishful thinking.

• — • — •

One of Barbara Hutton's friends, who recently returned from Paris, said that Prince Henri De Latour D'Auvergne, will not let her talk to her old friends. He keeps guard over her—a pretended protection for the fragile lady.

And when the "five and dime" heiress is in love she does exactly as her current flame directs, even to clothes and dates.

Prince Henri etc., is the scion of one of France's oldest and noblest families, and Barbara, who always falls for titles, has found him very charming for many months.

It was his attentions to her during her convalescence from her serious illness that won her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Tomorrow Ruth Warrick goes into a hospital for a minor operation. She expects to be well enough to start her picture in about two weeks.

Yvonne Wood, former U-1 designer (she designed the costumes for "Double Life") and Don Dwiggins, newspaper writer, are telling their friends they were married September 27.

Paulette Goddard and Cy Howard having a tender farewell at the Seacombers. Paulette goes to New York this week.

It's now Tony Curtis who is head man in Janet Legih's life. She and Tony were at the encore for dinner.

At a nearby table Yvonne De Carlo and Lew Ayres sat tete-a-tete —a surprising twosome.

George Fisher, well known radio commentator and columnist, is introducing his attractive bride, Mary Ann Holt, to his friends.

Jean Wallace, looking very beautiful, was at Cobina Wright's party honoring Toni Arden. Sylvia and Clark Gable motored in from their ranch. Sonja Henie and Winthrop Gardner, Arlene Dahl and Lex Barker were among those invited to meet the talented Toni.

June Allyson, whose husband, Dick Powell, calls her the happiest pregnant woman in the world, is having a luncheon shower October 7. Helen Rose is the hostess.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

During quail season, Bruce Cooper met an old farmer hunting with an ancient pointer. Twice the dog pointed. Twice his master kicked at the matted growth, wheeled sharply and fired into the empty air. When Cooper saw no birds rise, he asked the farmer for an explanation. "Shucks," grinned the old man, "I knew there warn't no birds in that grass. Spot's nose ain't what it used to be. But him and me have seen some wonderful days together. He's still doing his best—and it'd be mighty little of me to call him a liar."

A flashy character barged into a Detroit saloon, demanded a double jigger of scotch, downed it in one gulp, plunked a five dollar bill on the counter, and walked out without another word. The bartender folded the fiver carefully, pocketed it, and remarked to the bar-flies, "Can you beat a phony like that Laps up a double scotch, leaves a five dollar tip, and beats it without paying!"

Hugh Walpole was a dangerous man to call upon for a speech at any banquet. He spoke fluently but interminably. He was going on and on at a booksellers' convention one Tuesday evening when somebody whispered to his publisher, George Doran, "What follows Walpole?" Doran answered, "Thursday."

In Dayton, O, an official of a widely ballyhooed "traffic safety week" concluded a ringing speech on the subject, climbed into her car, ran smack into a taxi, and was carried back into the lecture hall with a broken leg. And in the tenement district of New York a welfare worker tried to persuade a young mother to let her two-year-old get a little fresh air on the fire escape. "It's absolutely safe," she assured the skeptical mother. "I'll show you myself." She climbed out on to the fire escape, fell down three flights, and spent the next month in Lenox Hill Hospital.

Clem McCarthy in short pants.

At the ripe old age of nine, Charlie Hankinson is already a regular sports commentator for a new York radio station.

Charlie probably had a big laugh when he heard the adage about children being seen but not heard.

He is also on the "Juvenile Jury" program. I bet he's the only kid in school who learned arithmetic by counting sponsors.

In college, Charlie will probably be voted the student "most likely to graduate and retire on the same day."

When his teacher wants to punish him by keeping him in after school, Charlie says, "Not today—I'm announcing a night game."

His fans says that Charlie's program always packs a lot of suspense. They never know when his voice will change.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3. (INS) — With Gen. MacArthur's letter in his pocket, Dorrell McGowan found an open sesame in Japan, where he filmed "Tokyo File 212," the first picture jointly financed by Japanese and American money.

"My partner, George Breakston," said McGowan, "was with Gen. MacArthur when peace was declared during World War II. Through the General's aid we were able to get help from the government, the police, and the occupation troops."

On Japan's friendly co-operation McGowan couldn't say enough. "The Japanese are eager to let Americans know they consider us their friends. When we asked for 200 extras they took their engineers off the trains.

"Then tension the last weeks we were there over the Korean situation was great," he said. "In the midst of our picture every soldier was sent to Korea. We brought back some really wonderful stuff, and it's the first film to show Japan and what it is today under Gen. MacArthur's wonderful leadership.

San Francisco attorney, Melvin Belli, who is representing Prince Igor Troubetzkoy in his fight against Barbara Hutton, and who recently returned from Paris where he untangled the litigation which tied up Errol Flynn's picture "The Bargain," is having many things happen to him.

Under the title of "San Francisco Lawyer," Frank Seltzer is producing a story by Dan Mannering, in which Belli is the hero.

Just so you won't think this is a movie fable, the picture starts immediately, with Joe Newman as director, and was planned before Belli made the headlines.

The old Mae West picture, "Diamond Lil," has been given to Bob Welch, with orders from the front office to get in shape for Betty Hutton. Of course, that's sometime in the distance because Betty's going to do the Blossom Seeley story next. "Diamond Lil" will be completely changed from the original Mae West picture, her first.

Bob Hope is wanted to play the cowboy and in that case it'll certainly be even a funnier comedy than it was in the old days. I'm afraid the Hope role is wishful thinking.

One of Barbara Hutton's friends, who recently returned from Paris, said that Prince Henri De Latour D'Auvergne, will not let her talk to her old friends. He keeps guard over her—a pretended protection for the fragile lady.

And when the "five and dime" heiress is in love she does exactly as her current flame directs, even to clothes and dates.

Prince Henri etc., is the scion of one of France's oldest and noblest families, and Barbara, who always falls for titles, has found him very charming for many months.

It was his attentions to her during her convalescence from her serious illness that won her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Tomorrow Ruth Warrick goes into a hospital for a minor operation. She expects to be well enough to start her picture in about two weeks.

Yvonne Wood, former U-1 designer (she designed the costumes for "Double Life") and Don Dwiggins, newspaper writer, are telling their friends they were married September 27.

Paulette Goddard and Cy Howard having a tender farewell at the Seacombers. Paulette goes to New York this week.

It's now Tony Curtis who is head man in Janet Legih's life. She and Tony were at the encore for dinner.

At a nearby table Yvonne De Carlo and Lew Ayres sat tete-a-tete—a surprising twosome.

George Fisher, well known radio commentator and columnist, is introducing his attractive bride, Mary Ann Holt, to his friends.

Jean Wallace, looking very beautiful, was at Cobina Wright's party honoring Toni Arden. Sylvia and Clark Gable motored in from their ranch. Sonja Henie and Winthrop Gardner, Arlene Dahl and Lex Barker were among those invited to meet the talented Toni.

June Allyson, whose husband, Dick Powell, calls her the happiest pregnant woman in the world, is having a luncheon shower October 7. Helen Rose is the hostess.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Try And Stop Me

During quail season, Bruce Cooper met an old farmer hunting with an ancient pointer. Twice the dog pointed. Twice his master kicked at the matted growth, wheeled sharply and fired into the empty air. When Cooper saw no birds rise, he asked the farmer for an explanation. "Shucks," grinned the old man, "I knew there warn't no birds in that grass. Spot's nose ain't what it used to be. But him and me have seen some wonderful days together. He's still doing his best—and it'd be mighty little of me to call him a liar."

A flashy character barged into a Detroit saloon, demanded a double jigger of scotch, downed it in one gulp, plunked a five dollar bill on the counter, and walked out without another word. The bartender folded the fiver carefully, pocketed it, and remarked to the bar-flies, "Can you beat a phony like that Laps up a double scotch, leaves a five dollar tip, and beats it without paying!"

Hugh Walpole was a dangerous man to call upon for a speech at any banquet. He spoke fluently but interminably. He was going on and on at a booksellers' convention one Tuesday evening when somebody whispered to his publisher, George Doran, "What follows Walpole?" Doran answered, "Thursday."

In Dayton, O, an official of a widely ballyhooed "traffic safety week" concluded a ringing speech on the subject, climbed into her car, ran smack into a taxi, and was carried back into the lecture hall with a broken leg. And in the tenement district of New York a welfare worker tried to persuade a young mother to let her two-year-old get a little fresh air on the fire escape. "It's absolutely safe," she assured the skeptical mother. "I'll show you myself." She climbed out on to the fire escape, fell down three flights, and spent the next month in Lenox Hill Hospital.

At the ripe old age of nine, Charlie Hankinson is already a regular sports commentator for a new York radio station.

Charlie probably had a big laugh when he heard the adage about children being seen but not heard.

He is also on the "Juvenile Jury" program. I bet he's the only kid in school who learned arithmetic by counting sponsors.

In college, Charlie will probably be voted the student "most likely to graduate and retire on the same day."

When his teacher wants to punish him by keeping him in after school, Charlie says, "Not today—I'm announcing a night game."

His fans says that Charlie's program always packs a lot of suspense. They never know when his voice will change.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—THE REASON why U. S. Communism and their deluded stooges picketed Polish General Wladyslaw Anders at the Waldorf-Astoria Sunday night is that he was perhaps the first member of the Allies to know where the bodies were buried.

And he has never let the Russians forget it.

The bodies in question were those of about 11,000 Polish officers murdered by the Red army in what must have been one of history's grisliest scenes. The men had been captured by the Russians in attempting to defend Poland against the combined attacks of the then partners, Hitler and Stalin.

When the two dictators fell out, and the Germans moved against Russia, what was left of the Polish government agreed to fight on the side of the Allies and against Germany. It set about trying to round up an army toward that end and named Anders—a brilliant, outspoken soldier—as commander in chief of the force that would be raised in Russia and equipped by that country.

Anders had been himself a prisoner of the Russians for 20 months and, as he later told Stalin, had been very badly treated. ("Such were the conditions," Stalin shrugged.)

• — • — •

But now he sent out word to prisoner-of-war and slave labor camps in Russia, asking former members of the Polish army to report to him for training and action.

Many men appeared, to fight valiantly in Italy in later campaigns against the Germans. But Anders noticed from the start that few, if any, Polish officers were reporting to him.

He communicated this strange fact to his superiors in the Polish government in exile, then based in London. And the first of many desperate entreaties were made to the Russians, for information concerning the men.

"They were liberated," Stalin told Gen. Sikorski, the Polish premier. "They just have not yet reached your quarters." Substantially that was the story until April 13, 1943, when the German radio announced the discovery in Katyn, near Smolensk, of eight mass graves containing the well-preserved bodies of the men — all shot through the backs of their heads by Genschow revolvers of a type bought in large quantities by the Russians before the war.

When the shocked Polish government asked the International Red Cross to investigate the German claim that the men had been murdered during April and May, 1940, Stalin broke off diplomatic relations and set up the Polish Communist (Lublin) government which Roosevelt and Churchill eventually swallowed at Yalta.

Anders by this time had put together with scant Russian aid an army that eventually swelled to 120,000, had trained it in Iran, with the help of the Americans, and had incorporated it into the British Eighth Army under Gen. Montgomery. It was an army that knew no superior for sheer guts, as anyone who got to Italy during the war will tell you. Included in it were thousands of former German POWs and Germans who had quit the Wehrmacht to fight on the side of the Allies.

During the course of the war, Churchill once complained to Polish Statesman Stanislaw Mikolajczyk that Anders had told him that when the Allies were finished with Germany the Russians would then be the enemy. He had described to Churchill the Reds' contempt for the Allies, as he had known it during his months in Russia. Apparently his thoughts and feelings were made known to the Russian hierarchy. He was marked.

When the war in Europe was done, a great effort was made by the Communist government of Poland to force Anders and his men to return. The matter went to U.N., where a Communist denounced the superbly loyal and brave Anders and his men as Fascists bent on further aggression. Of the 17,000 of his men who did return to Poland, Anders openly charged, many were sent into Siberian camps as slaves.

The word long since has spread to Communist cells throughout the world, to haunt Anders wherever he goes. In this country the rule is to brand him as anti-Semitic, despite the prevalence of Jewish officers in his army. That was the theme on the pavement of the Waldorf the other night.

Trucker Arrested After Va. Crash

A reckless driving charge has been filed against Earl Richard Nixon, 33, Cumberland, following an accident at Gore, Va., Friday. He posted $100 bond pending the hearing set for Winchester on Friday.

Virginia State Police said Nixon was driving a trailer owned by the Twigg Transportation Company, this city.

The vehicle overturned, sheared off two gas pumps at a service station, wrecked three parked cars, injured one person and scattered 700 cases of canned and bottled beer over the highway before sliding to a stop.

Damage was estimated at $2,000 and did not include the truck and cargo.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—THE REASON why U. S. Communism and their deluded stooges picketed Polish General Wladyslaw Anders at the Waldorf-Astoria Sunday night is that he was perhaps the first member of the Allies to know where the bodies were buried.

And he has never let the Russians forget it.

The bodies in question were those of about 11,000 Polish officers murdered by the Red army in what must have been one of history's grisliest scenes. The men had been captured by the Russians in attempting to defend Poland against the combined attacks of the then partners, Hitler and Stalin.

When the two dictators fell out, and the Germans moved against Russia, what was left of the Polish government agreed to fight on the side of the Allies and against Germany. It set about trying to round up an army toward that end and named Anders—a brilliant, outspoken soldier—as commander in chief of the force that would be raised in Russia and equipped by that country.

Anders had been himself a prisoner of the Russians for 20 months and, as he later told Stalin, had been very badly treated. ("Such were the conditions," Stalin shrugged.)

• — • — •

But now he sent out word to prisoner-of-war and slave labor camps in Russia, asking former members of the Polish army to report to him for training and action.

Many men appeared, to fight valiantly in Italy in later campaigns against the Germans. But Anders noticed from the start that few, if any, Polish officers were reporting to him.

He communicated this strange fact to his superiors in the Polish government in exile, then based in London. And the first of many desperate entreaties were made to the Russians, for information concerning the men.

"They were liberated," Stalin told Gen. Sikorski, the Polish premier. "They just have not yet reached your quarters." Substantially that was the story until April 13, 1943, when the German radio announced the discovery in Katyn, near Smolensk, of eight mass graves containing the well-preserved bodies of the men — all shot through the backs of their heads by Genschow revolvers of a type bought in large quantities by the Russians before the war.

When the shocked Polish government asked the International Red Cross to investigate the German claim that the men had been murdered during April and May, 1940, Stalin broke off diplomatic relations and set up the Polish Communist (Lublin) government which Roosevelt and Churchill eventually swallowed at Yalta.

Anders by this time had put together with scant Russian aid an army that eventually swelled to 120,000, had trained it in Iran, with the help of the Americans, and had incorporated it into the British Eighth Army under Gen. Montgomery. It was an army that knew no superior for sheer guts, as anyone who got to Italy during the war will tell you. Included in it were thousands of former German POWs and Germans who had quit the Wehrmacht to fight on the side of the Allies.

During the course of the war, Churchill once complained to Polish Statesman Stanislaw Mikolajczyk that Anders had told him that when the Allies were finished with Germany the Russians would then be the enemy. He had described to Churchill the Reds' contempt for the Allies, as he had known it during his months in Russia. Apparently his thoughts and feelings were made known to the Russian hierarchy. He was marked.

When the war in Europe was done, a great effort was made by the Communist government of Poland to force Anders and his men to return. The matter went to U.N., where a Communist denounced the superbly loyal and brave Anders and his men as Fascists bent on further aggression. Of the 17,000 of his men who did return to Poland, Anders openly charged, many were sent into Siberian camps as slaves.

The word long since has spread to Communist cells throughout the world, to haunt Anders wherever he goes. In this country the rule is to brand him as anti-Semitic, despite the prevalence of Jewish officers in his army. That was the theme on the pavement of the Waldorf the other night.

Trucker Arrested After Va. Crash

A reckless driving charge has been filed against Earl Richard Nixon, 33, Cumberland, following an accident at Gore, Va., Friday. He posted $100 bond pending the hearing set for Winchester on Friday.

Virginia State Police said Nixon was driving a trailer owned by the Twigg Transportation Company, this city.

The vehicle overturned, sheared off two gas pumps at a service station, wrecked three parked cars, injured one person and scattered 700 cases of canned and bottled beer over the highway before sliding to a stop.

Damage was estimated at $2,000 and did not include the truck and cargo.

Psychoanalyze Leaders To Stop Wars, U. S. Psychiatrist Urges

By CARTER DAVIDSON

PARIS—(AP)—All the world's presidents, dictators and kings should be stretched out on a couch, asserts Dr. Robert S. Drews, and psychoanalyzed before being allowed to take office.

The Detroit psychiatrist contends this would help prevent wars.

"The history of war and chaos is the history of mentally sick people," Dr. Drews said in an interview. He is in Paris at the end of a three-month study of mental health in Europe.

He said the "hostility, aggression and mental instability of existing leaders in many countries has spread like a contagion to the mental makeup of people all over the world."

Dr. Drews suggested these remedies for wars and dangers of wars that are caused by the instability of political leaders:

1. All persons in political life should be subjected to "rigorous examinations into the structures of their personalities before being entrusted with the destinies of nations."

2. Mental hygiene must be taught in schools all over the world—as it is being taught already to some extent in America.

3. A universal "auxiliary language," such as esperanto, must be adopted to make international and personal meetings easier.

4. More "inter-personal relationships" must be arranged to bring people together across national frontiers on a "me and you basis," instead of formal international conferences.

"What is needed now, immediately," he added, "is a dynamic program of educating people to live one with another, instead of for, against or away from another. To live for another person is emotional, to live against another is hostility; to live away from another is isolationism."

Dr. Drews called attention to Napoleon, Caesar, Hitler, Mussolini and "as far as we know, Stalin, too —all of them were neurotic, mentally sick people."

He said such leaders came to power in Europe "in a history of essentially single individuals sincerely striving for conquest and supremacy. They very often were powerful, but immature, and very often neurotic in their leadership."

Dr. Drews and this wife came to Europe last June with a group of professors from Wayne University. Later he left the group to conduct individual research for material on his forthcoming book "Mental Hygiene in the Changing World."

He and Mrs Drews have visited virtually every Western European nation.

Yugoslavia Isn't Talking But Has Eye On Atom, Too

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELGRADE—(AP)—In this small country, as in others large and small, the men of science have their eye on the atom. There is no geographic boundary to knowledge and no way to prove that a small country cannot split an atom for war or peace.

True, it takes a big pile of dinars (or dollars) to provide the equipment for the job. But Yugoslavia has been underwriting the expense. Just how far it has got and whether it has uncovered a supply of uranium of its own remain a closely guarded secret.

It is obvious, however, that Yugoslavia has scientists well trained in unraveling the secrets of atomic energy, men who began their studies as long as 15 years ago.

The question whether Yugoslavia has a supply of uranium itself can be measured only by the fact that this country has been credited with possessing almost every other metal known to man.

However, there is evidence on the positive side, too. Obviously, Marshal Josip Broz Tito's government is getting no uranium from Russia or any Soviet satellite since his break with the Cominform more than two years ago. Neither, of course, is it getting any from the United States, where stringent bans prohibit the export of such material.

This leaves it up to Yugoslavia to find its own supply. It is not on the market list. However, only a few miles from Belgrade, Yugoslavia has built its own atomic energy research plant. The cost can hardly be measured in western terms because labor is cheap. Obviously, however, there would have been no point in building the plant unless material for the experiments was available.

Yugoslavia's efforts in the field of atomic energy research were first disclosed by the Yugoslav Fortnightly, a newspaper which recounted the achievements of Professor Pavle Savic of Belgrade University.

The newspaper reported that Professor Savci attained "his first significant results between 1934 and 1939 when working with Madame Irene Joliet Curie in the Paris Uranium Institute; he achieved marked success in the field of breaking up the atom nucleus."

The newspaper said Savic, who fought for his country's freedom from the early years of the war, went to Moscow in 1945 as a member of the Physical Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

After two years of research and experiments in the field of low temperatures, it said, Savic announced success in reaching lower temperatures than those achieved by the Soviet scientist Kapitza after 20 years of work.

As of now, Savic is continuing the work begun in Moscow, operating at the atom plant Vinca, a little village about 12 miles downstream on the Danube from Belgrade, where he directs the work of the first Yugoslav physical institute.

For his efforts he recently was rewarded by the government with a special compensation of 100,000 dinars (about $20,000).

Beer License Opposed For Glenora Inn

Ten residents of the Valley Road section near Glenora Inn yesterday filed a remonstrance with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board in which they ask that a beer license for the place be denied.

The petition alleges that the applicant, Marian Fleek McLaughlin, owned the building at the time the former license holder had his license revoked and also had worked in the inn at the time.

It was also charged that issuance of a license to the inn would lower the value of homes in the area, and also that there is a licensed beer place within 500 yards of the Glenora Inn.

It was pointed out by the remonstrants that the inn has a bad reputation among police and is located in a secluded spot more than 300 feet off Valley Road.

England or Virginia. Such a trend is never immediately measurable, but it does, in time, alter the political complexion of a country. Horace Greeley's "Go West!" slogan is bearing rich fruit.

High Market Prices Put Brakes On Stock Buying

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—High prices put the brakes on buying today in the stock market and brought on a set-back of a few cents to more than a dollar a share.

A number of leaders stood out against the trend, however, and managed to stay ahead by as much as a dollar or a little more.

The Associated Press average of 6$ stocks declined 60 cents to $83.60. The rail component of the average was down $1.10, largely because of the $14 drop in nickle plate which yesterday had gained $20.50.

Resistance to the market decline is shown in the movement of traded issues. The total was 1,178 of which 419 advanced and 468 declined.

The new $5 par General Motors common was the day's most active issue closing up ⅛ at 50. The old $10 par common ended its trading life yesterday at 99¾.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LIKE A CAT AND A MOUSE

SOME of the "fast ones" put over by canny declarers on players of fair ability are almost comparable to the tactics of a cat playing with a mouse. They really do an advance job of mind-reading on the victim, figuring out ahead of time just what he will think if they do thus and so and therefore knowing how he will react. That knack of divining the other fellow's mental processes enables the skilled cardsman to gain by repeated traps sometimes in the same hand.

Considering his pair outclassed, West desperately tried to flimflam his stronger opponents with that third-hand psychic. Then he followed up by reading East's double as asking for the suit he had bid, so he opened the spade K.

South realized East would surely think that was from the K-Q, also that East positively had no more than a singleton spade, since West would not have tried such a psychic with fewer than five cards. That showed him how he could steal one trick. So he won the first with the spade A, the second with the heart A to disclose the expected bad trump break and then led the spade 2. East, certain West had the Q, discarded the club 5 and was stunned to see the Q win for South.

The diamond 2 was led to the Q, the club A scored and the second swindle pulled with the club 7 lead. Sure East would say "He can't work that old gag and steal a trick with the jack," East put in his K and saw it ruffed. The diamond A and K now won. West, playing the 10 and J on them, advertised that East had the 9 left, so South led the 7 and ruffed with the heart 4. The club Q now brought a discard of the diamond 7, burning up poor East. But the crowning indignity was the lead of the spade 7. East, with only his last three trumps, won with the J, but then had to lead from the Q-8 into the combination tenace of dummy's K-7 opposite South's 10-9 to make the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

What is the sound play by South for 4-Hearts after the diamond Q is led?

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should you let your son leave college?

Answer: As a rule, yes, if he seriously wants to. It is true he may be sorry later, but if he develops a real wish for further education he will find some way to get it. Meanwhile, he would get little benefit from studying if he felt that he was being forced to do it. The fact that you got a great deal out of going to college —or have always wished you could have done so—does not mean your children will feel the same way. And they should choose their careers, not for prestige, but because they are fitted for them.

Is belief in magic universal?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Geza Roheim in "Psychoanalysis and the Social Sciences." Psychoanalytic anthropology can demonstrate that regardless of training or cultural background, every individual and every social group goes through a phase of believing in magic—in the power of a "wish," for instance. Such a belief is necessary as a step in the transition from the child's first recognition of his helplessness to acceptance of "reality," with its implied dependence upon learning and conforming to the laws of nature.

Is psychoanalysis "a branch of medicine"?

Answer: Not in the belief of its originator, Dr. Sigmund Freud. It is, as he wrote, "part of psychology; not medical psychology in the old meaning of the word, nor psychology of the pathological process, but pure psychology." Medicine has used psychoanalysis in the cure of mental illness just as it uses chemistry and physics in dealing with physical ailments, but each science still has other uses and medicine has no monopoly of any of them. One need not be a physician to understand or alleviate the effects of a loveless childhood.

Psychoanalyze Leaders To Stop Wars, U. S. Psychiatrist Urges

By CARTER DAVIDSON

PARIS—(AP)—All the world's presidents, dictators and kings should be stretched out on a couch, asserts Dr. Robert S. Drews, and psychoanalyzed before being allowed to take office.

The Detroit psychiatrist contends this would help prevent wars.

"The history of war and chaos is the history of mentally sick people," Dr. Drews said in an interview. He is in Paris at the end of a three-month study of mental health in Europe.

He said the "hostility, aggression and mental instability of existing leaders in many countries has spread like a contagion to the mental makeup of people all over the world."

Dr. Drews suggested these remedies for wars and dangers of wars that are caused by the instability of political leaders:

1. All persons in political life should be subjected to "rigorous examinations into the structures of their personalities before being entrusted with the destinies of nations."

2. Mental hygiene must be taught in schools all over the world—as it is being taught already to some extent in America.

3. A universal "auxiliary language," such as esperanto, must be adopted to make international and personal meetings easier.

4. More "inter-personal relationships" must be arranged to bring people together across national frontiers on a "me and you basis," instead of formal international conferences.

"What is needed now, immediately," he added, "is a dynamic program of educating people to live one with another, instead of for, against or away from another. To live for another person is emotional, to live against another is hostility; to live away from another is isolationism."

Dr. Drews called attention to Napoleon, Caesar, Hitler, Mussolini and "as far as we know, Stalin, too—all of them were neurotic, mentally sick people."

He said such leaders came to power in Europe "in a history of essentially single individuals sincerely striving for conquest and supremacy. They very often were powerful, but immature, and very often neurotic in their leadership."

Dr. Drews and this wife came to Europe last June with a group of professors from Wayne University. Later he left the group to conduct individual research for material on his forthcoming book "Mental Hygiene in the Changing World."

He and Mrs Drews have visited virtually every Western European nation.

Yugoslavia Isn't Talking But Has Eye On Atom, Too

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELGRADE—(AP)—In this small country, as in others large and small, the men of science have their eye on the atom. There is no geographic boundary to knowledge and no way to prove that a small country cannot split an atom for war or peace.

True, it takes a big pile of dinars (or dollars) to provide the equipment for the job. But Yugoslavia has been underwriting the expense. Just how far it has got and whether it has uncovered a supply of uranium of its own remain a closely guarded secret.

It is obvious, however, that Yugoslavia has scientists well trained in unraveling the secrets of atomic energy, men who began their studies as long as 15 years ago.

The question whether Yugoslavia has a supply of uranium itself can be measured only by the fact that this country has been credited with possessing almost every other metal known to man.

However, there is evidence on the positive side, too. Obviously, Marshal Josip Broz Tito's government is getting no uranium from Russia or any Soviet satellite since his break with the Cominform more than two years ago. Neither, of course, is it getting any from the United States, where stringent bans prohibit the export of such material.

This leaves it up to Yugoslavia to find its own supply. It is not on the market list. However, only a few miles from Belgrade, Yugoslavia has built its own atomic energy research plant. The cost can hardly be measured in western terms because labor is cheap. Obviously, however, there would have been no point in building the plant unless material for the experiments was available.

Yugoslavia's efforts in the field of atomic energy research were first disclosed by the Yugoslav Fortnightly, a newspaper which recounted the achievements of Professor Pavle Savic of Belgrade University.

The newspaper reported that Professor Savci attained "his first significant results between 1934 and 1939 when working with Madame Irene Joliet Curie in the Paris Uranium Institute; he achieved marked success in the field of breaking up the atom nucleus."

The newspaper said Savic, who fought for his country's freedom from the early years of the war, went to Moscow in 1945 as a member of the Physical Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

After two years of research and experiments in the field of low temperatures, it said, Savic announced success in reaching lower temperatures than those achieved by the Soviet scientist Kapitza after 20 years of work.

As of now, Savic is continuing the work begun in Moscow, operating at the atom plant Vinca, a little village about 12 miles downstream on the Danube from Belgrade, where he directs the work of the first Yugoslav physical institute.

For his efforts he recently was rewarded by the government with a special compensation of 100,000 dinars (about $20,000).

Beer License Opposed For Glenora Inn

Ten residents of the Valley Road section near Glenora Inn yesterday filed a remonstrance with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board in which they ask that a beer license for the place be denied.

The petition alleges that the applicant, Marian Fleek McLaughlin, owned the building at the time the former license holder had his license revoked and also had worked in the inn at the time.

It was also charged that issuance of a license to the inn would lower the value of homes in the area, and also that there is a licensed beer place within 500 yards of the Glenora Inn.

It was pointed out by the remonstrants that the inn has a bad reputation among police and is located in a secluded spot more than 300 feet off Valley Road.

High Market Prices Put Brakes On Stock Buying

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—High prices put the brakes on buying today in the stock market and brought on a set-back of a few cents to more than a dollar a share.

A number of leaders stood out against the trend, however, and managed to stay ahead by as much as a dollar or a little more.

The Associated Press average of 6$ stocks declined 60 cents to $83.60. The rail component of the average was down $1.10, largely because of the $14 drop in nickle plate which yesterday had gained $20.50.

Resistance to the market decline is shown in the movement of traded issues. The total was 1,178 of which 419 advanced and 468 declined.

The new $5 par General Motors common was the day's most active issue closing up ⅛ at 50. The old $10 par common ended its trading life yesterday at 99¾.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LIKE A CAT AND A MOUSE

SOME of the "fast ones" put over by canny declarers on players of fair ability are almost comparable to the tactics of a cat playing with a mouse. They really do an advance job of mind-reading on the victim, figuring out ahead of time just what he will think if they do thus and so and therefore knowing how he will react. That knack of divining the other fellow's mental processes enables the skilled cardsman to gain by repeated traps sometimes in the same hand.

Considering his pair outclassed, West desperately tried to flim-flam his stronger opponents with that third-hand psychic. Then he followed up by reading East's double as asking for the suit he had bid, so he opened the spade K.

South realized East would surely think that was from the K-Q, also that East positively had no more than a singleton spade, since West would not have tried such a psychic with fewer than five cards. That showed him how he could steal one trick. So he won the first with the spade A, the second with the heart A to disclose the expected bad trump break and then led the spade 2. East, certain West had the Q, discarded the club 5 and was stunned to see the Q win for South.

The diamond 2 was led to the Q, the club A scored and the second swindle pulled with the club 7 lead. Sure East would say "He can't work that old gag and steal a trick with the jack," East put in his K and saw it ruffed. The diamond A and K now won. West, playing the 10 and J on them, advertised that East had the 9 left, so South led the 7 and ruffed with the heart 4. The club Q now brought a discard of the diamond 7, burning up poor East. But the crowning indignity was the lead of the spade 7. East, with only his last three trumps, won with the J, but then had to lead from the Q-8 into the combination tenace of dummy's K-7 opposite South's 10-9 to make the contract.

What is the sound play by South for 4-Hearts after the diamond Q is led?

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should you let your son leave college?

Answer: As a rule, yes, if he seriously wants to. It is true he may be sorry later, but if he develops a real wish for further education he will find some way to get it. Meanwhile, he would get little benefit from studying if he felt that he was being forced to do it. The fact that you got a great deal out of going to college—or have always wished you could have done so—does not mean your children will feel the same way. And they should choose their careers, not for prestige, but because they are fitted for them.

Is belief in magic universal?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Geza Roheim in "Psychoanalysis and the Social Sciences." Psychoanalytic anthropology can demonstrate that regardless of training or cultural background, every individual and every social group goes through a phase of believing in magic—in the power of a "wish," for instance. Such a belief is necessary as a step in the transition from the child's first recognition of his helplessness to acceptance of "reality," with its implied dependence upon learning and conforming to the laws of nature.

Is psychoanalysis "a branch of medicine"?

Answer: Not in the belief of its originator, Dr. Sigmund Freud. It is, as he wrote, "part of psychology; not medical psychology in the old meaning of the word, nor psychology of the pathological process, but pure psychology." Medicine has used psychoanalysis in the cure of mental illness just as it uses chemistry and physics in dealing with physical ailments, but each science still has other uses and medicine has no monopoly of any of them. One need not be a physician to understand or alleviate the effects of a loveless childhood.

Chest Campaign Termed Chance To Serve Others

Meeting Launches 10-Day Drive

Community Chest campaigns provide a chance for service and a "spiritual reawakening" to the fact that mankind is basically good, Thomas R. Reid, a Baltimore executive, said last night.

Reid, a vice president of the McCormick Company, addressed 140 persons at the kickoff dinner at Central YMCA opening the 1950 Red Feather drive here.

He was introduced by Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman of the 10-day campaign which has a goal of $87,794.34.

American people generally are enjoying a high standard of living, and everyone should give to the campaign, Reid said.

Cites "Annualitis"

He warned against the danger of "annualitis," the feeling that "this is just another Community Chest drive like every other year."

"Perhaps you in Cumberland or we in Baltimore will be able to work out a different and ingenious approach that will be used in Community Chest drives for years to come," Reid said.

The McCormick plant, Reid said, has achieved 100 per cent contributions during the past eight years.

This year McCormick employes will give one day's work to the Chest, with their time and one-half pay to be turned over to the campaign, Reid said.

He added that the payroll deduction plan is also used as in several industries here.

Reid, a member of the Baltimore City Council, was named in 1947 to the list of America's 10 outstanding young men. He is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and is a recognized leader in the field of human relations.

In closing, Reid recalled that the word "crisis" in the Chinese language is made up of two symbols meaning "danger" and "opportunity."

This, he said, symbolizes the Community Chest campaign. Work of the member agencies is endangered if the drive fails, and the opportunity is to put the campaign over the top.

Earl C. Robertson, president of the Cumberland Community Chest, said that work of the Chest "gives help to those who can no longer bear their burdens alone." He added:

"We are investing dollars in a cause which cannot fail to help the city."

Reviews Budget Work

R. A. J. Morrison, chairman of the Chest's budget committee, reviewed that group's work in studying budget requests of the nine member agencies and setting up this year's goal.

Character building agencies were given slightly increased amounts because "a dollar spent now may save many dollars later," Morrison said. He added that welfare groups also received more allocations.

Eiler announced that the first report meeting will be held Friday at 12:15 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, gave the invocation. Eiler introduced Lynn Lashley, chairman of the advance gifts committee; George M. Martin, chairman of the Classified Section; and Mrs. H. W. Eliason, chairman of the Residential Section.

Also introduced were Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Commissioners William H. Buchholtz, George H. Tederick and Lucile W. Roeder, and County Commissioner James Holmes.

Reid, vice president of the McCormick Company of Baltimore, who gave the principal address at last night's kickoff dinner at Central YMCA launching the 1950 Community Chest campaign. Scouts, Dads Are Planning Annual Outing

Saturday Event To Be Held At Camp

The annual "Dad's Day" program and outing sponsored by Cumberland District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday afternoon and evening at Camp Potomac near Oldtown.

This was announced yesterday by Willis V. Smith, council executive.

Cumberland District includes the city and surrounding communities. About 400 Scouts and 300 Cub Scouts are represented.

Smith said the program will get underway at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with all district Scouts and Cubs and their fathers invited to attend.

Each boy and his father will take part as a team in activities and contests, including softball throw, horseshoe pitching, water boiling contest and trail hike.

Supper will be prepared by the teams and a campfire program will conclude the event.

The committee in charge includes Ivan Hall, Richard Wagner, Gormer Kelly, Merle Shumaker, George Harris and Joseph Blake.

Prizes will be awarded in the various contests.

Eagles To Sponsor Benefit Dance

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will sponsor a dance at the Eagles Home here October 28 for the benefit of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Support of the benefit dance was received here yesterday from top officials of the state.

The dance being held here by the local Aerie is part of the national program of the Eagles lodge during this month, according to Floyd Elliott, president.

All units of the order will hold similar events, with all proceeds going to the Runyon Fund, which is used for cancer research throughout the United States.

Tickets for the dance can be secured at the door on the night of the dance and at Harbaugh's Book Store on Baltimore Street.

Anyone wishing to donate to the dance may contact William Rollins, Ridgeley, W. Va., John Harbaugh, Cumberland, or the Eagles Home.

Weather

Cotton dresses and shirt sleeves would have been just the thing yesterday if the season had been right. As it was, the Indian summer heat wave caught most Cumberlanders in heavier fall clothing. The temperatures climbed to 81 degrees but weather records show it was just as hot last October. Overnight low was 56. Today's prediction says it will be cloudy and cooler.

Land, Fire Week Events Set For Park

Displays, Exhibits Will Begin Monday

Constitution Park will be the focal point for exhibits and displays next week during the local observance of Maryland Land Use and Fire Prevention Week.

George M. Hitchcock, general chairman, said arrangements for using park facilities were made with Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, and with Robert R. Golden, park superintendent.

A wild life display featuring animals and birds found in the Western Maryland area will be set up in the park recreation building south of the swimming pool.

This display will be under the supervision of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, with Dale Arner, wildlife technician, in charge.

Speaking programs and movies on soil conservation and fire prevention will be held at the park amphitheatre.

Tractor Contest Set

A tractor driving contest by 4-H boys and demonstrations on fire prevention by groups of county volunteer firemen will be held at the ball field in the park.

Hitchcock said all programs will get underway at 6 p.m. Monday through Friday of next week, with the public invited to attend each evening.

Farm implement demonstrations by local firms are also planned.

Hitchcock said the locale of the "midway" displays and exhibits was transferred to Constitution Park because no protective cover could be supplied at the original site, Penn Avenue recreation area.

In addition, Hitchcock said, less space was needed because industries which had been invited to hold large equipment demonstrations were unable to accept because of the Korean war situation.

Refreshment concessions will be set up at the park and auxiliary lighting will be supplied by the various groups holding exhibits.

Parade Is Planned

Besides Arner, others in charge of arranging exhibits will be William Powell, chairman of the argiculture committee; Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, and Harry Hartman, state farm forester.

Hitchcock said it is expected that the Cumberland Auxiliary Police will aid in directing traffic at the park during the evening programs.

Climax of the week-long observance will be a parade to be held in downtown Cumberland next Saturday night, starting at 7 o'clock. Harry Flook will serve as parade marshal.

Majority of the volunteer fire groups in the county have indicated they will take part.

Time of the parade was changed from Saturday afternoon to evening at the request of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Cumberland firemen are also expected to take part, Hitchcock said.

Highway Safety Slogan Selected

The highway safety slogan of the Maryland State Police for the month of October is "Slow Down At Night", which is based on the theme of night-time driving hazards.

Commenting on the new slogan, Major Ruxton M. Ridgely, executive officer, pointed out that "in the back of the mind of practically every motorist lies the knowledge that night-time is the time to drive carefully. Unfortunately, however, this small voice of common sense is neither sufficiently loud, nor persistent enough to save thousands of thoughtless and careless motorists each year in spite of the fact that statistics indicate that the night-time death rate is about three times the day rate.

Major Ridgely listed the following hazards as factors in the high total of night-time traffic accidents:

Glaring headlights, reduced visibility, fatigue, operators and pedestrians under influence of liquor, and failure of pedestrians to comprehend that approaching motorists cannot see them as rapidly nor as clearly as the walker can see the car.

Local Railroad Crews Praised By Hitchcock

Observations Cited At Terminal Meet

Local railroads are "working hard to keep down smoke," George M. Hitchcock, city smoke abatement engineer, said yesterday.

Hitchcock pointed out that the only "bad violation" during September for either the Baltimore and Ohio or Western Maryland Railway was reported against a Pittsburgh locomotive crew.

An investigational questionnaire has been sent to Pittsburgh regarding the matter, he added.

Monthly railroad observations were discussed at the regular Cumberland Terminal meeting yesterday afternoon at City Hall.

R. A. J. Morrison, superintendent of the B. and O.'s Cumberland Division, presided. Next month Joseph M. Miller, Western Maryland's superintendent here, will take over the chairmanship for a six-month term.

Hitchcock said observations show that local crews as well as those of locomotives operating through Cumberland are attempting to conform with the city's smoke ordinance.

Of 241 B. and O. locomotive observations during September, there were only 38 partial violations and the one bad violation reported, Hitchcock said.

Nearly half of the locomotives observed were "foreign" ones going through the terminal here, he added.

Thirty-nine observations were made of Western Maryland locomotives, with only seven partial violations noted.

Besides Morrison, other B. and O. representatives at yesterday's session were A. R. Tenney, fuel conservationist; F. A. Murray, road foreman of engines; A. E. Beckman, master mechanic; and E. H. Martin, Bolt and Forge foreman.

Western Maryland representatives, besides Miller, were Harry Dixon, road foreman of engines, and H. W. Holsberry, assistant road foreman of engines.

Hitchcock and Charles F. Owens, deputy smoke inspector, represented the Smoke Abatement Department.

Whitesell To Talk To Camera Fans

Wood "Pops" Whitesell, noted portrait and pictorial photographer, will appear here October 16 at Knights of Malta Hall under the auspices of the Cumberland Camera Club.

Although Whitesell is a portrait photographer by profession, his claim to fame arises from his pictorial photographs which have been exhibited in art museums around the globe. His artistic handling of groups is the envy of those who have seen his work.

Familiarly known as "Pops" throughout the photographic world, Whitesell began life as a Hoosier farm boy. Moving to New Orleans many years ago, his quaint courtyard studio has become the mecca of pictorial photographers who are attracted by his personality and his ability in arranging groups interestingly.

Whitesell will give a lecture and demonstration of his simple and direct approach to the photography of groups when he appears here.

Arrangements for Whitesell's appearance were made through the facilities of the Photographic Society of America by R. R. Sitzler, president of the Cumberland Camera Club. The public is invited; there will be no admission charge.

At Bowman's Addition Movies Are Planned

Movies on Mooseheart, "The Child City," and Moosehaven, "The Pursuit of Happiness" will be shown at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall tonight at 7:30 p. m.

Lonnie Jackson, of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will show other pictures of Mooseheart.

The pictures will be of special interest to the Bowman's Addition area since five children of the Bruce Folk family are living there.

The public is invited to attend, officials emphasized.

ELECTED — Charles E. Bennett, president of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company and associated companies in the Pittsburgh Group of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., is now second vice president of the American Gas Association. His election to this executive position in the national association that represents all phases of the gas industry, took place yesterday at the annual convention in Atlantic City. He also was re-elected vice chairman of the A. G. A. laboratories managing committee. According to normal A. G. A. procedure, Bennett will be named president of the association in 1952.

City Fire Alarm System Repairs Are Underway

All Installations Will Be Grounded

The alarm system of the Cumberland Fire Department is getting a thorough overhaul this fall.

The work is being conducted by Edward Lible, department electrician, and Pipeman Richard Linthicum, who is learning the operation of the complicated system.

Lible said yesterday the work now in progress will take several months.

The chief item on the repair program is the grounding of all alarm boxes and installations in the city.

Under the present system, a severe lightning storm can throw all of the department's four alarm circuits out of commission.

Some 35 to 40 miles of wire is being inspected and damaged lines are being replaced.

Workers are cutting off branches of trees which can ground the wires in rainy weather.

The program is part of a general modernization program of the fire department's alarm system.

Officials said that maintenance of the system will be comparatively simple after all of the needed repairs are completed.

Demo Rally Will Launch Campaign

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3 (AP) — The state-wide candidates of the Democratic Party will make a belated start in their general election campaigns at a rally in Easton Friday.

The election is five weeks from today.

The Democratic convention had been delayed until yesterday because of an intra-party fight for the gubernatorial nomination and a late primary election.

However, the convention turned out to be a peace meeting when George P. Mahoney withdrew from the contest for governor, leaving the way open to Governor Lane's renomination by acclamation.

Mahoney had asked recounts in nine counties. He lost the nomination on convention votes, 84 to 68.

The primary, itself, was held September 18, instead of the original September 11 date, to avoid conflict with a Jewish holiday.

Governor Lane, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, Attorney General Hall Hammond, and possibly Senator Millard E. Tydings will appear at the Easton rally.

For the first time, the Democrats will have a candidate for governor who trailed his primary opponent in the popular vote.

But spokesmen in headquarters were optimistic over Lane's chance of defeating Republican Theodore R. McKeldin on November 7.

Pearisburg Strike Causes Furloughs

PEARISBURG, Va., Oct. 3 (AP)— About 30 employes of the Giles County plant of the Celanese Corporation of America have been furloughed, S. A. Mansfield, plant manager, reported yesterday.

Mansfield said the furloughing was made necessary by the shortage of materials needed for full operation of the plant. He said he could not estimate the length of time the 30, all employes of the cellulose acetate department, would be idle.

The plant resumed operations only last Friday after a three-day shutdown caused by a jurisdictional dispute between members of the same union over who should perform a certain job.

Local 4-H Public Speaking Contest Will Be Tomorrow

The 4-H Public Speaking Contest is to be held tomorrow at 7 p. m. on the second floor of the Cumberland Free Public Library, according to Joseph M. Steyer, assistant county agent.

All bona fide 4-H Club members working under the supervision of the extension service and enrolled in a 4-H Club during the current year may participate.

Awards are to be made on a county and state basis, the prizes being donated by the Pure Oil Company, Chicago. The two winners in each county are to receive a gold-filled medal of honor, one for the outstanding boy and one for the outstanding girl.

The state boy winner is to receive a standard American-made, 17-jewel gold watch, suitably engraved. The state girl winner is to receive a set of silverware, in a gift box, bearing a suitably engraved plate. These awards are to be made to winners in the 27 states where the contests are being held.

The speeches are to be judged according to composition and delivery, on the following basis: choice of material, 15 points; organization of material, 25 points; use of language, 10 points; making a total of 50 points for composition. The delivery will be judged according to projection to the audience, 15 points; fluency, 15 points, pronunciation and articulation, 10 points; and voice control, 10 points; making a total of 50 points for delivery.

The main objectives in holding the contest are to help 4-H Club members recognize the necessity of obtaining all available information on a given topic, to encourage the careful organization of the material to be presented in a speech, to develop a pleasing personal appearance before an audience, and to acquire the ability to speak convincingly in public.

All participants for the state honors are subject to other eligibility rules. They must have passed their 14th birthday and must not have passed their 21st birthday on January 1, 1950. They must have completed at least three years of 4-H work, including the current year, but if state regulations vary, this requirement is optional.

Plan VFW Campaign

Freedom Scrolls Are Being Circulated Through State

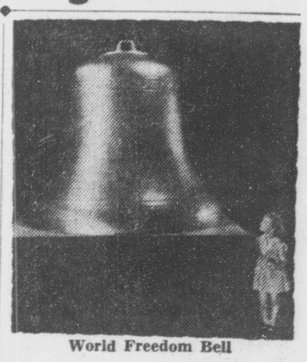
Freedom Scrolls are now being circulated throughout Maryland by Boy and Girl Scouts, civic groups, labor organizations, business and religious groups.

"Signing the Freedom Scrolls offers every individual in this country a chance to register his personal protest against communism," William C. Purnell, state chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, has announced. "Even more than that," he added, "the Freedom Crusade gives us a chance to prove that millions of Americans believe in freedom and are completely opposed to aggression and tyranny wherever they exist on earth."

Noel Speir Cook of Frostburg is chairman of the county drive.

The Freedom Scrolls state: "I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual. I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God. I pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they exist on earth."

The National Crusade for Freedom is headed by General Lucius D. Clay who was commander of Berlin during the days of the air lift, and General Clay believes that the Crusade is a "spiritual airlift" in the battle to win the control of men's minds.



World Freedom Bell

All of the signatures that appear on Freedom Scrolls will be permanently enshrined in the base of the World Freedom Bell in Berlin. This bell, which is eight feet high and weighs 10 tons, is now making a tour of the United States.

Chest Campaign Termed Chance To Serve Others

Meeting Launches 10-Day Drive

Community Chest campaigns provide a chance for service and a "spiritual reawakening" to the fact that mankind is basically good, Thomas R. Reid, a Baltimore executive, said last night.

Reid, a vice president of the McCormick Company, addressed 140 persons at the kickoff dinner at Central YMCA opening the 1950 Red Feather drive here.

He was introduced by Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman of the 10-day campaign which has a goal of $87,794.34.

American people generally are enjoying a high standard of living, and everyone should give to the campaign, Reid said.

Cites "Annualitis"

He warned against the danger of "annualitis," the feeling that "this is just another Community Chest drive like every other year."

"Perhaps you in Cumberland or we in Baltimore will be able to work out a different and ingenious approach that will be used in Community Chest drives for years to come," Reid said.

The McCormick plant, Reid said, has achieved 100 per cent contributions during the past eight years.

This year McCormick employes will give one day's work to the Chest, with their time and one-half pay to be turned over to the campaign, Reid said.

He added that the payroll deduction plan is also used as in several industries here.

Reid, a member of the Baltimore City Council, was named in 1947 to the list of America's 10 outstanding young men. He is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and is a recognized leader in the field of human relations.

In closing, Reid recalled that the word "crisis" in the Chinese language is made up of two symbols meaning "danger" and "opportunity."

This, he said, symbolizes the Community Chest campaign. Work of the member agencies is endangered if the drive fails, and the opportunity is to put the campaign over the top.

Earl C. Robertson, president of the Cumberland Community Chest, said that work of the Chest "gives help to those who can no longer bear their burdens alone." He added:

"We are investing dollars in a cause which cannot fail to help the city."

Reviews Budget Work

R. A. J. Morrison, chairman of the Chest's budget committee, reviewed that group's work in studying budget requests of the nine member agencies and setting up this year's goal.

Character building agencies were given slightly increased amounts because "a dollar spent now may save many dollars later," Morrison said. He added that welfare groups also received more allocations.

Eiler announced that the first report meeting will be held Friday at 12:15 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, gave the invocation. Eiler introduced Lynn Lashley, chairman of the advance gifts committee; George M. Martin, chairman of the Classified Section; and Mrs. H. W. Eliason, chairman of the Residential Section.

Also introduced were Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Commissioners William H. Buchholtz, George H. Tederick and Lucile W. Roeder, and County Commissioner James Holmes.

Reid, vice president of the McCormick Company of Baltimore, who gave the principal address at last night's kickoff dinner at Central YMCA launching the 1950 Community Chest campaign. Land, Fire Week Events Set For Park

Displays, Exhibits Will Begin Monday

Constitution Park will be the focal point for exhibits and displays next week during the local observance of Maryland Land Use and Fire Prevention Week.

George M. Hitchcock, general chairman, said arrangements for using park facilities were made with Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, and with Robert R. Golden, park superintendent.

A wild life display featuring animals and birds found in the Western Maryland area will be set up in the park recreation building south of the swimming pool.

This display will be under the supervision of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, with Dale Arner, wildlife technician, in charge.

Speaking programs and movies on soil conservation and fire prevention will be held at the park amphitheatre.

Tractor Contest Set

A tractor driving contest by 4-H boys and demonstrations on fire prevention by groups of county volunteer firemen will be held at the ball field in the park.

Hitchcock said all programs will get underway at 6 p.m. Monday through Friday of next week, with the public invited to attend each evening.

Farm implement demonstrations by local firms are also planned.

Climax of the week-long observance will be a parade to be held in downtown Cumberland next Saturday night, starting at 7 o'clock. Harry Flook will serve as parade marshal.

Majority of the volunteer fire groups in the county have indicated they will take part.

Time of the parade was changed from Saturday afternoon to evening at the request of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Cumberland firemen are also expected to take part, Hitchcock said.

Scouts, Dads Are Planning Annual Outing

Saturday Event To Be Held At Camp

The annual "Dad's Day" program and outing sponsored by Cumberland District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday afternoon and evening at Camp Potomac near Oldtown.

This was announced yesterday by Willis V. Smith, council executive.

Cumberland District includes the city and surrounding communities. About 400 Scouts and 300 Cub Scouts are represented.

Smith said the program will get underway at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with all district Scouts and Cubs and their fathers invited to attend.

Each boy and his father will take part as a team in activities and contests, including softball throw, horseshoe pitching, water boiling contest and trail hike.

Supper will be prepared by the teams and a campfire program will conclude the event.

The committee in charge includes Ivan Hall, Richard Wagner, Gormer Kelly, Merle Shumaker, George Harris and Joseph Blake.

Prizes will be awarded in the various contests.

Highway Safety Slogan Selected

The highway safety slogan of the Maryland State Police for the month of October is "Slow Down At Night", which is based on the theme of night-time driving hazards.

Commenting on the new slogan, Major Ruxton M. Ridgely, executive officer, pointed out that "in the back of the mind of practically every motorist lies the knowledge that night-time is the time to drive carefully. Unfortunately, however, this small voice of common sense is neither sufficiently loud, nor persistent enough to save thousands of thoughtless and careless motorists each year in spite of the fact that statistics indicate that the night-time death rate is about three times the day rate.

Major Ridgely listed the following hazards as factors in the high total of night-time traffic accidents:

Glaring headlights, reduced visibility, fatigue, operators and pedestrians under influence of liquor, and failure of pedestrians to comprehend that approaching motorists cannot see them as rapidly nor as clearly as the walker can see the car.

Whitesell To Talk To Camera Fans

Wood "Pops" Whitesell, noted portrait and pictorial photographer, will appear here October 16 at Knights of Malta Hall under the auspices of the Cumberland Camera Club.

Although Whitesell is a portrait photographer by profession, his claim to fame arises from his pictorial photographs which have been exhibited in art museums around the globe. His artistic handling of groups is the envy of those who have seen his work.

Familiarly known as "Pops" throughout the photographic world, Whitesell began life as a Hoosier farm boy. Moving to New Orleans many years ago, his quaint courtyard studio has become the mecca of pictorial photographers who are attracted by his personality and his ability in arranging groups interestingly.

Whitesell will give a lecture and demonstration of his simple and direct approach to the photography of groups when he appears here.

Arrangements for Whitesell's appearance were made through the facilities of the Photographic Society of America by R. R. Sitzler, president of the Cumberland Camera Club. The public is invited; there will be no admission charge.

City Fire Alarm System Repairs Are Underway

All Installations Will Be Grounded

The alarm system of the Cumberland Fire Department is getting a thorough overhaul this fall.

The work is being conducted by Edward Lible, department electrician, and Pipeman Richard Linthicum, who is learning the operation of the complicated system.

Lible said yesterday the work now in progress will take several months.

The chief item on the repair program is the grounding of all alarm boxes and installations in the city.

Under the present system, a severe lightning storm can throw all of the department's four alarm circuits out of commission.

Some 35 to 40 miles of wire is being inspected and damaged lines are being replaced.

Workers are cutting off branches of trees which can ground the wires in rainy weather.

The program is part of a general modernization program of the fire department's alarm system.

Officials said that maintenance of the system will be comparatively simple after all of the needed repairs are completed.

Demo Rally Will Launch Campaign

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3 (AP) — The state-wide candidates of the Democratic Party will make a belated start in their general election campaigns at a rally in Easton Friday.

The election is five weeks from today.

The Democratic convention had been delayed until yesterday because of an intra-party fight for the gubernatorial nomination and a late primary election.

However, the convention turned out to be a peace meeting when George P. Mahoney withdrew from the contest for governor, leaving the way open to Governor Lane's renomination by acclamation.

Mahoney had asked recounts in nine counties. He lost the nomination on convention votes, 84 to 68.

The primary, itself, was held September 18, instead of the original September 11 date, to avoid conflict with a Jewish holiday.

Governor Lane, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, Attorney General Hall Hammond, and possibly Senator Millard E. Tydings will appear at the Easton rally.

For the first time, the Democrats will have a candidate for governor who trailed his primary opponent in the popular vote.

But spokesmen in headquarters were optimistic over Lane's chance of defeating Republican Theodore R. McKeldin on November 7.

Pearisburg Strike Causes Furloughs

PEARISBURG, Va., Oct. 3 (AP)— About 30 employes of the Giles County plant of the Celanese Corporation of America have been furloughed, S. A. Mansfield, plant manager, reported yesterday.

Mansfield said the furloughing was made necessary by the shortage of materials needed for full operation of the plant. He said he could not estimate the length of time the 30, all employes of the cellulose acetate department, would be idle.

The plant resumed operations only last Friday after a three-day shutdown caused by a jurisdictional dispute between members of the same union over who should perform a certain job.

Freedom Scrolls Are Being Circulated Through State

Freedom Scrolls are now being circulated throughout Maryland by Boy and Girl Scouts, civic groups, labor organizations, business and religious groups.

"Signing the Freedom Scrolls offers every individual in this country a chance to register his personal protest against communism," William C. Purnell, state chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, has announced. "Even more than that," he added, "the Freedom Crusade gives us a chance to prove that millions of Americans believe in freedom and are completely opposed to aggression and tyranny wherever they exist on earth."

Noel Speir Cook of Frostburg is chairman of the county drive.

The Freedom Scrolls state: "I believe in the sacredness and dignity of the individual. I believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God. I pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they exist on earth."

The National Crusade for Freedom is headed by General Lucius D. Clay who was commander of Berlin during the days of the air lift, and General Clay believes that the Crusade is a "spiritual airlift" in the battle to win the control of men's minds.

World Freedom Bell

All of the signatures that appear on Freedom Scrolls will be permanently enshrined in the base of the World Freedom Bell in Berlin. This bell, which is eight feet high and weighs 10 tons, is now making a tour of the United States.
